Catarrh Of The Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician. Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion—How to Recognize and Treat.

"Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from furber, coated tongues, bad breath, sour burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind and stomach acidity and all the indications which in reality their trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented, unassimilated food. The blood is polluted and carries the infection throughout the body. Gastric ulcers are apt to form and frequently an ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

In catarrh of the stomach a good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Bismuth Magnesia in half a glass of hot water as hot as you can comfortably drink. The hot water washes the mucus from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach while the bismuth magnesia is an excellent solvent for mucus and increases the efficiency of the hot water treatment. "Free" the Bismuth Magnesia will serve as a powerful but harmless antacid which will neutralize any excess hydrochloric acid that may be in your stomach and sweeten its food contents. Easy, natural digestion without distress of any kind should soon follow. Bismuth Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless, pleasant and easy to take and can be obtained from any local druggist. Don't confuse Bismuth Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, milks, citrates, etc., but get it in the pure bismuth form prepared for this purpose. G. A. Goris.

This well-known preparation has been one of the national remedies of Holland for centuries. In 1696 the government of the Netherlands granted war as a first lieutenant on the Sixth Regiment, Staff, of the old Pennsylvania National Guard, with headquarters at Lancaster. He is now a lieutenant of the Nineteenth Regiment, Transportation Corps.

Lieutenant George Shoemaker, another member of Harrisburg's police force, is reported to be convalescing at a base hospital. It is reported that he and Captain Edward Stackpole, previously reported wounded, are in the same hospital and occupying beds side by side. Both are recovering rapidly from their wounds.

Among the names appearing in the latest lists of those who have made the supreme sacrifice is that of Private William Henry Naus, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Naus, New Cumberland, a member of the 112th Infantry. Private Naus died in France as a result of wounds received in battle August 2. He was listed in the service of his country when only sixteen with the consent of his parents. An official report from the Adjutant General at Washington was received by the parents telling of their son's death. Another son, Earl Naus, is a member of the Officers Training Camp at Camp Gordon.

Private Herman J. Weiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Weiser, 35 Bank street, Penbrook, who was wounded in the arm July 4, has been removed from a base hospital in France to Cape May. Private Weiser, who is 19 years of age, is a member of the Medical Corps.

A letter has been received by Oliver John, 222 North Third street, from his son, Private William L. John, who is now in a base hospital in France. Private John is suffering from a shrapnel wound received September 25, but is convalescing. September 6 he was officially reported as gassed, and after recovering and returning to the lines was wounded three weeks later. He is a member of the 105th Infantry and received his training at Camp Wadsworth, S. C., sailing for France in May.

Corporal Roy McKinley Keller, 1061 South Ninth street, now of Company I, 112th Pennsylvania Infantry, is reported slightly wounded by the War Department, but the extent of his wounds are not definitely known. Corporal Keller received his wounds at a base hospital, according to a letter received by his mother, Mrs. Samuel Keller, dated October 23, having been wounded in the battle of the Somme and Chateau Thierry.

Keller, who is 20 years old, enlisted as a private in Company I, of the old Eighth Regiment. He received his training at Camp Hancock.

Private Herman Ray Rhoads, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rhoads, 2429 Reel street, died in France as the result of an attack of pneumonia. The sad information was conveyed in a telegram received by his parents. He was in the Tenth Regiment High School when he entered the ranks of the Army in 1917. A few months later he was called for training, sailing for France with the 8th Signal Battalion. A letter from him written in the latter part of September said he was well.

"COAL CLAUSE" WILL BE ARGUED

Public Service Commission Expects Various Companies to Intervene in Matter

Arrangements are being made by the Public Service Commission to give a hearing especially in regard to the legality and other features of the so-called "coal clause" in fixing rates. The hearing will be held in the Metropolitan concern of Reading, which involves objection to a rate for power created in a supplemental tariff and based on coal prices when a contract exists.

The Commission has invited other concerns or municipalities interested in the "coal clause" situation to intervene so that the proposition may have the widest consideration. The hearing will likely be held late this month or early in December.

The commission will resume sessions next Monday.

Want Black Locust.—Forestry Commissioner Robert S. Conklin has issued a call to the people of the state owning black locust timber to sell it to the United States government for wooden ship construction. Some time ago the state secured considerable black walnut for ordnance and white ash for shovel handles and now a special plea has been sent out for the black locust logs for the manufacture of "tre-nails," needed for building ships.

Every available stick of black locust in Pennsylvania is needed and the government will buy it at liberal rates," says the Commissioner, who adds that prevention of forest fires would have saved much such timber against the time when the nation needs it.

To Finish Armories.—The State Armory Board has directed that plans and specifications be prepared for the completion of the four armories which the state authorities say have been shown by the influenza epidemic and military exigencies to be needed. They are the cavalry armory in Philadelphia; Emerson street armory in Pittsburgh, which is now occupied by the Pittsburgh cavalry and much used for trucks; the drill shed at the State Armory and the administration building for the Reading armory. The drill shed at the latter place was used as a hospital.

State Gets Guidon.—One of the regimental guidons of the One Hundred and Fifth Pennsylvania Volunteers in the Civil War has been presented to the State of Pennsylvania for preservation in the collection of battle flags in the rotunda of the Capitol by Miss Anna A. Clarke, of Indianapolis, whose father was one of the officers of the regiment. According to Miss Clarke's letter to Adjutant General Frank D. Reary the guidon was given to her father while on a visit to Iowa by a man who had been in his command and whom he had saved at the battle of Chancellorsville. The flag is in good state of preservation and will be installed in the rotunda.

Order Revoked.—The State Compensation Board has revoked an order of compensation made in the claim of Zvonur vs. American Zinc and Chemical Company, Longcloth, and says that it will entertain a petition to terminate the compensation agreement because on a new hearing "it was evident that the claimant had not told the truth at the former hearing" and that he had been employed in Ohio, after being hurt at greater wages than he had been receiving at the time of his injury. He was not, says the board, "suffering any disability," as measured by his earning power. The order is the first of the kind to be made under such circumstances.

Elections Under Way.—Telephone reports received at the Capitol today from commissioners sent by the state to camps and stations in Pennsylvania to take the votes of Keystone soldiers and sailors were that the men were taking considerable interest in the balloting and that there had been no difficulty in organizing boards, men being found who had experience on boards at home. The commissioners will file their returns in the Department of the Secretary of the Commonwealth as soon as possible after the polls close.

Examination Rules.—State Draft headquarters has issued notice that authority given to local boards to examine registrants before and after the ages of 19 and 36 does not modify the order that the registrants who were on September 12 between 19 and 36, both inclusive were first to be drafted for military service. The voluntary period for the calls for the navy expire to-day.

Mr. Driscoll Here.—Dennis J. Driscoll, former Democratic state chairman and the oldest member of the Democratic state committee in point of service was in Harrisburg yesterday. He seemed more interested in business and the influenza epidemic than in politics.

Capitol Closed.—The State Capitol was closed up tight to-day except for the health and police offices. Everyone went home to vote.

Almost Cleared.—The site of the old State Capitol conservatory is almost cleared from Capitol Hill. It will be made into a rose bed.

Well Known New York Physician Gives Recipe for a Home-Made Gray Hair Remedy

A. L. Payson, M. D., who has practiced medicine in New York City for many years, gave out the following recipe for a home-made gray hair remedy: "Gray, faded hair can be immediately turned black, brown or light brown, whichever shade you desire, by the following simple remedy that you can make at home."

"Merely get a small box of Orlex powder at any drug store. It costs very little and no extra to buy. Dissolve it in water and comb it through the hair. Full directions for mixing and use come in each box.

"You need not hesitate to use Orlex, as a $100.00 gold bond comes in each box, guaranteeing the user that Orlex does not contain silver, lead, zinc, sulphur, mercury, antine, coal-tar products or their derivatives.

"It does not rub off, is not sticky or greasy and leaves the hair fluffy. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."
