Definite Action Needed if the City Is to Make Progress, Club Hears

Better housing conditions and immediate purchase of semaphores for traffic officers were given the hearty endorsement of the Kiwanis Club at a rousing noon-day luncheon to-day in the assembly room of the Central Y. M. C. A. building. Following brief

TOO TUBERD "If we have a bigger and better Harrisburg we must have better housing conditions," was the trend of a talk by Dr. Harry B. Walter. He urged that a tract of land be prepared for building and that Harrisburg get ready for the big boom that is sure to come. "We've got to have places for the men and women and children to live and sleep," he stated. "We want definite action; something more than simple talk. These housing conditions at present are a drawback to better Harris-something more than simple talk. These housing conditions at present are a drawback to better Harrisburg." J. H. Lutz, Jr., brought up the question of semaphores which had been taken up by the club several months ago. At that time a committee interviewed city officials who asked that the matter be deferred for a year. Mr. Lutz mentioned the corner at Fourth and Chestnut streets and stated it is one of the most dangerous spots in the town. He was backed up by William C. Alexander, salesmanager of the Moorhead Knitting Company, who asked for immediate action on the matter. The committee will again make an attempt to have the semaphores purchased. The matter was also slated for a coming meeting of the board Annual Cap Sale, 85c

The first address of the meeting was an inspiring one by Rabbi Louis J. Haas, of Ohev Sholom Temple, in which he gave high praise to the interdenominational work being done by the co-operating religious war work organizations. He cited his own case as an instance, saying that as representative of the Jewish Welfare Board at Gettysburg he was given every assistance and support by the workers of the Knights of Columbus, Y. M. C. A. and allied organizations.

Speaking particularly of the boys from his own faith, he said "Our Boys went over the top, not as Jews but theme of religious unity he said: "The Jew, the Gentile, the Protestant and the Catholic are all fighting united in one grand principle. Perhaps you don't spend enough time in the presence of women. If you make it a point of talking to girls and women every day on really interesting subjects your excessive self-consciousness will surely disappear after a time, and your calls upon young women are too widely separated, and that you don't take conversation with women as a matter of course, which you must learn to do. I'm sorry for your embarrassment.

THE CABARET HABIT

Dear Miss Fairfax:
 I am eighteen and have been out with a young man four times. Each time he has taken me to a different cabaret. Both he and I have light dirinks. He acts to me as a perfect gentleman. Now, my cousin remarked that respectable persons do not go to cabarets often. Do you think I ought to refuse him when he invites me to go once more?

I think you are too young to go habitually to cabarets, especially unchaperoned. The next time the young man invites you, suggest that you would prefer to go to a quieter place, or to receive him at your home.

family or to judge his mother.

LOVE OR A CAREER?
DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I have been engaged to a young man five years my senior for the past year. Ho is in the U. S. Navy, and our plans were to get married on his return home in December. I am a violinist, have played in several concerts, and am now playing in an orchestra in a theater with my sisters, also muscians. They have all told me I am a great player, and I want to go on a concert tour.

When I wrote my fiance about this plan, he said he was very sorry, for it would break into our earlier plans: that I might meet some one whom I cared much more for and that anyway he did not care to wait so long to be married. But if that was my choice, I could depend on him as a dear friend.

But if he would let me go on my artistic career, earn lots of money and become famous, I would consent to marry him in a year or two. Or I would give up the concert tour and stick to our earlier plans. But must I, after his letter, acknowledge our engagement broken?

SHALL SHE MARRY HIM?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For two years I have been engaged to a young man one year younger than I, in whose home town I have been working. For my vacation I went to my own home for three months. On my return he told me he had taken another girl to a mary old the word to be a way of your marige? I should think, owever, that you might reconcile the two careers, as so many other women sailor when he comes back, and suggest marrying him first, and keeping up your violin work afterwards. A really enlightened husband doesn't demand of his wife that she smother her talents as a proof of love for him.

New York motorist, recently made an automobile trip across the continent from New York to Los.

2d, a New York motorist, recently made an automobile trip across the continent from New York to Los Angeles on which he established a tire record which will make all to ther motorists turn green with envy. He ran the entire distance of 3,175 miles from ocean to ocean without a single puncture or without changing a tire or tube and he wired back upon his arrival that the tires looked good enough for the return trip. He made the distance in sixteen running days and used a Cadilac car equipped with Norwalk cord tires and Norwalk inner tubes. To the poor unfortunate automobilist who has started out Sunday morning for a 100-mile trip and had five punctures and two blowouts it will certainly seem that this man was born under a lucky star. This tire record has probably never been anywhere near approached.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Last week I met a young lady and was introduced to her as a temperance man, which is not so. I take a drink now and then, but do not go to extremes. What course would you advise me to take, for I like the young lady very much?
