

HARRISBURG MAN VICTIM OF HUN TORPEDO

William O. Winters Dies on the High Seas, Serving in U. S. Navy

"When my husband came to me more than a year ago and said: 'Mame, what would you do if you were a man?' I said: 'Billy boy, I would enlist right away. If we all keep our men here who will win the war and save us from Germany?'"

"Mixed Ale" Marty Weeps at Prospects of Dry Town

New York.—He sat alone on a bench in City Hall Park yesterday, a picture of unkempt and penniless age and grief.

Marty Doesn't Work on Sunday

It was Marty's day off. On weekdays he sits in the park in a voice that has cracked beneath the weight of seventy-eight years and is husky with prolonged and overblown lubrication.

ered to the best dancers, and Floor Manager Marty Donahue was in demand.

"I gets upon a keg, see," mumbled "Mixed Ale" Marty yesterday, "an I says, 'Ladies an' gents, now's de time for de prize spielin,' like that, see?"

Marty's bleared eye almost kindled at mention of the old time, and then became again suffused as it fell upon the fateful headline.

"An' to think," he murmured, "that Marty Donahue should live to see it with his own eyes—y' got a nickel bo? I ain't made a cent to-day."
