

NO SCOUT PAGE

Influenza has caused the Scout Page to vanish this week. Because of the epidemic and the ban on all gatherings of Boy Scouts it was decided by Scout Executive Virginia that there will be no Scout news. Everything is being held over until next week, when the Telegraph promises a bright, snappy bunch of news if the quarantine is lifted.

WILLIAM PENN TO GET TARDY HONOR

Governor Brumbaugh Says Time Has Come to Designate a Day For Him

Thursday, November 7, was to-day proclaimed by Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh as "William Penn Day" this being the anniversary of the landing of the founder of the Commonwealth on the soil of Pennsylvania in 1682. The governor urged that people study the life of Penn and turn to it as a model and method in life.

The proclamation is as follows: "Whereas, November seventh (new style) is the anniversary of the date of the first landing of William Penn upon American soil, and whereas, William Penn was the most commanding figure to cross the Atlantic ocean in colonial days and led by his lofty character and supreme statesmanship set up in the wilds of the fronting continent a colony that has steadily and splendidly developed into the finest Commonwealth that ever carved out of his love for the dwelling of man and has left to us an example of life so rich, so full, so inspiring and so holy that the people of the world aided to the luster of his name and the love for his life.

"Now, Therefore, I, Martin G. Brumbaugh, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, gratefully acknowledging the unique and matchless influence of William Penn upon the life and destiny of Pennsylvania and through Pennsylvania upon all peoples, do hereby call upon and invite the people of this Commonwealth to observe Thursday, November 7, 1918, as WILLIAM PENN DAY and I urge that on that day, notwithstanding the large issues now upon the public mind and conscience, our citizens, as a mark of love and loyalty, to the great founder, give fitting testimony of their abiding conviction that the plan of government, his conduct of public affairs and his modest but heroic life still remain as guide and inspiration to all that people of the world. Let there be due observance of the event in the public press, in our churches, in our schools, and in such special meetings as people may properly plan. Let it never be said with show of credence that Pennsylvania is ungrateful or forgetful. Let us never neglect to turn steadily to Penn's life as model and method in our own lives. Let us publicly profess our confidence in the form of government he has set and in the fine spiritual forces he has set in our common life. William Penn's example is not only inwriten in the public procedure of this Commonwealth, it is also inscribed in the hearts of our people and both in public and in private life he is sacred forever."

Billion Dollars Sought to Reconstruct Jewry

New York, Oct. 18.—A fund which may reach $1,000,000,000, to be used to finance the reconstruction of the Jewry of the world, will be sought by the joint distribution committee of the American funds for Jewish war sufferers, which, it was announced here last night, will undertake what is described as "the largest purely humanitarian project in history to be attempted by individual effort."

The money according to Felix M. Warburg, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., will not be sought alone through contributions, but will embrace the fields of lending and investment and will be accepted from non-Jewish, as well as Jewish, sources. The plan is based on reports received from every country where Jews have suffered during the war. Commissions of American Jews—experts in philanthropy, social service, education and business—will be sent to Russia, Rumania, Poland, Palestine, Serbia, Greece and other lands as soon as the initial subscription permits. Reports from the committee's representatives now abroad indicate that one-quarter of the world's 9,000,000 to 12,000,000 Jews outside of the 3,000,000 in the United States, "are destitute, starving homeless," the committee's statement says.

Men's Suits & Overcoats in Attractive Models

Clothes of Highest Quality That Strictly Conserve

The new suits and overcoats this season show some radical style changes; changes that are for the better.

The military idea predominates. In the shoulder lines and in the general drape of the garments there is that graceful hug and slim trimness that give the wearer's figure a smart and dignified military "set-up."

In line with the policy of wise conservation, such things as belts and other style eccentricities are tabooed.

Supreme value has been attained and greater value-giving is maintained through increased tailoring efficiency—NOT by the sacrifice of quality in the essential elements of good clothes.

Clothes that have earned and held the reputation of being the best produced in America.
