MRS ROBBINS TELLS OF RED CROSS WORK

Gives Interesting Report of Steelton Chapter's Year's Work

The report of the chairman of the Steelton chapter of the Red Cross, given by Mrs. Frank Robbins Jr., at the annual meeting of the chapter last Wednesday evening, proved so interesting and told so well the activities of the local chapter in the past year that it has been requested to have the report published in full.

Ladies and gentlemen: The last annual report of the chairman of the Steelton chapter outlined the organization of the chapter and its first growth in strength and usefulness. The past year has been one of continued steady development in resources, in field of activity, in work accomplished and finally in the high place which the national organization which we represent in Steelton holds in the hearts of the community.

"To the one auxiliary which we had at Highspire a year ago, has now been added auxiliaries at Cumber's Heights, Oberlin, Bressler and Enhaut. By means of the Christmas membership campaign the number of our members has increased from approximately 4,000 to considerably more than that number. In May a most enthusiastically supported War Fund campaign brought in more than double our quota of $3,000. One-quarter is retained for the use of the Steelton chapter. By the sale of score cards, ice cream, etc., at the baseball games this summer, a fund has been established to provide heat in our chapter house through the coming winter, and the proceeds of the two games played for the benefit of the Red Cross have made it possible, without encroaching on other funds, to continue to give a kit to each draftee accepted for service from Steelton. A melting pot for tinfol, gold, silver, etc., and the sale of a collection of rubber and which cast-off articles have also helped to swell our resources.

The influenza epidemic made it necessary to close the chapter house for more than three weeks in October, but this period has not been one of inactivity, as the Steelton chapter has assumed the major portion of the operating expenses of the Emergency Hospital established here by the state, and the workers of the chapter have provided all the pneumonia jackets, masks and miscellaneous needs in the relation to helping in the hospital work and relieving the suffering in the community.

A National War Relief Society has been organized with Mrs. Charles A. Alden as chairman, to give the relatives of men in the service an opportunity of meeting together informally. These meetings have been well attended and considerable work has been accomplished for the chapter.

By the removal of Mrs. Bent to Bethlehem last January, the Steelton chapter suffered a loss which only those who worked closely with her day by day can truly estimate. Her inspiration, her never-failing energy, and her wise direction are constantly missed, but those of us who still remain are endeavoring to carry on successfully on so permanent a basis.

The brief figures and statements that I have given you indicate something of the work that we have accomplished. I believe that a few towns have a spirit of co-operation equal to that of Steelton, and I feel that we cannot ever sufficiently express our gratitude to the many persons who have worked so faithfully and generously here. Even though hostilities are virtually ended, there is much for us to do, although possibly in somewhat different lines than most of our past work. There will be great suffering in the world for months to come, and until that can be materially lessened I shall feel that the call for our services is just as urgent as it has ever been. We are passing through one of the great climates of the world's history; it is a privilege to be living at such a time and with such a privilege there is the duty of service. We need not only money but workers in our works, helpers in our home service work and co-operation in a thousand and one different ways. If each one will give such service as lies within his or her power, the Steelton chapter of the American Red Cross may well feel proud of its further accomplishments among the people at large and helped will know the lasting joy of quiet, painstaking, self-sacrificing service.

Respectfully submitted, LIDA M. ROBBINS, Chairman.
