blood. You must remember that the skin is fed by the blood, and these disease germs find some weak point on the surface of your skin where they multiply and set up their local habitation. This takes on the form of irritation, pimples, scaly roughness, redness, sometimes sores, each of which has some medical term under the classification of skin diseases.

Edward C. Smith, 1208 Sadie Place, Scranton.

On the lips of those afflicted with skin disease is the eternal question. "How can I find relief from itching and burning and fiery irritation that keeps me in such constant torture?"

This pitiful appeal will continue to come from those who have been misled into the entirely erroneous method of using treatment that is at best only palliative and can have no curative effect because it does not reach the source of the trouble. In severe cases where a person is suffering intense pain that is unbearable, physicians find it necessary to administer an opiate to give temporary relief. They do not, however, expect to cure the pain in this way, but seek at once to locate its cause and direct their treatment at its source.

of a house, and the flames break out through the roof. Water thrown on she roof will not extinguish the fire, but the intelligent fireman will locate the source of the fire and soon put it out.

Just so with disease. The intelligent physician will tell you that the place to stop any disease is where it starts. Find the location of its origin, or its starting point, then you can apply treatment that will get results.

So-called skin diseases are improperly treated in hine cases out of ten, which is one reason why so many people think them incurable. The real source of the trouble is overlooked.
