PEACE CELEBRATION LASTS FOR HOURS

Festivities Continue Into the Small Hours of Morning, Until Fatigue Overtakes Men, Women and Children Who Had Begun Jamboree Nearly 24 Hours Before

STREETS ARE COVERED WITH BITS OF PAPER

Harrisburg's celebration of the signing of the armistice came to an end at a wee small hour this morning, and then only when the last tired celebrator, weary but happy, tumbled into bed worn out with the justification of the most strenuous day in the history of the city.

Everybody celebrated. It was not an occasion when thousands turned out to watch a parade by others. Every man woman and child in the city who was physically fit, was on the streets, surging back and forth in the happy throng, which contented itself with shouting up and down the city's thoroughfares, rather than standing on the curbs watching an organized street parade.

From every quarter of the city until late last night, the populace streamed into the business section. At 9 o'clock the crowd reached its culmination, when the sidewalks and streets were tightly packed, slowly moving streams of solid humanity.

Organizations in Line Some of the organized parades included the Boy Scouts, who were led by their own drum corps, the railroad band, the colored parade, led by the Pennsylvania band, and the Italian parade, accompanied by the Royal Italian band.

Until early this morning, trucks, autos and motorcycles raced up and down the streets with tin cans, wash basins and bottles clattering on the pavement. Exhausts were opened, horns were sounded, and all joined in the indescribable din.

As the evening passed, some one thought of rolling up one of the numerous extras, and slapping passing pedestrians on the head with it. This sort of fun appealed to the more lively, and in a few minutes no lead or hat was safe from the hundred crowd occasionally picked upon some unfortunate who was unwise enough to turn on his tormentors, the sound of slapping papers very much resembled the rat-tat of machine guns.

Business at Standstill Until late last evening the confetti, many-colored streamers thrown from windows, motor cars, and store entrances, and torn newspapers,

LONG LIVE IMMORTAL FRANCE! THE DAY OF GLORY HAS COME!

Paris, Nov. 12.—The Municipal Council of Paris has had the following posted on walls in all parts of the city: "Citizens! Victory is here—triumphant victory. The vanquished enemy lays down his arms. Blood ceases to flow. Let Paris emerge from her ordered reserve. Let us give free course to our joy and enthusiasm and hold back our tears. Let us testify to our infinite gratitude to our grand soldiers and their incomparable chiefs by festooning our houses in the colors of France and our Allies. Our dead can sleep in peace. The sublime sacrifice they have made for the future of their race and the salvation of their country will not be in vain. "The day of glory has come. Long live the republic! Long live immortal France!"

The 112th Regiment in History

The relatives and friends of the members of the One Hundred Twelfth Infantry Regiment, who have been doing such wonderful work on the western front, will be pleased to learn that the Telegraph has been able to secure from the publishers a limited number of the photographic history of this regiment. These books were published with the permission of the War Department and contain a history of the regiment up to the time of its formation, and also a history of the various National Guard regiments of which it was formed.

It contains individual portraits of the enlisted men as well as photographs of the colonel, major and all other commissioned officers. Many of these books have been sold in Pennsylvania, and the Telegraph was fortunate in being able to secure copies of this fine history to offer to its readers. The price of the book is $2.50 per copy and will be mailed to any address for $2.60.

Call at the business office of the Telegraph and examine the book and we believe you will desire a copy.

FREE ON FILE On Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock an alarm of fire called out the Citizens Hose Company. A large tree along the Yellow Breeches creek was burning fiercely. The home of Robert Rose and Mr. Margraf nearby were in danger, but the quick work of the firemen who extinguished the blaze, saved the properties. The fire was caused by sparks from a bonfire.

GOLD STAR FOR SOLDIERS New Cumberland, Pa., Nov. 12.—A gold star was placed below the photograph of Guy Fulton, which is in a large frame with the other soldiers who have gone from the Methodist Sunday school in the vestibule of the church. Mr. Fulton died with pneumonia in Bordeaux, France.

Captain S. W. Fleming Promoted to Major

MAJOR S. W. FLEMING

Captain Samuel W. Fleming, of this city, with the Seventy-ninth or Camp Meade Division, and who was adjutant of his regiment when it left these shores for Europe, has been promoted to the rank of major, which distinction has been heard with much gratification by his friends.

Captain Richard Robinson, of the same division, has written to his home folks of a pleasant meeting with Lieutenant Albert H. Stackpole in the Argonne section.

Archibald McAllister, of Peffer street, who has been overseas for some months, and whose family have not heard from him for several weeks, has been cited for bravery. This information having come in a letter which the family received yesterday.

ALLIES TO FEED HUN PEOPLES IN HOUR OF STRESS

Clemenceau Says Everything Will Be Done to Serve Them in Need

Paris, Nov. 12.—The new German government, it appears, considers the armistice conditions at a sitting late on Sunday as Berlin. Having decided to accept them, it telephoned instructions from Berlin to Spa, German headquarters, authorizing the delegates to affix their signatures to the agreement.

The courier at Spa left immediately for the lines and crossed them without incident north of Chimay. He reached the Chateau de Francfort about 2 o'clock in the morning and found the German plenipotentiaries waiting for him. They asked after they had read their instructions, to see Marshal Foch, who was in his special train on a switch near the chateau. Marshal Foch, with Admiral Sir Rosslyn Wemyss, first lord of the British navy, received them. A discussion which is described by the Temps correspondent as being "rather long," took place upon certain clauses, particularly that concerning the maintenance of the blockade. The German delegates signed the document at 5 o'clock.

Blockade to Be Maintained Premier Clemenceau, in receiving correspondents to-day, said on the question of the blockade: "The German plenipotentiaries insisted, above all, upon the question of food. We will maintain, it is well understood, the blockade during the term of the armistice. Nevertheless, as the situation in Germany and Austria is desperate, we will do everything possible to feed them that we can in fairness to ourselves. It is the question of transport which dominates all these problems."

NEW MILL STARTS Marietta, Pa., Nov. 12.—Yesterday morning the new Marietta Silk Mill began operations in West Marietta. The corporation is capitalized at $50,000, and the promoters are: John Orth, treasurer; Fred W. Schaub, superintendent; John Shilow, vice-president; John Peck, secretary. The mill is equipped with the latest tarfeta looms, and will work on government orders.

National War Aid to Plan for celebration

A meeting of the executive committee of the National War Aid to be held at the home of Mrs. William Jennings, 7 South Front street, at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning, plans for a fitting celebration of the great victories of American and Allied armies will be made. No tentative plans for the meeting could be announced by the officers of the organization to-day but it is probable that a prominent speaker will be secured. The significance of the celebration is better understood when it is known that the National War Aid is an organization composed of mothers and sweethearts of the soldiers.

Catarrah Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrah Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrah Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces.
