

FIRST ARREST IN MYSTERIOUS AUTO MURDER CASE IS MADE

Clarence Collins, Formerly of Gettysburg, Is Taken in Waynesboro Charged With Theft of Dead Man's Auto

TWO OTHERS SOUGHT AS HIS ACCOMPLICES

George J. Bushman's Tragic End May Be Cleared by the First Arrest; Car Is Found in Philadelphia Garage

Gettysburg, Pa., Oct. 25.—With the arrest of Clarence Collins, formerly of this town, it is thought that the identity of the murderers of George J. Bushman, whose dead body was found a week ago along the River Road near Lucknow, is in a fair way to be solved.

Collins was arrested in the Landis Tool Works at Waynesboro last night. Until recently he has lived in Gettysburg. The arrest was made by County Detective Charles H. Wilson on the technical charge of being implicated in the theft of Bushman's automobile, which disappeared the night of his death.

Look For Two Others

Harry C. White, Harrisburg detective who is working on the murder case, came to Gettysburg for Collins this afternoon, who was brought to the Adams county jail by Detective Wilson last night. Detectives White and Wilson are now looking for two other men who are known to have been implicated in the robbery of Bushman's automobile following his murder.

The Hudson Supersix automobile driven by Bushman the night of his murder has been located in the garage of E. C. Sherman, of Philadelphia. Bushman was murdered last Wednesday night. Information ferreted out by Detective White was to the effect that the three men now thought to have murdered Bushman appeared at the Philadelphia garage Thursday morning with the automobile. As late as Saturday, one of the three men returned and attempted to sell the automobile to Sherman. Sherman, however, was suspicious, and held the fellow off, and told him to call again. In the meantime he received notice of the car that was stolen from Bushman and found that it tallied with the car stored in his garage by the three young men. This did not show up again, and the local authorities were notified.

Worked on Clue

During the early part of his investigation, Detective Wilson learned that not a man and a woman, as was at first supposed, but several men, accosted Bushman in the square here and asked for a lift to Harrisburg the night of the murder. Wilson and White accordingly conducted their investigations on that theory.

For several days the identity of the men who are thought to have murdered Bushman has been known to the authorities. This was not disclosed while there was a chance of arresting them, however. But with the arrest of Collins last night, it was impossible to keep the developments in the case a secret any longer.

Bad Reputation
The other two young men, as well as Collins, are well known in Gettysburg, and are considered generally as disorderly characters. It is said by the authorities that their ages range from 20 to 25 years, it is said.

Officials have refused to divulge the identity of the other men implicated in the case. The place and manner in which the murder was committed, except by revolver shots through the back of the head and through the chest, also have been kept secret, if indeed they are known to the police.

It is thought robbery was the motive of the crime, as Bushman was suspected to be carrying several hundred dollars on his person several days before the murder.

U. S. USES 16-INCH GUNS

Big Armored Battleplane Is Taken by Pershing's Men in France

By Associated Press
Paris, Oct. 25.—The fighting along the American front on both sides of the Meuse is particularly fierce. The Germans appear to be making a despairing effort to hold their positions in this vital sector. Information received here gives the impression that they cannot resist much longer in their positions.

With the American Army North of Verdun, Oct. 25.—The American troops, despite strong German artillery fire, improved their positions at three important points along the front east and west of the Meuse during the night.

East of the Meuse the Americans drove the enemy from the eastern edge of the Bois d'Ormont, gaining their objectives.
In the region of Grand Pre, west of the Meuse, the Americans straightened out their line and captured several important ridges. Between Reppes wood and Bantheville wood the American line was extended despite stubborn resistance.

Heavy German counterattacks were thrown back by the Americans holding Belle wood and the line on either side. The Germans are using their heavy guns and machine guns extensively.
American 16-inch guns, manned by American bluejackets co-operating with the French, began firing upon German railroad centers back of the Serre-Olle front on Wednesday. The Americans directed their shells against railroad supply stations and junctions in the region of Vervins and also in the vicinity of Rezy.
Americans captured an immense German armored battleplane Wednesday north of Brioules. The machine was virtually intact. The pilot and gunner had made their escape.
It is presumed that the battleplane was downed a day or two ago by American aviators. It was equipped with a bomb-dropping device and had a gun and a sighting arrangement so fixed that the gunner can see to shoot directly beneath him. This gun was firing on roads. So far as known this is the first plane of this type captured by Americans. Half the fuselage was covered with quarter-inch armor.

CLOCKS TO TURN BACK ONE HOUR

Father Harris will turn back the hands of his clock an hour when he goes to bed to-morrow night if he wants to keep up—or, rather, get up—with the time. The hour set for the return of standard time, after seven months of daylight saving, is Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. The easiest way will be to turn the hands forward eleven hours to-morrow night, because jewelers say it damages clocks to turn back the hands an hour.

This done, Sunday morning the face of the clock will show correct time.
The Fuel Administration has estimated that during the seven months of daylight saving, 1,250,000 tons of coal have been saved.

MAKE CONGRESS REPUBLICAN, IS SLOGAN IN PA.

Win the War and Prepare For Reconstruction After War, It Is Urged

Philadelphia, Oct. 25.—A careful survey of conditions throughout the thirty-two Congressional districts of Pennsylvania give Republicans reason to be confident of a solid Congressional delegation at the next session.
"Win the War," and "Unconditional Surrender," the main slogans of the Republican party, are rallying the voters in every community and even in the few districts now represented by Democrats, the political workers in a position to know, are confident of Republican success. Actual figures compiled from the Congressional records have dubiously proven even to the dubious

President Ignores Steady and Patriotic Support of Republicans

By Associated Press
Washington, Oct. 25.—President Wilson to-day issued an appeal to the people to return a Democratic Congress in the November elections if they approve of his course in this critical period. Return of a Republican majority to either house of Congress, the President said, "would be certainly interpreted on the other side of the water as a repudiation of my leadership."

The President said he would accept the country's verdict without cavil, but that if it was adverse, the power to administer the great trust assigned to him would be seriously impaired.

Number of Prisoners Taken by British Totals 8,400; Huns Fight Desperately

HAIG'S ARMIES MAKING SLOW BUT STEADY PROGRESS

By Associated Press

With the Allied Armies in France and Belgium, Oct. 25.—Fighting which compares in fierceness to almost any in the war continued through the night on the field of the great battle north and south of Valenciennes. Belated reports indicate the British have entered the German defenses, gaining considerable ground and pressing eastward slowly but surely.

Since Wednesday morning the British Third army has taken 1,200, making a total of 8,400. More than one hundred cannon were captured Wednesday and Thursday.

On the high ground south of Valenciennes the battle is raging with intense fury, but the British gradually are overcoming the enemy.

At last reports the British held this line. From Le Faux to Robersart to Englefontaine to Ghissignies to Beaudignies, where they are within a mile and a half of Le Quesnoy, to the east of Ruesnes to Sommaing to Monchaux. The British gained Monchaux after bloody fighting.

Flanking Movement
Field Marshal Haig, his troops having reached the western edge of the Morval forest, apparently is striving to outflank that natural barrier on the north by advancing through Lequesnoy toward Mons and Maubeuge. The Germans are fighting stiffly to prevent this, resulting in desperate combats in the villages and other vantage points south of Valenciennes. The British, however, are pushing steadily ahead and have taken Maing and Vendegies. Fighting was resumed on this sector Friday morning with the British advancing from the hills east of the Ezallion river toward the railroad and high road between Valenciennes and Lequesnoy.
Immediately north of Valenciennes the British have taken additional villages and continue to approach the important crossing of the Scheldt at Conde. This town is six and a half miles northeast of Valenciennes.
