of the foremost Tech athletes, lads who have greatly aided in putting the Harrisburg school ahead competitions, have enlisted with the Marines, and will be leaving for service very shortly. Beck's brother, Clarence Beck, the most popular and able athlete ever turned out by the city, is now in Italy with the ambulance unit which trained at Allentown. His folks have not heard from him in months and are consequently alarmed. The younger Beck has been sensational in football, as right half-back, as also in basketball. and he starred in anything he took up. Boyer will be greatly missed as he was depended on to be a factor in the varsity eleven this year.

Beck and Boyer went through their physical examinations for the Maines like a rat up a pamp. Not a flaw, and Beck should be heard of in service athletics, although he is ot yet twenty years old. Beck will elp out in football here until he is

"I happened to be in a little town where they had a bunch of German prisoners" writes Johnny McCoy, lightweight boxer of Pittsburgh. "You know Jewish and this Dutch language are pretty much the same, and I started to talk to one of these guys in Jewish. (Johnny's real name is Leonard J. Simon, and he's Jewish). He got me right off and we had a regular conversation. He showed me his identification tag and on it were some numerals and his name. His name was Honus Wagner." 'Hans Wagner?' I asked.
'Ya, ya; der baseball man, he came back, just like that. Can you beat it?

regarded by the people there."

Pugilist McCoy's brief description of the war is not exactly what you would call cheerful. "All we see here," says he, "is men going to and from the front lines; men going into the big scrap with a deveil-may-care air and others coming out saddened and more determined than ever that the Hun shall not rule. And men shot to pleces. Men gassed. Remnants of men. It's awful. But just now it's a damned sight more awful for the Huns than it is for us.

"The other day a Red Cross train stopped on its way back from the front lines, and we chatted with some of the boys in it. I asked one of them who is not yet 20 years old where he was going and he said, 'Back to the states.'

"What? Back already?' I asked. Gee, but you're lucky to get out of it so soon.'

"What do you mean—lucky? he shot back.
"And with that he opened the door that I might see for myself how 'lucky' he was. He had two wooden legs."

UNWAVERING JUSTICE PRICE OF PEACE, THE PRESIDENT DECLARES

Wilson Tells Liberty Loan Workers Germany Must Redeem Her Character After the War Has Ended

Peace Terms With Central Powers Are Impossible, Says President at New York

"WE ARE all agreed that there can be no peace obtained by any kind of bargain or compromise with the governments of the Central Empires, because we have dealt with them and have seen them deal with other governments that were parties to this struggle, at Brest-Litovsk and Bucharest. They have convinced us that they are without honor and do not intend justice. They observe no covenants, accept no principle but force and their own interest. We cannot 'come to terms' with them. They have made this impossible. The German people by this time must be fully aware that we cannot accept the word of those who forced this war upon us. We do not think the same thoughts or speak the same language of agreement."

While the tide of victory was running so strongly for the gallant armies of the Entente, President Wilson again was voicing the determination of the United States to battle on until German military autocracy is forever crushed.
