AERO SQUADRON GIVES BIG DANCE

Soldiers From Middletown Hosts at Victory Celebration and Farewell Dance

A dance was given last night by the 503rd Aero Squadron of Middletown, of which Lieutenant H. C. Meyers is commanding officer. Winterdale Hall was the scene of the victory celebration. Allied flags were used as decorations and chrysanthemums added a floral touch. Sourbeer's Orchestra played for the dances.

One hundred and fifty members of the squadron in full military attire entertained Sergeant James Trimble, of Flint, Michigan, chairman of the entertainment committee, was assisted by Sergeant Hugh Logue, of Pittsburgh. Sergeant-Major Henry Maurer, of Detroit, and Commandant Cheston, recently assigned to the field, and Mrs. Cheston, Adjutant Carl J. Westerlund and Mrs. Westerlund received the guests who came from Harrisburg, Middletown and Steelton.

The dance program was relieved by an informal entertainment and musical numbers furnished by Sergeant Lobdel, a cornet soloist; Private Percy Weller, baritone, and the "glass eater" and "strong man," also members of the squadron. The women were presented with corsage bouquets and novelty favors. Refreshments were served to four hundred guests.

The patriotic soiree was also in the nature of a farewell, as the squadron will be assigned to other camps or perhaps sent overseas, after being stationed at Middletown for some time.

BOARD MEETING IN NEW ROOMS

Records of Visiting Nurses' Association For Past Month Show Great Work Done

The board of directors of the Visiting Nurses' Association held a meeting yesterday in their new rooms, 210 and 211 Arcade building. The reports for the month of October show that the people of Harrisburg were, as usual, generous in their donations of money and gave freely of time and energy to alleviate the sufferings of the victims during the epidemic. Three hundred and eighty visits are recorded for the association and 616 visits donated by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, totaling 886 visits for the month.

Automobile service was supplied day and night for four weeks by the Red Cross to supply broths, gelatin, custards, puddings, oranges and money for eggs for the many needy families (which the nurses had under their care) when there was no time to prepare food for the sick and help in kitchen work could not be obtained. Mrs. Herman's calls for food donations were promptly and freely answered.

In cases where families were unable to buy even necessities, eggs, oranges, castor oil, olive oil and money contributions were donated by one of the members.

Oranges and eggs were given by the Junior Aid Society and the Sunshine Society to families where they were needed.

The members of the boards of the Visiting Nurses' Association solicited meats and made broths and supplied twelve families with pudding and gelatin for two weeks through efforts of this association during such a crisis as that through which the city just passed.

The Girls Aid Society to the Visiting Nurses' Association also met yesterday afternoon at the headquarters. Plans for the winter's work were discussed. Supplies needed by the nurses in their calls are made by the members of this aid.
