

24 ALIENS ARE MADE CITIZENS BY LOCAL COURT

Testimony of Saloon Companion Not Accepted by the Examiner

Meeting all the requirements to become naturalized citizens of the United States twenty-four foreign-born residents of the city and county were admitted to citizenship at a session of naturalization court held by Judge S. J. McCarroll, with J. M. Gurnett, of Philadelphia, as examining witness.

While many more applications for naturalization were heard, a number were continued for various reasons, some of the men not having satisfactory witnesses, others not complying with requirements of proof of residence.

Five applications were dismissed. One of these was made by Enea Testi, formerly of Cherry street, this city. Mr. Gurnett explained to Judge McCarroll that Testi had been divorced from his wife who alleged cruel and barbarous treatment.

Another applicant had one witness who had known him for six years. The second witness he said met in a barroom and knew him for five and one-half years.
