GLENN WARNER TO BUILD GREAT FOOTBALL TEAM; CHICAGO LADS WIN A. A. U. EVENTS

Stock the Farm With Birds and Game Says Tom Marshall

Uncle Sam's Domein—one great. Chicken of the protection of the protecting migratory game birds, has been welcomed by the true sportsmen of America.

This enactment has supplanted the Federal migratory game law of 1913, the constitutionality of which has been past due and should have been past due and should have been rendered long since. Continuous procrastination on the rendering of this decision has been and should have been rendered long since as it was a legal question of interest Continuous procrastination on the rendering of this decision has been an invitation to transgression; it has been claimed by many that the law was unconstitutional and would not 'hold water.' This was only an individual opinion in the absence of a frequency of the continuous procrastination on the proposition to the original Federal law which developed, was due to an attempted injection of politics and an effort to play favorites on the open which developed, was due to an attempted injection of politics and an effort to play favorites on the open which developed, was due to an attempted injection of politics and an effort to play favorites on the open with the law as originaly passed was unjust. It was the stand taken by those sportsmen, who were lost of the feathered acces of the consummation of the cons Searcher, which who does not be seen of the perfect of the perfect Florence, are spending several days with friends at Reading.

Football to Thrive at Pitt Under Warner

Unlike many other big colleges the football situation at Pitt is very bright. Glenn Warner arrived at Pittsburgh to-day from his home at Springville, N. Y. and observed: "I do not believe the government will interfere with football, so long as it is reasonably conducted. Our army heads recognize the good that football training does. It is the finest kind of work for prospective soldiers, and I believe the government will be strong for it, instead of offering any opposition."

It is probable that Warner will next week be in charge of the

It is probable that Warner will next week be in charge of the largest squad he has ever had under him at Pitt. The Panther football authorities originally figured on a preliminary squad of between 35 and 40 men, and calculated that this number might be doubled after the school actually opens its doors on September 30.

But since this estimate was made, word has been received from a number of students and prospective students who have signified their intention of reporting next week, and the chances are that when Warner gives his first orders Monday afternoon they will be listened to by no fewer than half a hundred men first orders Monday afternoon they will be listened to by no fewer than half a hundred men.

Unless something unforeseen occurs, the coaches will have a fine lot of talent to work with and develop. There will not be a dearth of candidates for a single position. From the known quality of the men who are coming out, it is believed that Warner will soon whip into shape a first-string eleven of decided class, and that he will have it going in good form when the date of the opening game of the season with the Great Lakes Naval Training station team rolls around on Saturday, October 5.

have meant that the conquerers would virtually be entitled to the Central Pennsylvania pennant.

Harrisburg Camp No. 5250, Modern Woodman of America, will hold another quoit tournament this fall. The entry list will be opened at the meeting of the camp at the camp hall, 1365 Howard street, next Tuesday evening. A number of members have already signified their intention to participate. The tournament will close shortly before the Christmas holidays and another will probably be put on following the holidays.

ACCIDENTS AT STEEL WORKS Lewistown, Pa., Sept. 21.—David Bay has been admitted to the Lewis-town Hospital suffering with a scalp wound received at the Standard Steel Works.

Steel Works.
George Diven, of Reedsville, suffered a lacerated nose and forehead at the Standard Steel Words.
D. H. Nightsinger, of Lewistown, had a foot badly injured at the same plant and Warren Bachman, of Mifflintown, had his right ear badly burned.

Modern Woodmen Will

Y'OUGHY TO GIVE HIM A RIDE.

Addison Was Getting Along O. K. Is Why the Excitement

By Hungerford

AT A. A. U. MEET

Snoodles

Question — Where is a conflict as between the Federal and state laws on migratory birds, which should be observed? Are there any Federal wardens?

C. M. F. Total of 34

Cannot Play Kiwanis

The final conflict between the Camp Colt Black Cats and the Kiwanis team of Harrisburg to determine the championship of the diamond has been canceled for military reasons, it was announced yesterday. The team has been placed under quarantine at Camp Colt.

The game was arranged for Nixon Field, Gettysburg, this afternoon as the closing of a series of three games. The Kiwanians won the first two and were confident, they said, of winning the third, although the Black Cats declared they had pepenough to win twenty games from the Harrisburg players.

The game, if it had been played, would-have been an important one in baseball history since the Kiwanis Club team topped the Industrial League list for the past year. The Black Cats carried away virtually every game they played and the winning of the canceled game would have meant that the conquerers would virtually be entitled to the Central Pennsylvania pennant.

Have Quoit Tournament the Rev. L. L. Owens, pastor of the

THE WORLD HAS FILLED SO SLOWLY

Although the Human Race May Be a Hundred Thousand Years Old, the Earth Is Not Yet Full to Capacity, Because Obstacles Arise on All Sides

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

Moles A. G., New To Y. Thompson, and the second of the control of

The Escape

I watched the attacked French plane, however, after the Boches left it and am glad to say he leveled out and flew serenely away. Incidentally, I'm willing to bet those Boaches never shot at a more erratic taget.
I'll sure hand it to that Frenchman. He certainly was some pilot.
When I begin to add up events I have to admit that it's been some five days since I wrote last. Cheer up though, because I will be loafing a day or so, and will have time to write. You see this morning I was in a fight and received six bullets in my upper wing. They were in such important places that a new wing will be necessary. Meanwhile I must wait. It happened this way:

Chasses Libre

important places that a new wing will be necessary. Meanwhile I must that It happened this way:

Chasses Libre

There were no orders this morning, so three of u.j. asked for chasse libre' (permission to fly and attack or not attack what you please). In these kind of patrols, although one has a leader, he is somewhat of a free lance and is not held to account so strictly as to what he does, how he does it, or where he goes. The three of us had or no more than arrived at the lines than the leader's motor went bad and is turned around and went home. We followed a little way, and then lines, the Frenchman leading. Soon needs than the leader's motor went bad and the turned around and went home. We were floating around over the lines, the Frenchman leading. Soon needs that a man with the sun as well, so we promptly turned towards our lines and began climbing in a wide circle first, to get out of danger, and second, to attack, for you understand that a man who flies high and has the sun at his back has every advantage in an air combat, because one cannot look in the sun and see one cannot lo

Flying With Shaffer

HOT WORK IN THE CLOUDS

LETERS FROM A DAUPHIN BOY TO HIS MOTHER

Escadrille Spad 38,
Secteur Postal 246,
G. C. 22,
Aug. 1, 1918.

Sher: "La vache!" "la cochons!" and right there I discovered and the simple and the smooth of the telescope, which can be about a foot long, and to prevent dirt, oil and greass from accumulating on the glass as we soon as I lumped with the lambur of the telescope, which can be mother full as and strend after after the still continued bad and the dwith could a finally got were soveral miles away on the still continued bad and the dwith could a finally got were soveral miles away on the still continued bad and the dwith of the still continued bad and the dwith colouds I finally got were soveral miles away of the telescope, which can be some the still continued bad and the still

The Boche must have wondered what was the matter with me as I juggled up to him, for you know, every time I fixed the shutter I had juggled up to him, for you know, every time I fixed the shutter I had to reaim the plane, because while fixing the shutter contraption the sensitive controls would jump the plane out of line. Well, the third time I fixed that doggone shutter I was within two meters of that flee-ing Boche and still shooting when one gun stopped working.

By that time I was so close as to be in danger of collision. Would that the lieutenant who had told me to get close before shooting had seen me then, for I nearly cut off the tail of that Boche with my propeller. Honestly, there was not more than a foot of space between us when I banked up on one wing, dove down 100 meters, making a complete turn on the way, thus being in position to shoot again. The Boche must have thought I was some crazy fool with more ambition than flying skill.

Diving For Home

The Damaged Plane

Not taking any chances of my motor stopping, I switched the lever into the gravity feed tank, but as the air pressure continued to hold on the other tank I soon switched it back. When I arrived at camp I discovered the reason my one gun had stuck. The connection between the gun and the motor had been shot off. The other damage consisted of five holes in the upper wing—none very close to me, but making it necessary to put on a new wing, and one in a lower wing. A little later it was discovered that half my "Becky" had been shot away by an explosive bullet.

explosive bullet.
Fortunately, I made a good landing, and not having much strain on her she did not break. Yea, boy! Dad, that guardian angel might have ner she did not break. Yea, boy!
Dad, that guardian angel might have had another cold sweat, but he sure did his duty well, for nary a bullet touched me. Just the same, a lieutenant who sometimes commands the escadrille led me aside and impressed on e the fact of being more careful, and not dive into a fight in such a headlong fashion. To hear him talk, one would think I was real valuable, which is rather an amusing thought when one considers my Hun score stands at zero. Perhaps we got that Boche, however, because he certainly was diving steeply when I let up, and the Frenchman started in. I know a bunch of my bullets went home, for I saw them enter the body of the machine where the pilot and observer were. Here's hoping, anyway. Sometimes, though, it takes quite a while to get confirmation, so I don't expect to hear anything for several days.

WALTER.

Men Prominent in Affairs of Union County Register