

Coal Combinations Urged as Fuel Saving Means

A suggestion for the economical and efficient use of coal in combinations, for furnaces furnishing hot air, high or low pressure steam or hot water, is made in a letter from State Fuel Administrator William Potter to the Federal Fuel Committee for Dauphin county, which has just been received by the latter.

The use of buckwheat for a "top-dressing" for the fire when it is banked at night, the letter states, results in the draft being held better and aids in the proper and economic combustion of the coal body as a whole. In the morning, the statement continues, the furnace could be shaken down as usual and fired with some of the regular coal. At the proper time, afterwards, a quantity of the fine coal can be used as a dressing as before. The letter says that the two kinds of coal should never be mixed but kept in different bins and should not be used except with the larger sizes of anthracite.

LOCUST ST. AT SECOND

A few seasons ago there was plenty of ready-to-wear merchandise in medium grades, and a careful shopper who did not insist upon distinctive style could get excellent values in coats, suits and dresses in the popular-priced shops.

This grade of ready-to-wear has disappeared. There is no low priced clothing anywhere. Comparison will show that the garments in a popular-priced shop cost just about the same as the more carefully chosen stock of the specialty shop catering to a high-class trade.

With all the clothing so high priced it is certainly better to take advantage of the stocks of a distinctive house and to buy clothing in which the material, the cut and the wearing quality make up for the increased investment.

P. S.—Many new models in the Blouse Department, and a full line of Kayser Silk—the practical underwear—very moderately priced.

"Ave Maria" His Death Hymn at Wife's Grave

East Rutherford, N. J.—The strains of "Ave Maria," which Adam Bombagh had played on his violin at all hours of the day and night since his wife killed herself with gas three months ago, failed to issue from his home the other night. The violinist's son, John, was becoming worried over his father's absence.

Neighbors found Bombagh stretched across his wife's grave, one hand clamping his violin and the other a revolver. He was dead from a bullet he had sent into his brain. Tucked beneath the violin strings was this note to his son:

"My poor boy, forgive me. I have left you alone in the world, but I go to your mother. I play the 'Ave Maria' first, because that brings me nearer her. Take the violin, which is all I have. Be a good boy and be careful with your music."

Suffs Tell Wadsworth Just Where He Stands

Washington—Senator Wadsworth of New York was pilloried by the militant suffragists. In so doing they initiated a new policy of portraying the delinquencies of those who voted against the suffrage amendment when it was rejected in the Senate a few days ago. Each of the objectionable thirty-four Senators is to be screened in turn. The place of honor was given Mr. Wadsworth.

A banner was held across the steps of the Senate office building. This inscription was displayed:

"Senator Wadsworth's regiment is fighting for democracy abroad.

"Senator Wadsworth could serve his country better by fighting with his regiment abroad than by fighting women."

Great River Is at the Bottom of Lake Michigan

Milwaukee.—Out in Lake Michigan, not far from the bluff on which Milwaukee built Juneau Park, this strange and interesting thing has been discovered.

At the bottom of the lake, below the waters that lie placid and quiet, a great river rushes swiftly on its course, never touching the top of the lake, traveling mysteriously below, as the gulf stream travels through the ocean.

The people of Milwaukee may sink pipes to tap this invisible river of pure water for the city's use.

Wife and Son Dead, Five Children Ill

The wife and son Charles, of Samuel Neff, of Grantham, late influenza victims, will be buried to-day in Mechanicsburg cemetery. Four other children of this couple are already in the Harrisburg Hospital for treatment of the disease and their fifth child was brought to that institution to-day. As yet the father has been left untouched by the malady.
