

SPROUL'S BOARD ASKS WAR DATA

State War History Commission Has Plan For Assembling Information

The fact that the work of assembling data relative to the participation of Pennsylvanians in the great war, which Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh desires to be selected by the State Council of Safety and Defense to handle, is already in progress under auspices of a branch of the State Council of National Defense was borne home to Capitol Hill to-day by circulars received from the War History Commission of Pennsylvania, headed by Governor-elect William C. Sproul.

Governor Brumbaugh is chairman of the Defense Commission and his friends say that he has assurance of enough votes to elect him and to fix the salary.

The letters reaching this city to-day made definite requests for information, evidencing that the work had been well organized. The letter head bears the name of the State Council of National Defense and gives the headquarters as the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, where a room and where Albert L. McKinley, the secretary, has his office.

The letters give the details of the organization effected last summer to assemble the war data. There are committees on military and naval records, local, constitutional and political, economic, social and financial, and educational and religious records. The circular states that the work is to obtain accurate records of all Pennsylvanians in military or naval service either of the United States or its allies and a record of the commercial, industrial and civic activities of all persons in connection with the war.

The personnel of the War History Commission, William C. Sproul, chairman; Professor Herman V. Ames, Philadelphia; J. H. St. John, Philadelphia; Dr. George P. Donehue, Coudersport; Major General Bowman Dougherty, Lewisburg; John Bach McMaster, Philadelphia; Dr. Albert E. McKinley, secretary, Harrisburg; Arthur F. H. Winters, Harrisburg; Professor John Thomas Lynch Montgomery, Harrisburg; Colonel H. M. M. Richards, Lebanon; Judge William H. Staake, Philadelphia; Christopher Wren, Wilkes-Barre.

HOURS FOR SERVICE

Chambersburg, Pa., Nov. 23.—To avoid confusion of hours and dates, the Ministerial Association of Chambersburg, has decided to standardize the hours of service of all Protestant churches in the borough. Lack of co-operation in arranging the schedules caused much confusion, the association members say. The new schedule will be announced shortly. It will go into effect immediately when ministers will exchange pulpits.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RIVERSIDE TORNADO VICTIMS PUZZLED

The residents of Riverside who are being helped by the relief committee are doing some deep thinking at present. An appeal has been made to the public for liberal contributions in cash by the relief committee appointed by the Mayor to help these people meet their losses. Quite a sum has been raised and the fund is still growing. Now the relief committee has formed a plan which "by the way" is known only to the storm victims and the committee. That they (the committee) will allow the victims six cents out of every dollar in any form of aid given by the public and others who name which is usually less than half the loss. In other words the committee will loan the victim enough of the money donated or given by the public and others to pay half of his repair bills, without interest for four years, which means finally the victims will get six cents out of the committee's ninety-four, which they claim they will turn over to the Associated Charities. The following questions should be answered by the Mayor or the committee, as these are what is puzzling Riverside:

- 1. Is it a discredit to borrow funds?
- 2. Why should it be a secret because the plan is all wool?
- 3. Are the subscribers advised of the plan when asked to help Riverside?
- 4. Why should the Riverside residents be advertised as objects of pity and charity to procure funds for some other charitable institution?
- 5. Is it not obtaining money under false pretense?
- 6. What would the Mayor do with a cripple on crutches or an old man with a cane pulling the same stunt?

"THE CAPTAIN AND THE KIDS" IS COMING TO THE ORPHEUM WEDNESDAY

"The Million Dollar Doll" Presented at Orpheum Two Days

With some good comedy lines and a character in the play who was always on hand with poetry of the "homemade" variety, "The Million Dollar Doll," a musical comedy presented for two days at the Orpheum theater, was enjoyed by the audience last night.

Dolly Winters, an heiress—the story goes—is urged to compete for a doll prize but at first refuses. Later a change in fortune compels her to accept and she wins the prize. The marital experiences of the Meekman's friends of Dolly and her guardian, Colonel Barrington, cause much of the laughter in the production, together with the usual colored comedian character.

The Rev. Herbert A. Sawyer, of the Methodist church, announces that the second of his series of illustrated lectures will be given tomorrow evening in the church at 7:30. The subject will be "The Challenge of Africa."

"The Million Dollar Doll" which will be the offering at the Orpheum to-night, has two of the Dollar Dolls—the great comedy characters, introduced on the stage to-day, Melvin Meekman, a "neeped" husband, and Jasper Jackson, a color-savvy, pot-peeler, at home to look after the household when the others depart for the San Francisco Exposition. The "Doll" and Jasper are not to be outdone, so they disguise themselves and ship on the same color-savvy boat. One can hardly imagine how much trouble they will encounter in their voyage and after they arrive at the exposition they have a hard time getting even one dollar. The "Doll" about to give up in despair, when Melvin draws the grand prize in the argument lottery and becomes immensely rich.

Our own boys from Camp Dix are coming to the Orpheum Theater on Tuesday, and will present a musical comedy titled "You'll Like It" and they have happily christened "You'll Like It" and they have happily christened "You'll Like It." It has been written by the boys themselves, and they have produced it themselves, under the direction of Camp Dramatic Director Norman Hackett. The cast is made up of soldiers who were formerly in the army before joining the Army. Private William Sully, the premier American dancer, will be the star. The distance, known as the "Chorus" of the army; Malinoff, the Russian dancer, will be the star, and he did it with Pavlova and Nijinsky; Cornell, the accordion virtuoso, will thrill you with his playing. Corporal Castner will grow for you; forty others will do their best for you.

There will be tuncful camp songs and camp jokes that seem really funny until you go through, too. It is when you are going through those first days that they call it "You'll Like It." You do, after awhile. The profits of the show being made by this show, under the approval of Major General Scott, will all go to the Soldiers Entertainers of Camp Dix, to cheer the boys up this winter, so when they boys come, give them a bar they will appreciate you your best, and they give that you, too, will like it.

ADD AMUSEMENTS An exceptionally fine attraction, and one that differs from the usual run of the theaters in that it is a "one and all" attraction. The attraction announced as the "Orpheum" featuring at the Orpheum matinee and night, Gus Hill is sponsor for it, and this fact should be an assurance that the performance will be all that truthful preliminary publicity can give it. The name of the production is "The Captain and the Kids" and is based on the famous and hilarious cartoon of R. Dirks. These mirth-ful and humorous stories need little introduction to local devotees of fun, having appeared in all of the important papers of the country. That their popularity will be enhanced through a play said to be replete with all the amusing qualities of the cartoon and additional laughable, unique and screamingly enjoyable situations, goes without saying. A large company has been engaged. New costumes, songs, ensembles, dances, novelties, surprises and a pre-
