

GOVERNOR CALLS ON ALL NURSES

Particularly Those in Private Families Should Give Services to Stay Epidemic

Governor Brumbaugh to-day issued a proclamation calling upon as many as possible of the 500 trained nurses employed in private homes, largely by the incomes of wealthy families, undertake to help out in the care of influenza patients in the districts where they reside. The proclamation is as follows:

"Whereas, The people of this Commonwealth, facing now a state-wide epidemic of influenza and advised by our most competent medical authorities that the great of the scourge is not yet reached and destined to great suffering and many deaths must give heed to every effort put forth to suppress or lessen the severity of the disease, and

"Whereas, The State Commissioner of Health, the Pennsylvania-Delaware division of the American Red Cross and the committee of the Pennsylvania Council of Defense and Public Safety have united in a most earnest appeal for all possible assistance from private homes, largely the homes of wealthy persons, caring for one person long in convalescence and chronic cases, and in some instances are acting as serving maids or attendants upon such cases when other members of the family might for a time take over the work the nurse is doing, and

"Whereas, The people at large need and need sorely the administrations of those trained and skilled women to give relief to hundreds of persons under semi-military discipline in our emergency hospitals.

"Therefore, I, Martin G. Brumbaugh, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby call upon persons employing such nurses to release them for the general good during the period of this epidemic, and I urge these nurses to consider their obligation to their profession and come promptly to the assistance of the State Department of Health and allied agencies, that they may do their utmost to combat this dread malady that threatens our loved ones and has already so cruelly restricted the efficiency of our people in this war, because of this of all the parties in interest as a patriotic duty to the people of Pennsylvania and as an expression of loyalty to service when our people are sore pressed."

Record of Governors' Meeting Filed

The Governor's office to-day delivered to State Librarian Montgomery the declaration adopted by the conference of Governors and former Governors in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, on March 7, 1918, in connection with the "Win the war for permanent peace" convention.

The declaration is as follows: "One hundred and forty-two years ago our fathers pledged to Liberty their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor. That Liberty, the right of free peoples to control their own destinies is now endangered by the forces of despotism and autocracy with which we are at war.

"Three years ago in this hall the League to Enforce Peace was organized to urge a union of free nations against aggressive militarism. To-day the free nations are unitedly fighting to vanquish the most ruthless aggressor of history.

"The issue is sharply defined. Liberty and civilization will by arms enforce a freeman's peace or Liberty will perish from the earth.

"In the military triumph of the Entente Allies and in the organization afterwards of all the resources of civilization against military aggression, he our hopes for the future of mankind.

"To this goal there is only one way. It lies through battle and bloodshed to Victory.

"Therefore, we, Governors and former Governors, representing the peoples of eighteen sovereign states of the American Republic, do hereby pledge our utmost endeavor to carry the war to a victorious end, to resist all compromise and repudiate all offers of peace that will leave Germany and her allies unchastened and unsubdued again to menace the peaceful development of independent peoples and hinder the coming of a world ruled by justice."

Lack of Funds Halt Proposed Joint Hospital

The many conferences which have been held between the city and county officials during the past few months looking towards the erection of a new, modern hospital for the general use of Dauphin county residents that would be financed jointly by the city and county have not only been unavailing but, in the opinion of County Scator Moyer, there is no possible way in which Dauphin County Commissioners can appropriate its end of the money for the purpose. At present the old and dilapidated structure near the almshouse is being used for caring for contagious diseases and its utterly bad condition has prevented the county Commissioners from expending money on its improvement more than once.

In their desire to help out in the present crisis the Commissioners have offered, through the Poor Board, to pay rent for improvised emergency hospitals, nurse hire, drugs and for such things necessary to ameliorate city health conditions.

Stylish, Sensible, Serviceable Clothes For Men

There was once a time in the history of men's clothing when the issue was so sharply defined between the different styles that almost anything could change the looks of a suit or overcoat. War is changing the face of the earth and men's clothes are losing their decorative tendencies in the process.

Belts, plaits, tucks and all the other "folderols" in men's styles have vanished into thin air. Tailoring is back to simple lines once more and that is where handworkmanship has it all over the machine. In combining beauty of tailoring with simplicity of line is the method of the present styles for men which are mirrored in our presentation of Winter Suits and Overcoats for men.
