DRUGGISTS!! PLEASE NOTE VICK'S VAPORUB OVERSOLD DUE TO PRESENT EPIDEMIC

Tremendous Demand Last Few Days Has Wiped Out Excess Stocks That We Had Estimated Would Last Until Next January. Last Week's Orders Called for One and Three Quarter Million Jars—Today's Orders Alone Amount to 932,459 Jars.

Big Shipments Are En Route to Jobbers. Until These Arrive There May Be a Temporary Shortage. All Deals Postponed — Buy in Small Lots Only.

RETAILERS CAN GET IMMEDIATE SHIPMENTS DIRECT BY PARCEL POST

This advertisement is written on Monday, October 21. It is directed to the attention of all distributors of Vick's VapoRub, both wholesale and retail. In an emergency such as the present epidemic, our duty—and your duty—is to distribute VapoRub in the quickest and most convenient manner to those sections stricken by influenza. We, therefore, call your careful attention to the following:

DANGER OF SHORTAGE IF SUPPLY IS NOT CONSERVED. On October 1st we had on hand, at our factory and in twenty warehouses scattered over the country, sufficient VapoRub to last us, we thought, until January 1, allowing for a 50 per cent. increase over last year's sales, and not counting our daily output. This big excess stock had been accumulated during the summer months.

Then this epidemic of Spanish Influenza hit us in the last ten days this stock has vanished. At first we thought this tremendous demand would last only a few days, but the orders have run:

Wed., Oct. 16—15,264 dozen.
Thur., Oct. 17—25,323 dozen.
Fri., Oct. 18—39,256 dozen.
Sat., Oct. 19—45,833 dozen.
Mon., Oct. 21—77,705 dozen.
Up to Saturday, October 19th, we have actually shipped for this month $400,284.10, or over two million jars of VapoRub.

THE PROBLEM NOW IS TO DISTRIBUTE VAPORUB QUICKLY. Most of this tremendous quantity is still en route to the jobbers, but freight and express are both congested nowadays, and it may be some time before this supply reaches the jobbers. In the meantime, therefore, it is necessary that we distribute, as widely as possible, the stock that we are manufacturing together with that now on the jobbers' and retailers' shelves, in order that it may get to the influenza districts quickly. Our normal output is about 4,000 dozen per day. We are putting on a night shift, but it will be a little while before that is producing.

WHAT WE ASK THE WHOLESALE DRUGGIST TO DO. Last Saturday we notified all of our jobbers, by special delivery, as follows:

NEWS OF STEELTON

CHURCHES TO OPEN SUNDAY

Sessions of Public Schools Will Be Resumed Next Wednesday

At a joint meeting of the borough board of health and the school board it was decided to allow the churches to reopen their doors next Sunday, provided all the buildings are thoroughly fumigated and ventilated before then. Public schools will be reopened Wednesday morning when all pupils will be expected to appear at the regular time.

This action is the result of the continued improvement in the epidemic situation, there being very few cases being reported and the death toll dwindling rapidly.

Steelton Soldier Takes Part in Many Battles

Private Francis D. Beidel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beidel, of Front street, in a letter to his parents gives an interesting list of the battles in which he has been since October, 1917. He was among the first American soldiers to reach French soil. Part of his letter follows:

"There certainly have been some extremely exciting times here for all of us. Another year has passed and I have seen some good active service. The French are world beaters at this war game, and certainly are fine comrades. To give you some idea of what we have been up against I will give you the following resume of the past year: October, attack at Chemin des Dames, November, reserve attack at Cambria; December, St. Quentin; March and April, Montdidier; May and June, Soissons, Rheims salient; August, Lassigny and Noyar, and still going strong."

MEXICAN DIES OF INFLUENZA. Mercedes Saragosa, a Mexican employed at the steel plant, died yesterday noon at the Emergency Hospital with pneumonia. He is the third Mexican in the borough to die during the epidemic. His brother, Georgia Saragosa, was discharged from the Emergency Hospital last week as cured.

HEROIC DEATH OF PRIVATE DRY

Volunteered to String Telegraph Wires in Dangerous Place

For courage and coolness in leadership on the night of August 23, 1918, when a member of G. C. L. Balmaine, Jr. assumed command of G. C. after the sergeant in charge had been severely wounded. His conduct enabled him to successfully withstand the enemy. He then dressed the wounds of his G. C. commander, thereby saving his life. During his entire tour of thirty days in the front line, Corporal Rehkugler, by his coolness and grasp of the situation won the commendation of his superior officers."

W. A. DRY

A casualty list early in September contained the name of Private W. A. Dry, of Steelton, as having been killed in action. No further information was given until a few days ago, when the details of his death were learned by his many friends here. Dry was a member of the 413th Telegraph Battalion, and on August 23rd volunteered to attempt the stringing of telegraph wires in an exposed position of territory close to the fighting lines. While engaged in the task he was shot down by the Hun.

Private Dry was born in Richfield, North Carolina, where his parents now reside, and came to Steelton about six years ago, living with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Laufer. Up to the time of his enlistment he worked as a carpenter in the steel plant. He was a member of Grace United Evangelical choir and Sunday school, the Hygienic Fire Company and the Order of Red Men. Shortly after his enlistment in July, 1917, he married Miss Nellie Meisenheimer, of Richfield, N. C., and almost immediately thereafter was sent to France.

He was well known in Steelton and was very popular. Mrs. Dry and her son, who has never seen his father, reside at Richfield with Mrs. Dry's mother.

Steelton Boy Is Cited For Bravery

Corporal John G. Rehkugler, a member of the Headquarters Company, 35th Division, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Rehkugler, Sr., 347 Popular street, Steelton, has been officially cited for coolness and leadership in action. The citation follows: "For courage and coolness in leadership on the night of August 23, 1918, when a member of G. C. L. Balmaine, Jr. assumed command of G. C. after the sergeant in charge had been severely wounded. His conduct enabled him to successfully withstand the enemy. He then dressed the wounds of his G. C. commander, thereby saving his life. During his entire tour of thirty days in the front line, Corporal Rehkugler, by his coolness and grasp of the situation won the commendation of his superior officers."

ROOSEVELT AND TAFT IN APPEAL

Future power, and only those Democrats who do his will. Because of this reflection on other patriotic Americans, we appeal for fair play.

Four Great Problems. The next Congress will serve from March 4, 1919, to March 4, 1921. In that period: "First, the war must be fought to unconditional surrender, unless this is achieved before. "Second, the terms of world peace must be settled. "Third, the Democratic administration, after expending billions of treasure and exercising more absolute power than any administration in our history, must give an account of its stewardship. "Fourth, the change from war conditions to peace must be brought about with the least disturbance, and the work of reconstruction must be broadly begun."

Made Victory Possible. "A Republican Congress will be much better qualified than one controlled by Democrats, to aid the country in adopting the measures needed for these four great tasks. "First, even as a minority party, the Republicans made the winning of the war possible by passing the original draft bill. Without this we could not have trained and landed the two millions of men now in France. As a minority party the Republicans forced upon a reluctant President and Secretary of War, after an injurious delay of four months, the amended draft act, without which we could not put two more millions at the front next July. The speaker, the leader and the chairman of the Military Committee of the Democratic house, opposed the original draft with all the vigor possible. It was saved, and so our country's cause was saved by the Republican minority.

Not One-Man Task. "Second, the new Senate must approve, by two-thirds vote, the terms of peace. Those terms should be settled not by one man only. It is one-man control we are fighting in this war to suppress. If the peace treaty is to be useful in the future, it must be approved by the great body of the American people. The President has indicated a willingness to make a peace by negotiations. He has not demanded, as he might have done in three lines, that which the American people demand, an unconditional surrender. His exchange of notes with Germany has caused a deep concern among our people lest he may by his parleying with her, concede her a peace around a council table instead of a sentence from a court. The fourteen points which the President and Germany assume that they already have agreed upon, are so general and vague that such a peace would be no treaty at all, but only a protocol to an interminable discussion. The President is without final power to bind the United States to those fourteen points, although his language does not suggest it. Still less has he power to bind our noble Allies. We do not know that these points include all that our Allies may justly demand, or do not concede something they may justly withhold. For what they have done for us, we owe our Allies the highest good faith. It is of capital importance, therefore, that we now should elect a Senate which shall be independent enough to interpret and enforce the will of the American people in the matter of this world peace, and not merely submit to the uncontrolled will of Mr. Wilson. "Democratic Defects. "Nor can the attitude of the House of Representatives be ignored in this peace. Every affirmative obligation binding the United States in that treaty must be performed by the House as part of the Congress. The present Democratic majority in the House has been subservient to the will of the President in every respect except when critical issues in the conduct of the war have been involved. The President has not hesitated publicly to discipline those of his party who have disagreed with him, and the lesson has had its effect. A new Democratic Congress, with its old leaders thus chastened, will offer no opposition to his will. They will not be consulted in the future more than in the past. In a Democratic Congress, the American people will not have the service of an independent, courageous, coordinate branch of the government to moderate his uncontrolled will. It is not safe to entrust to one man such unlimited powers. It is not in accord with the traditions of the Republic.

Practical Questions. "Fourth, the work of reconstruction must not be done by one man, or finally formulated according to his academic theories and ideals. The President was not elected when such issues were before the people. His mandate of power was not given in the light of the momentous questions which soon will force themselves for solution. He was elected as a peace president and because he had 'kept us out of war.' The American people should therefore place in the branch of the government charged constitutionally with adopting policies of reconstruction, a Congress which will not register the will of one man, but fresh from the people, will enact the will of the people. "We earnestly deprecate extending the unified uncontrolled leadership of a commander-in-chief to the making of a permanent treaty of peace or to the framing of those measures of reconstruction which must seriously affect the happiness and prosperity of the American people for a century. We urge all Americans, who are Americans first, to vote for a Republican Congress."

Poisoning of Wells Official Hun Order

Washington, Oct. 31.—Documents quoting orders issued by German commanders for methodical destruction of property and for poisoning wells during the recent evacuation of Belgian and French territory have reached Washington. Among them is an order, taken from a prisoner, issued by the commander of the 108th Infantry Brigade of the German Army on September 5, directing specifically that certain villages be destroyed by the rear guard.

DO MOTHERS ERR?

When we hear of so many school girls and girls in stores and offices who are often totally unfit to perform their daily duties because of some derangement peculiar to their sex, might this not have been prevented by the mother who, perhaps through neglect or carelessness, failed to get for that daughter the one great root and herb remedy for such ailments, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? This old-fashioned medicine is said to have alleviated more suffering of woman-kind than any other remedy known to medicine.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits, 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

Red Cross Will Not Participate in Drive

The local chapter of Red Cross has received a telegram from the Pennsylvania headquarters forbidding them to participate in a drive for funds that is to be made in November by the various recreational agencies doing war work, and announcement has been made that the Red Cross name will comply with the orders absolutely. The telegram follows:

An on-to-day in receipt of a telegram from national headquarters which supplements the information contained in Pennsylvania department regulations No. 142, and which drive for funds that is to be made in November in the interests of the seven recreational agencies, and that it also prohibits the use of the Red Cross name in connection therewith. Every chapter is expected to see to it that this prohibition of the war council is absolutely followed in every territory. Please advise whether there has been any intention to include the Red Cross in your local drive, and if so advise the Pennsylvania headquarters that you will take steps to stop it immediately."

Clothes Wanted For Destitute Children

Mrs. Charles A. Alden, president of the Associated Charities of Steelton, has issued a call for clothes of all kinds for the many children orphans made destitute by the epidemic. Heavy underclothing is needed for both boys and girls of all ages, and many baby clothes are also wanted. Clothing may be left at the residence of Mrs. Alden, 401 Pine street, or at McCurdy's, druggist. The names of children who are also must be cared for, and it is hoped that a most generous response will be made to this appeal. Many children have been left orphans and many have been left without any relatives or even friends. The Associated Charities have been taking care of all such cases, but the demand for clothing has been so great that this appeal has been made necessary.

Red Cross to Furnish Mourning Brassards

At the request of the woman's committee of the Council of National Defense, the Red Cross War Council has agreed to furnish mourning brassards to the bereaved families of men whose lives have been lost in the service of the country. This plan has been approved by President Wilson. American Red Cross chapters will provide the brassards without charge to the widows and parents of soldiers and sailors. To other members of the family the brassard will be furnished at cost. Materials for the brassards have already reached the Steelton Chapter, and relatives will receive the brassards by calling at the home of Mrs. C. A. Alden, 401 Pine street, any day between 9 a. m. and noon.
