

A Message to Workers of Central Pennsylvania

The entire civilized world is now passing through extraordinary conditions.

Trained men and women are wanted everywhere--wanted for war, wanted in all the essential branches of industry.

Every capable, sober, willing worker is now in demand---if you have capacity to do your bit---don't be a slacker---turn your energy into production.

But just because work is easy to get---everywhere---it is turning the heads of many and creating an inclination to jump from job to job. This upsets conditions and eventually is most unprofitable and disappointing to the worker who heeds the call of the wonderlust.

In 1918---as in 1775---the watchword of the patriot is "STAND FAST!" Stick where you are and concern yourself more about being busy---about perfecting yourself in your work at the good pay that is yours to get.

KEEP BUSY---DO YOUR UTMOST---AND HELP WIN THE WAR
