GALAHADS ENJOY WIENER ROAST

Club Holds Its Third Annual Frankfurter Feed at Park Last Evening

The Galahad Recreation Club held its third annual frankfurter, or "hot doggie," feed last evening at the park.

The cool evening made it just right for such an affair, and the crowd of jolly folks gathered around the large fire and sang songs and told stories while the red-hot embers roasted the "doggies."

The frankfurter roast is the wind-up of the open-air socials of the club which were held every week during the months of August and September.

The bimonthly social events were arranged by the manager of the outing department, D. Clark Hawley, who appointed his helpers. The committee for the affair last evening consisted of D. Clark Hawley, chairman; George Allen, Ed. McCoy and Steven L. Bowers.

On Monday evening the members of the club will meet at the home of S. L. Bowers, 1952 Bellevue Road, and elect a president to fill the unexpired term of N. A. Bowers, who was called to the colors. Paul D. March, the associate president, has also enlisted in the service of the United States, making it necessary to elect a new head.

Those in the party last evening were Miss Jennie Cassel, Miss Dorothy Watts, Miss Roba Poland, Miss Sarah Wonder, Miss Elsie Fritz, Miss Washburn, Miss Margaret Gearhart, Miss Olive Sweigert, Miss Leota Shupe, Miss Mary Heikes, Miss Jane Bitner, Miss Elvora Bowers, Miss Florence Staff, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mrs. S. L. Bowers, Mrs. D. Clark Hawley, Mrs. Frank Manley, Mrs. Paul Kolhaas, George M. Allen, Ed. McCoy, Steven L. Bowers, Allen H. Fritz, Charles Mitchell, Harold Cobough, Charles Unsger, Gordon Holland, Clifford Winkard, Harold Gilbert, Frank Boatman, D. Clark Hawley, Bruce Wonders, Frank Manley, Harry Miller, Alton Seibert and Paul Kolhaas.

FRITZ'S FINISH IS SEEN BY LOCAL BOYS IN FRANCE

Vandalism of the Hun Worse Than Described, Say Yankee Fighters

Rain caused the Technical high school students and the detail of Harrisburg Reserves assigned to begin their military instruction to "fall back upon previously-prepared positions" this morning and instead of learning "right face" and "right dress" in Capitol Park extension, 200 upper classroom heard talks on preliminary training.

Major Henry M. Stine and his men showed up in a driving rain and Principal C. B. Fager assembled all of the classmen selected for the training in the auditorium where Major Stine outlined what the Reserves have done in the way of drilling Harrisburg men, drafted in various towns in the county and other work. He read a letter from Williams Jennings, chairman of the Dauphin County Council of National Defense, stating that a call for him to attend a meeting of the State National Defense Committee at Philadelphia this morning prevented him from attending the first drill and speaking to the students on what the work they are to take up means to the community generally. Major Stine said that he is president of the Reserves and has three boys of his own in the Army. Captain F. H. Hoy, Jr., gave the students a talk on the features of the instruction which will be given and Captain L. V. Harvey told what manuals to study, books to read and how to get team work. Lieutenant Shelly, of Company I, Reserve Militia, arranged to be in charge of students who are members of that company and of the Reserves and to give them intensive training to fit them for commands. He will begin at the army to-night.

The drill announced for this morning was postponed until to-morrow at 3, when the same details of drill-masters will be on hand. The details of the Central high school will begin their work to-morrow at 1:30 with George N. Barnes in charge.

RAY B. WILSON
"The more work we do the nearer we are to Fritz's finish," exultingly writes a tireless Yankee in the person of Corporal Ray B. Wilson, Company A, 103 Supply Train, E. F. in a letter to his friend W. D. Bartolet, of 1264 Market street, this city. Wilson, who enlisted last June in the Ammunition Truck company, lives at 120 Linden street. At present he is attached to an infantry brigade headquarters doing service somewhere in France.

"Things are going 'so strong' at the front, writes the corporal, 'working from sun up to sun up, some times, that he has had little time to indulge in letter writing to the folks 'back home.' 'I guess you know by this time,' he says, 'that the German got a fine wallop when they started on the 14th inst. don't you? I am glad to say that old Harrisburg was well represented in that fight. I tell you Bill, it was awful. Never since I was born has there been such fighting, but there will be some more if they want it, as Berlin is the goal now.'"

Harrisburg Girl to Leave For Overseas War Work

Miss Ethyl Lutz, of 1819 Berryhill street, is spending a short vacation at her home before leaving for Washington, and later for her training in nursing and from which place she leaves for Red Cross service overseas. Miss Lutz began a course in nursing at Columbia Hospital, Washington, and later took a special course in nursing at Bellevue Hospital, New York. She will return to Columbia Hospital to complete her course prior to the war service she contemplates doing.

SCAFFOLDS THE CAUSE OF DEATH

New Figures on Accidents That Have Resulted From Carelessness in State

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 17.—In an address before the Annual Safety Congress of the National Safety Council here to-day on "The Necessity for Safety in the Construction of Scaffolds," T. F. Peltz, mechanical engineer of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry, representing Acting Commissioner Lew R. Palmer, pointed out that during 1917 in Pennsylvania 3,090 workers on or about scaffolds had been injured and 65 of those workers had died from their injuries.

The speaker pointed out that the Industrial Board of Pennsylvania had recognized the hazards of scaffolds and had formulated one of the most comprehensive safety codes on scaffolds issued in any state. This code became effective March 1, 1918. In analyzing the injuries due to scaffolds in Pennsylvania in 1917, Mr. Peltz said that of 217 workers who fell from buildings during erection, 14 were killed; of 2,121 persons who fell from scaffolds and stagings, 31 were killed; of 367 persons who fell by the collapse of scaffolds, 11 were killed; of 365 workers injured by scaffolds falling from scaffolds, 9 were killed.

The speaker declared that during the few months that the Pennsylvania scaffolding code has been effective, there has been a marked spirit of co-operation on the part of Pennsylvania builders that should result in a reduction in casualty figures from scaffold accidents.
