After taking part in many battles and having gone "over the top" in more than one engagement, Sergeant Frank Stewart Morrow, the 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Morrow, 1714 Boas street, paid the supreme sacrifice while in action October 6, according to word received by the Morrow family from the War Department.

Having enlisted in the Fourth United States Infantry at the outbreak of the war, Sergeant Morrow was sent first to a Texas training camp. Later he was assigned to Camp Colt, Gettysburg, and then to Camp Greene, S. C. Shortly before sailing overseas he was transferred to Newport News, it was here that he was promoted from corporal to sergeant. Before going to the service Sergeant Morrow was employed with the C. E. SPROUL WRITES TO JUDGE BONNIWELL

Appreciates His Congratulations and Says That He Would Talk to Him

The interchange of congratulations and thanks between Governor-elect William C. Sproul and Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, in connection with the election, seems to have been exceedingly cordial. Under date of November 6, Judge Bonniwell wrote: "In the judgment of a decisive majority of our citizens, I acquiesce most cheerfully because of the fact that the executive position devolves upon yourself. I am quite sure that in any event the cross-currents of the conflict no other candidate could have hoped to receive the ringing endorsement given to you. Your commanding abilities as an executive, your irresistible charm as a friend and the tolerance and breadth with which you have always met the men who differ with you in politics or in any other matters, gave to your candidacy an appeal that not even dissent from parts of your platform could to any degree impair. Therefore, I congratulate you. I trust that the victory, with the homecoming of Jack, will soften the sorrow that fell upon your household; although I regret, and surely you do, that your other son is not here to share your triumph. The people of Pennsylvania are entitled to the greater amount of congratulation. The impending end of the war creates at once a multitude of gigantic problems that you, selected by the people of the state without regard to faction or association, can deal with in your own broad, resolute manner, and restore to the State of Pennsylvania the luster that the old Keystone State so justly deserves."

Addressing his late opponent as "my dear Judge," Senator Sproul replied as follows: "The fine letter of congratulations which I have received from you has greatly pleased me. I know that it reflects upon me, and I appreciate it thoroughly. All through the campaign you have been courteous, fair and generous to me, and I believe my own attitude toward you has been the same. I feel that we have conducted a campaign that has been entirely free from personal attacks or party rancor. It has been clean and decent in every way. This is surely a satisfaction to both of us and we have come through it with our long-time friendship unimpaired and our cordial personal relations really strengthened. "You and I have similar interests in many things of a public character, our views and purposes coincide in many important lines, and co-operation in dealing with these matters I am more than happy to know that I have your complete goodwill and am proud to feel that I may command your earnest service. "With hearty regards and thorough appreciation, I am "Very sincerely, "WM. C. SPROUL."

Another Cent Added to the Retail Price of Milk

Following the announcement yesterday that the price of certified milk in this city will be raised from sixteen to twenty-four cents after November 10, comes a similar notification that ordinary milk will advance one cent in price next week on both quarts and pints. Thirteen cents instead of six for pints are the new prices fixed. The reason assigned for the raise in retail cost lies in the increased price for milk products asked for by wholesalers, who, in turn, blame their move on the general aviation of prices and scarcity of food. The Harrisburg Milk Commission has approved the new rates, as has the Harrisburg Academy of Medicine that of the certified products.

BUCKWHEAT BAN LISTED The ban on buckwheat and bituminous coal has been lifted, and the Central Coal Exchange has issued circular letters to the dealers of the city.

Witman, druggist, of Middletown, recommended Tonnall to me, and after using one bottle I felt the wonderful benefit I got from taking it. "I recommend Tonnall to everybody now and know it is bound to do a wonderful amount of good to suffering humanity."

This testimony was given August 5, 1918. Tonnall is sold at Gorgas' Drug Store, Harrisburg, and at the Hershey Department Store, Hershey, Pa.

We Are Very Grateful to the People of Harrisburg:

YOU made it possible for the telephone service to weather the influenza crisis. We realize the personal discomfort and sacrifice that many telephone users accepted that this service might be saved for the sick and the Government. The nature and fulness of the response evidenced a most impressive public sympathy and spirit of helpfulness.

Conditions in our central office now show improvement. We look for an early restoration of normal conditions through a gradual return to duty of those of our employees who have been afflicted.

Your telephone service is the result of the efforts of a large body of men and women. Through your considerate treatment they were enabled to give their service where the need was greatest. It is these men and women who are grateful to you.
