Ty Cobb Ready to Face Gas and Flame Battery

Ty Cobb, world's greatest hero in baseball, took a flying leap into further fame yesterday when he signed up to enter Camp Humphreys, Pa., having been commissioned in the chemical war-fare service, most dangerous of all.

TYRUS RAYMOND COBB

Gas-and-flame soldiers usually go into action ahead of the attacking waves of infantry. The flame men carry tanks on their backs and advance against the enemy under cover of artillery barrage, squirting flames of liquid fire from nozzles attached to tanks of the kind which they carry on their backs.

His 1918 work was really the more remarkable. In 1911 he had wound up his 40-straight streak at an earlier date than he started to make his climb for the 50 mark this year.

Little Chance For Sleep With Big Guns Going

Reading Officials Probe Boiler Blowup

Some of the most interesting letters from the front come from local boys who request the publication. Under date of August 16 one writes: "Over here I am, nevertheless, pany again and though it means the night I am, nevertheless, glad to be back. There is a big sun right behind our lines which bars at intervals through the day and night. I wish to think that I was trying to find it with some of his heavies. Just as I was washing my mess kit after supper a shell hit too close for comfort and it did not show heavy signs of immediate action.

Tells of Bombardment of Paris at Long Range

Colored Attorney Coming Back to Stand Trial

Here is the way a Pennsylvania soldier writing to some friends at Philadelphia described the shelling of Paris by the big German long range guns: "Not before last I went to a barber shop and had a regular French haircut and shampoo. I wouldn't let the barber do all the things he wanted to do to my hair and face, but even then I smelled up to heaven when I came out—like a lilac bush—and it set me back five francs. As I walked to my hotel for dinner I was thinking about the haircut. Bertha about a block behind, I couldn't help but think that I should have washed five perfectly good paper hats had it blown my hair and smelling head off. One can't be too careful how he spends his money over here, as accidents sometimes happen, even at seventy miles."

Don't Waste Coal just to get the Bathroom Extra-Warm

You do like it extra-warm for a bath. Surely. But isn't it wasteful to fire up the furnace just to get that one room warmer than the rest of the house? For such occasions and any occasion that calls for extra heat in any room you need a Perfection Oil Heater.

PERFECTION OIL HEATERS

are a wonderful help in saving coal and cutting down fuel expense. They are small in size but big in heating capacity. With very little attention your Perfection is ready at all times for the living room after the fire is fixed for the night; for getting-up time when the bedroom is still chilly. You'll find use for it somewhere in the home every day of winter.

Of course, one of the finest features of a Perfection is that it burns kerosene—an economical fuel. That means money saved. But all kerosenes do not give the same kind of results in a Perfection. It's a matter of quality. So, to be sure of getting perfect satisfaction from your Perfection always, insist on getting Atlantic Rayolight Oil. It is so highly refined and purified that it gives a steady, radiating heat without smoke, smell or sputter. Ask for it by name.
