

WEST END REFUSES TO GIVE TARSUS CITY TITLE; TECH READY FOR QUAKER CITY SATURDAY

Work All Day and Box All Night Is Sammy Schiff's Activity

Sammy Schiff, Harrisburg's premier boxer, scrapped four rounds with Tim Droney, at Lancaster, for the benefit of the United War Work Fund, without a decision. A house filled to the roof witnessed the fray and Sammy's left-handed cleverness was applauded wildly again and again. This local athlete is greatly to be commended for his persistence and ambition. He works every day, here, in an industry; has little time to train, and yet, unlike the Fultons and Willards, he freely gives his services to the big cause, and furthermore takes on every foe who challenges.

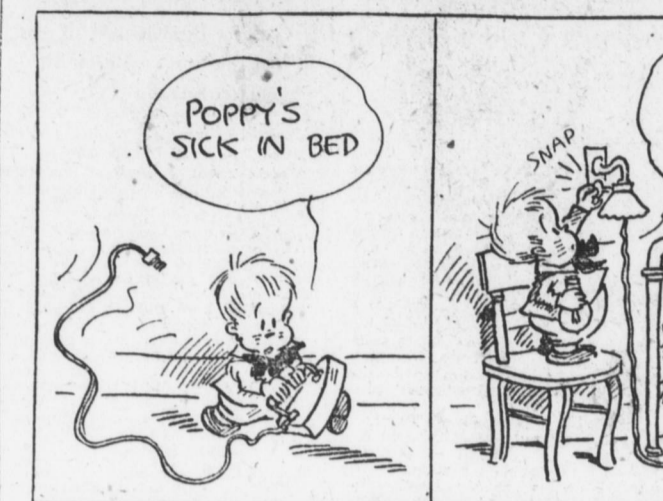

SAMMY SCHIFF

Schiff is a fighter who handles himself something like Joe Choyinsky, excepting that he is a south-paw and his left thrusts are very perplexing to encounter. He always wades in and his performance is spectacular, while his game is noticeable. He will be seen here again, probably, on November 26 when the Motive Power A. A. expects to hold another exhibition at its arena, and Frankie Clark is to be his opponent. The two met recently in Philadelphia and put up a lively bout.

"I'd rather box-fight than eat," observed Mr. Schiff, on returning from Lancaster. "I believe that every able-bodied chap, even though he has to work all day, should take some sport and to take it I have been ambitious to be a good boxer ever since kid days and while I am no champion yet, I'll keep on until I am."

FINEST ATHLETES IN THE WORLD; NOW IN TRENCHES

By Walter St. Denis
At the outbreak of the great war more than fifty months ago one athletic expert predicted that few, if any, of the sportsmen who took part in the great struggle would be seen in competition again. "Life in the trenches will incapacitate them for any sport, even though they come through unscathed in the matter of bullet wounds," said he. Trench fever, rheumatism and other ailments were expected to work the most terrible results with the men who were called to the colors of their various countries.

Just how entirely wrong expert opinion can be is proved by the fact that to-day, after four long and wearisome years of bitter struggle, the finest athletes in the world are in the trenches, and some of these have been in the war from its very start. The sprinter who is beating them all in France is a French soldier who has been at it ever since that fateful August day in 1914. Not only has Georges Andre, France's all-around athlete, been a fighter for four years, but three of these he has spent in a German prison camp on the wrong side of the Rhine, living on the miserable food that the Hun gave the unlucky wretches that fall into their hands. Just take, for instance, the case of James H. Ducean, the world's record-holder at throwing the discus. Ducean has been in the "French trenches" with the Eleventh Engineers of the United States Army. He went into the Army a 100 per cent. perfect man, and after some four months of battling with rats, Huns and cooties that infest the trenches, he emerged last August to go to Paris and smash another world's record. That's what trench fever did to Ducean. "Thousands of young athletes who have gone to war, and have been fortunate enough to sidestep the Kaiser's bullets, have been crippled tremendously in their physical setup. It is a common thing for a recruit to pick up twenty pounds of hard flesh in his first three months

RIVERSIDE IN NEED OF FUNDS

Tech Is Ready to Treat Quaker City Boys Rough

With the exception of "Tony" Wilsbach, who is out of the game temporarily with a bruised right shoulder, the Technical High school football squad is in trim condition for the contest over on the island with Williamson Trade School of Philadelphia. Yet it will not be surprising to see "Tony" take his position at left end at the start of the contest, as it is not often that this player sees a cneast from the side lines. He is the most important cog in the Tech machine on the defense. Should Wilsbach not be able to be played, or rather nursed along for the Thanksgiving contest, his place will be taken by "Birdie" Hinkie Garret, also available. All the other veterans will be in their places when

LEHIGH PLAYERS ARE VERY SPRY

College Boy Breaks National Record in Run of 102 Yards

The star play in the Gettysburg-Bucknell game here recently was a 95-yard run by Lewis, of Bucknell, who got a kickoff from Braem and ran nearly the length of the field, which is 100 yards, and made goal. The fans were electrified and many wise guys figured that this must be a record feat. But it was feeble compared to the stunt of Loudy Welborn, of Butler College, not yet 18 years old, who has the reputation of making the longest run for a touchdown on an intercepted forward pass in the history of American collegiate football.

Gridiron Boys Nimble; Ready For Any Foe, They Say

"With the exception of Capt. Wysocki, the players will emerge from the Penn State fray in good condition. Harry Saxman, who was relieved in the closing minutes, suffered greatly with his arm as a result of the accination. Much of this soreness is disappearing and it is not believed will affect him any in the practice. Joe Spagna was nudged up some at tackle and although a bit sore, should be at his best, barring accidents in practice during the week. The injuries sustained by Salmer and Calvert, guards, in a collision last Friday night, are healing nicely and it is believed will not give them any further trouble to check the "big game," says Fred S. Tomlinson, who played right end at the Nomenclator in the Bethlehem Globe, speaking of the Lehigh Gridiron fighters.

McTeague, coach. Big preparations are being made for the game, which will end the season there.

West End Calls Tarsus to Play Out City Championship

The West End team will play Marysville next Saturday at Fourth and Seneca streets, game starting at 3 o'clock. All players are asked to be on hand this afternoon for practice.

West End is by no means satisfied to let Tarsus claim the city championship. In a communication from the manager of the team demands a return fray on November 29. Says he: "The championship hasn't been won or won't be decided until Tarsus has defeated West End and the best out of a series of three games, which the management of both teams agreed to play when the arrangements were made for these teams to meet. An article stating that the West End team outwished the Tarsus team twenty pounds to the man is untrue. The West End team's average is 150 pounds, the same average as the Tarsus team. Also wish to state that the Tarsus management should be sportsman enough to publish the right names of the laces who did the fighting."

Glenn Warner Preparing For the Sting of the Yellow Jackets

All hands admit that Glenn Warner has the job of his life ahead in beating the "Yellow Jackets" of Georgia next Saturday. Yesterday all the well-known plays of Johnny Holzman's Georgia Tech were explained, as well as a few pointers noted on the jump shift, as given to Warner by a close friend, who has seen it played. The Blue and Gold players are fast getting into the winning mood again, the lack of which has been feared by the coach and trainers.
