

MOTHS AND RUST TO BE DISCUSSED

Zoologist Sanders Will Represent State at an Entomological Parliament

Conferences of representatives of the Departments of Agriculture of eastern states in regard to the white pine blister and the oriental peach moth, both of which have appeared in Pennsylvania and which have caused much damage in other states, will be held during the coming week. Some changes in regard to the quarantine orders as affecting Pennsylvania are said to be possible.

J. G. Sanders, state zoologist, will represent the state at the meetings, going to Boston for a meeting on Monday and to Washington for the discussion of the peach moth on Tuesday. The restrictions established because of the latter have caused interruption of shipments of peach and cherry trees.

Board of Pardons.—Decision whether to combine the October list of the State Board of Pardons for the November session scheduled for the twentieth will be reached in a few days. The October session was annulled because of the influenza epidemic.

Drifted Men.—White and colored men drafted for the five calls for the Navy, including men who are boat builders, coopersmiths, cooks and stewards, are to be assembled in Philadelphia on Saturday. Many of them will leave their homes tonight.

Wheat Does Well.—Wheat throughout Pennsylvania is reported to have made a fine start generally and very little Hessian fly has been discovered according to the bulletin of the State Department of Agriculture. The acreage is considerably increased. The normal requirements of Pennsylvania in wheat are given as 54,100,000 bushels of which the state must raise less than half. The department reports "livestock has gone into winter quarters in splendid shape and, there seems to be renewed interest in winter feeding, while there has been a big increase in hog raising." Warning against spread of hog cholera by dealers who do not take precautions has been issued by the State Livestock Sanitary Board whose agents have been investigating some outbreaks.

Tobacco Hit.—Aldus Herr, state farm adviser, is quoted by the State Department of Agriculture bulletin this week with charging "it is a well known fact that there has been and is at the present time a plan to cause a depreciation in the value of Lancaster county tobacco."

To Sit Monday.—The Public Service Commission will sit Monday to hear arguments in the big Western Pennsylvania gas cases.

Mr. Dohoney About.—John P. Dohoney, investigator of accidents for the Public Service Commission, is able to be about after a severe illness.

To Speak For State.—Adjutant General Beary was to-day detailed by Governor Brumbaugh to speak on behalf of the state at the celebration of the victories in Italy by the Italian residents of Easton.

Local Boys Selected For Officers' Training
State College, Pa., Nov. 7.—Another call has been made by the War Department on the Pennsylvania State College to supply officers for the Army. The "Overcoat Fair"

Opens Saturday, November 9th

4,400 Overcoats

Everybody will want to go to this much talked of Overcoat Fair, which opens Saturday, representing the largest purchase of Overcoats ever made by any single store you have ever heard of. There's going to be a lot of debating about this latest Doutrich achievement and particularly about our mammoth

4,400 Overcoats

Forty-Two Thousand Dollar Window Display

There's no exaggeration about this overcoat display. We want you to come and see our massive windows filled with stack after stack of Overcoats. Hundreds and hundreds of them in one showing. No other store has ever attempted so vast an undertaking as this and, while it seems almost unbelievable, you're going to open your eyes in amazement at this magnificent, unequalled display of Overcoats.

There's enough yardage used in the overcoats we now have to reach skyward "141 times higher" than the new "Penn-Harris," Harrisburg's tallest building. The men who will wear them, if stood side by side, would form a line nearly two miles long, so you can imagine what a lot of "Overcoats" there are to look at when you come Here. Are you still doubtful? Well—

Remember this "Live Store" is doing more business and selling more clothing than all the other clothing stores put together in Harrisburg—our output is tremendous, our purchasing power a considerable factor in operating with manufacturers in saving money for our customers—The prices we will ask you for an "Overcoat" this season will leave no doubt in your mind of the advantages you get by coming Here. This is the Store of greater values, plus the square dealing—better Service and guarantee of complete satisfaction that has been responsible for the rapid growth of this "Live Store."
