

SON KILLED, MOTHER DIES

Word of Death of Soldier Reaches Home Almost at Hour of Funeral

Marietta, Pa., Nov. 4.—Another gold star has been added to the service flag in Center Square, Marietta, which makes a total of eight. Word reached Marietta on Sunday morning that Sheridan Sharp, attached to the 216th Regiment, had been killed September 27 in action in France. He had been overseas but three months, and at Camp Meade nine months. The young man was a son of Mrs. Henry Wilhelm, who was buried Sunday afternoon from her late home in East Marietta, the news of the death of her son coming while she lay ready for burial. The services were held at 2 o'clock, Monday, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, burial was made in the Marietta Cemetery. There were a number of pretty floral tributes.

NEW STAR MAIL ROUTE Liverpool, Pa., Nov. 4.—The Post office Department has decided to open a star mail route between Duncannon and Selinsgrove. The distance between the two points is 26.6 miles, which will be traversed daily except Sunday.

EUGENE R. DAVIS KILLED IN FRANCE

Harrisburg Boy Pays Supreme Sacrifice in Serving Nation

EUGENE DAVIS

Inconsciously submitting to his parents the patriotic fortitude of Theodore Roosevelt when the latter's son, Quentin was killed in the skies, and implying that the ex-President's brave conduct then was worthy of emulation by all fathers and mothers of American soldiers killed in France. Chauffeur Eugene Russell Davis, 22 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, 1628 Regina street, fell a few days after on the battlefields of France, fatally wounded by Hun shrapnel. Long before his father reached his proud parents, Davis was dead. Official word from the Adjutant General's office in Washington, received last Friday night by Mr. and Mrs. Davis, stated that Eugene had died of wounds, October 7.

NERVOUS ENERGY life's momentum, depends upon a well-nourished body. When strength is depleted and the body lacking in essential nourishment, the nerves are the first to suffer. SCOTT'S EMULSION simon-pure in substance, rich in tonic qualities, nourishes the whole body and strengthens and steadies the nerves. Wherever the sun shines, Scott's is the recognized standard tonic-food and conservator of strength.

"I can never help admiring," wrote Chauffeur Davis in his last letter to his parents, dated September 29, and received by them October 19, "Theodore Roosevelt for the way he took his son's death. I have seen Quentin's grave. I think 'Teddy' is the greatest man in the United States of America." Chauffeur Davis, who was attached to Company A, 167th Machine Gun Battalion, Divisional Headquarters, had long been an admirer of Roosevelt as had his parents before him, and it is significant that the letter the latter wrote to receive from their boy should contain an allusion to Roosevelt's greatness towards death and towards life. Though Mr. and Mrs. Davis knew that their son had been wounded in battle, they never learned the date of its occurrence. Through a letter written by William Jones, of 2251 Jefferson street, this city, a lifelong friend of Davis and a member of the same company as the latter, to his parents, information first came here telling of Chauffeur Davis' wounds. This epistle stated that "Gene had got hit in the back with shrapnel while he was bringing up the soldiers' meal." Though serving as a chauffeur, Davis helped out at times with the castron and was often called upon to take food to the trenches. Davis enlisted two years and ten months ago in the Pennsylvania National Guards and saw service on the border. He trained at Camp Hancock and was sent overseas May 2, 1918. To-day Mr. and Mrs. Davis said that their son had been in the thick of the push from the Marne to the Vesle and from Verdun to north of the Argonne Woods. Both are taking their boy's death heroically, the latter's last words about "Teddy" having taken deep root and commanded the respect of silence.

Dr. Andrew D. White, First President of Cornell, Dies; Was Minister to Germany Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Dr. Andrew D. White, Cornell University's first president, and former Ambassador to Germany and Minister to Russia, and one of the foremost diplomats and statesmen of the United States, died at his home here this morning as the result of a stroke of paralysis last Friday. The funeral will be held next Thursday, the 8th anniversary of Dr. White's birth.

ROYER TELLS JUDGE HE HAS NO POWER [Continued from First Page.] sachusetta. Orders raising the ban on various counties for Saturday or early next week will be issued soon. The situation in both coal fields is reported improving. Agents of the department are taking evidence against violators of the closing order and suits will be brought. Dr. Royer's Statement Dr. Royer's statement says, in substance: "The Attorney General's Department has advised me that the reported action of Judge Landis enjoining the commissioner of health and the railroads from maintaining quarantine against the City of Lancaster, amounting in effect to a mandatory injunction to run the trains into Lancaster and accept passengers to and from that point is an unwarranted assumption of judicial authority, without legal effect, and which both the railroads and myself might properly disregard, for the reason that the court of common pleas of Dauphin county is the only court having jurisdiction to enjoin the heads of state departments with reference to the promulgation and enforcement of their orders, and it would be intolerable for such officials to be compelled to appear in different and widely-separated counties of the commonwealth and be subjected to different and possibly conflicting orders with reference to the same matter; and, in this particular case, for the further reason that the city solicitor, in preparing the bill, failed to comply with the equitable rules of the Supreme Court by endorsing on, or having contained in, the bill in equity any notice to the defendants. "It is the more irregular an unjustifiable because it was issued without notice or hearing, although the parties knew that representatives of the Department of Health as well as of the Attorney General's Department were in Lancaster at the time, and especially so because it was granted with full knowledge of the fact that the ban could not be questioned or decided either in the court of common pleas of Lancaster county or in an appellate court, because before such a hearing could be had the time for questioning the closing of the saloons in the City of Lancaster (next Tuesday noon) would have expired and the question would have become a moot one not reviewable in the courts. "Such action is in line with the reported previous conduct of the parties involved, which was tending to the liquor traffic, and in violation of the established law, an amazing thing to come from those whose special duty as well as sworn obligation is to enforce the laws of the commonwealth. "Were it not for the fact that the health conditions in the City of Lancaster are improving to such an extent that the ban may be safely lifted on Tuesday, I would request the Governor to declare the city under martial law and enforce the physical closing of the few (fifteen out of seventy-five) defiant saloonkeepers, a power which unquestionably exists. "In view of the improved conditions, I have decided not to resort to this drastic course merely to enforce compliance with the law, but in closing the saloons for one day, and I leave the responsibility for the violation of the law by those few defiant liquor men, with attendant disrespect and contempt for law and authority, where it belongs, on the shoulders of those who counseled or encouraged such violations as well as the municipal authorities who refused to aid the department in the enforcement of its orders. "I hereby give warning, however, that this step must not be taken as a precedent by other municipalities, which following the example of the City of Lancaster, have threatened to disobey the regulations and orders of this department issued pursuant to law, but the health conditions of which have not improved to the same extent as now exist in Lancaster, and where conditions are such that the ban imposed by this department cannot safely be lifted. The order will be enforced by every means at the control of the commonwealth."

Vote "YES" To All Road Users: Does Dauphin county—does Central Pennsylvania—know the economic handicap of BAD ROADS? "YES"— Because with few exceptions this section of the state has never had good roads. Is it not a fact that while the merchants of the market centers suffer as a result, THE FARMER SUFFERS MORE, because of the increased cost of getting his produce to market? "YES"— Good roads bring the farms closer to town; they reduce the cost of transportation; they cut down the time required to get from place to place. Doesn't that make Good Roads a direct BENEFIT to the Farmer, the Business Man, the Consumer, the Automobileist—in fact the General Public? "YES"— Is there a remedy? "YES"— Is it by voting for Constitutional Amendment No. 1 on the election ballot next Tuesday? "YES"— Does that authorize the legislature to pass enabling legislation, so that without a cent of increased taxes on the farmers or anybody else, the state may from time to time issue bonds for road improvements? "YES"— Then listen: Support Amendment No. 1 on Tuesday. Vote "Yes." Improved roads must come. Pennsylvania demands them. Provide the State with the means to build them rapidly—by a loan if necessary. Don't take a chance that the necessity for good roads might result in a curtailed appropriation for our schools and worthy charitable institutions. Vote for the so-called "fifty million bond issue," with the assurance that bonds will not be used unless absolutely necessary—and in no event until after the war is over. Remember— A Vote For Good Roads Is a Vote For Your Own Best Interests Motor Club of Harrisburg

Voters of Pennsylvania Every individual and home in Pennsylvania will be benefited by the proposed State Constitutional Amendment permitting a $50,000,000 bond issue for better roads: In time and money saved in hauling produce from farm to table. In time and money saved in hauling fertilizer and supplies to farms. In lower transportation costs in cities, affecting every household commodity and every business. Good roads mean greater service at lower cost from every vehicle, whether motor or horse drawn, in town, country and city.
