Afraid in a weakened condition due to the birth and death of her child in the short period of one month, it is feared that Mrs. Cupp No. 2 may not recover.

Cupp married Mrs. Cupp No. 2 at York about a year ago. She was Miss Ina M. Dayhoff, daughter of City Gardener Vernon K. Dayhoff, of York. He was living with his second wife at 107 North Newbury street, York, when he was drafted by a Harrisburg draft board as a single man.

CORNS - $100.00 REWARD

Take them out, roots and all. Cutting the top off or burning it off with caustic liquids is dangerous and a waste of time. Cutting top off a corn would not stop it from coming. Same way with the corn. Try soaking feet in the medicated and oxygenated water produced by adding a little Ruodell Bath Salts.

ARIZONA AIRMAN DESTROYS THREE ENEMY BALLOONS

Goes Out With Fellow Flyer and Completes Job in 35 Minutes

With the American Army on the Lorraine Front, Sept. 19.—Three enemy balloons were destroyed on Tuesday night by Lieutenant F. Luke, Jr., of Phoenix, Ariz., on a high into the German lines. This makes the total nine balloons in three days.

With Lieutenant J.F. Whener, of Everett, Mass., Luke left his airplane at dusk and crossed the line. Within 35 minutes the American aviators had completed their work of destruction and the flames could be seen from the American air-drome.

One other balloon was destroyed yesterday and three more are believed to have been shot down, but the reports have not been confirmed. Bad weather prevented bombing, however, and the only observation possible was the adjustment of artillery fire.

In the artillery exchange of Tuesday the American gunners held the upper hand, destroying German ammunition dumps near La Chaussee, in addition to a big gun, and making direct hits on the railroad near Chambley. A number of box cars also were destroyed by direct hits near Chambley.

Tuesday night the Germans threw eight hundred shells into the regions around Xammes, Beney and Chateau St. Benoit.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Five American planes are missing as a result of an attack by a superior German force during a bombing expedition in Lorraine, General Pershing reported last night by the War Department.

With the exception of artillery activity in Lorraine and Alsace, the American sectors remain inactive.

port from the sectors occupied by our troops.

"In the course of a bombing operation in Lorraine, our aviators were attacked by superior forces. Five of our machines are missing."

London, Sept. 19.—Three hostile airplanes on a night bombing expedition were brought down inside the British lines on Tuesday night, according to the official statement on aviation issued last night. Fourteen enemy machines were destroyed altogether and five others driven down out of control. Eleven British machines failed to return.

Ready to Go to War, Wilder Lands in Jail

Bending almost to the breaking point under a double burden of wine and beer, William Wilder, of dusky hue and grizzled hair, of Seventh street, nor of Rely, last evening, for minutes past 6 o'clock his cries aroused the neighborhood and there was a hasty exit from unfinished suppers to learn the cause of the noise. The multitude saw Wilder, laboring under great excitement, stumbling north on Seventh street, emitting yells that were out of place save in a Wild West show or on an Indian reservation. He could see sufficiently to get to his boarding house, but the welcome there was so frosty that he remained, held from falling or doing harm, on a rear porch until the patrol automobile arrived and took him to the police station.

HAIG'S FORCES TIGHTEN GRIP ON ST. QUENTIN

Yesterday's Attack Against German Lines Achieves Important Results

With the British Army in France, Sept. 19.—The British troops made a powerful attack against the German lines to the west and northwest of St. Quentin yesterday and most important results were achieved. A deep advance into the enemy territory strengthened the already powerful grip the British have on St. Quentin, one of the most strongly fortified parts of the Hindenburg line. To the south the French cooperated in what is likely to prove an operation of vast portent with respect to the Hindenburg defensive position.

The zone involved in the British movement lay roughly between Holnon, on the south, and Couzeaucourt. Within a few hours Peziere, Templeux Le Gueraud, Epehy, Ronsoy and Villers were held by the advanced British forces, and bitter fighting was in progress at many other points in the forward zone. More than 3,000 prisoners have already been sent back to the camps.

The advance thus far recorded—in some places more than two miles—means that the British have at numerous points gained the crest of the ridge along which their old front line ran prior to the German offensive in March, and from their new positions were looking down on the Hindenburg line in the valley to the east.

Attack Begins at Dawn

The assault began at dawn. Rain began to fall about 2 o'clock, and when the British were on the top the ground was already slimy and hard to negotiate, especially when the ridges were reached and the men had to charge up the tanks. Tanks accompanied the troops and rendered invaluable service in the early stages of the conflict, which waxed warlike from the start.

In the center the Australians had to fight for every inch of ground they took, but they pushed steadily forward until they reached the crest of the ridge. By 8:30 o'clock the Australians had already taken a total of 500 prisoners. Most of these were Bavarians and men of the First German reserve and they were of a poor class of men as they came straggling back.

One of the hottest engagements took place to the south of Le Verguer, where the Germans had fortified themselves in a mill. This stronghold was surrounded and 130 of the garrison were forced to surrender.

On the right flank there was equally hard fighting. Holnon had been taken on Tuesday as a preliminary to yesterday's attack, and from this point the British went forward.

Tuesday night German airplanes were busy bombing the St. Quentin front, and the enemy utilized a number of new type planes of huge size. Three of these were shot down east of Peronne. They were capable of seating eight men. This is by far the biggest bomb the Germans have yet produced.

8-HOUR DAY IS TO BE DISPUTED
