

LETTERS FROM THE FRONT HERE BY HUNDREDS

Parents Anxiously Awaiting Word From Boys in France

CASUALTY LIST IS LARGE Many Harrisburg and Dauphin County Boys Reported Wounded

Hundreds of letters from Harrisburg soldiers have been received within the past two or three days indicating that a ship bearing hundreds of bags of mail arrived recently from France.

Because of the ending of hostilities, parents and other relatives now are on the anxious seat waiting to learn whether or not anything had happened in the closing days of the war.

There is a general belief that the next mails may get to America a little quicker because of the war's end, and letters from the fighting men written after the fighting ceased are expected to arrive here early next month.

Advices from the War Department today give the city and county one of the heaviest casualty lists since the war began.

Friends Are Wounded Word was received here today that Robert S. Cowan, 2148 Green street, and Russell Schaeffer, 88 North Twelfth street, formerly with the Governor's Troop but later transferred to Battery F, One Hundred Eighty Field Artillery, at Camp Hancock, were wounded while in action in Belgium, October 31.

Both have been removed to a Canadian base hospital in France. The men were wounded when a shell exploded near them.

Sergeant Thomas M. Collins, Company I, One Hundred Twelfth Infantry, has been wounded in action and is now convalescing in Base Hospital No. 114. In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Collins, 602 Race street, he states that he was wounded October 22 in the right leg between the knee and the ankle, but at the time of writing the letter, under date of November 5, he said the wound was healing nicely and he is able to get around with the aid of crutches.

Enlisted with the old Eighth Infantry and sailed for France early last May, and with his company has spent most of this time in the front-line trenches.

Promoted on Birthday Corporal William Robert Rudy has been wounded in the forearm and leg by a shell fragment. Coincidentally with his promotion to private to corporal on his birthday, he was transferred from Company K, One Hundred Twelfth Infantry, to Company F, One Hundred Tenth Infantry. He was a former stage hand at the Orpheum Theater. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rudy, 119 Vine street.

Private Row E. Wiley, brother of Miss Goldie Wiley, 128 Vine street, has been wounded, according to advices received by his sister and his wife, who lives at 1849 Swatara street. He was a member of the Headquarters Company, One Hundred Twelfth Infantry.

Ernest de Frank, formerly living near Limestone, was killed, according to the casualty list, official notification of this fact reached Harrisburg last week.

Wounded and Gassed Private George S. Alwine has died in France from gunshot wounds, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Alwine, of Jonestown Road. His name is listed this morning.

Roy W. McCarthy is mentioned in today's list as slightly wounded. The nearest of kin is given as Mrs. Maggie Fay Kissington, 2137 North Fourth street. No one of this name is recorded in the directory.

Hit by Shell Warren P. Gotwalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Gotwalt, 301 Munch street, has been wounded for the second time, according to advices received. He was gassed on a previous occasion. Henry M. Cocklin, formerly rooming in the same front street, has been gassed, the statement advises.

Senate Democrats Fix Four Billion Dollars as Taxes for 1920

Washington, Nov. 26.—By a partisan vote, the Senate Finance Committee yesterday declared in favor of the amendment urged by Mr. McAdoo, to provide for a $4,000,000,000 tax yield for 1920, as a part of the war revenue measure now before the committee. The ten Democratic members all voted in favor and the seven Republicans voted against putting the $4,000,000,000 tax amendment in the bill as favored by the Democrats, the yield for 1919 would be $6,000,000,000, while the appropriation for 1920 would be fixed at $4,000,000,000, although not worked out as to detail. The Democrats propose that the definite tax items for 1920 be made up at the regular session of Congress a year from now.

BURGLAR ADMITS HE SLEW WOMAN; ACQUITS A GIRL

James Regan, Sing Sing Convict, Confesses Murder of Mrs. Helen Hamel

New York, Nov. 26.—James Regan, a Sing Sing convict, confessed today that it was he who killed Mrs. Helen Hamel in her boardinghouse here last February, exonerating Miss Elizabeth Baksa, 19 years of age, of Freemansburg, Pa., now on trial charged with the murder.

With a record of six criminal convictions, Regan was yesterday brought into the court room where Miss Baksa was on trial for her life, answering his desire to clear her of the charge of murdering Mrs. Helen Hamel, a New York lodginghouse keeper, last February.

Regan demurred, however, at the "verdict" which District Attorney Swann offered to accept, his testimony, which he hinted might involve himself, Mr. Swann and Judge Rosalsky, presiding at the trial, then declared to turn him over to attorneys for Miss Baksa so that they might attempt to persuade him to tell what he knows about the murder, regardless of the personal consequences.

Judge Rosalsky, questioning him for several hours, said he refused to give any testimony in the case unless he were assured immunity from prosecution. Mr. Swann said a suggestion that Regan might be permitted to plead guilty to manslaughter in exchange for his testimony, "didn't seem to appeal to him."

Mr. Swann declared he could not consent to Regan's demand for immunity, though he was anxious to have him testify.

Regan was brought from Sing Sing as the result of a letter he wrote Judge Rosalsky last Friday in which he declared he knew the murderer of Mrs. Hamel and that he was prepared to give testimony in court which would free her, he now is serving a sentence for burglary imposed on May 15.

Regan declared he had intended at least to kill Miss Baksa when she came into his home, but when she roomed, just after he had strangled the elder woman to death. The pleadings of a "pal" in the crime, who said "don't do that, Jim, one of these fellows will induce him, he said to let Miss Baksa go.

Breaks Down After Grill Convicted six times of burglary and grand larceny and sentenced to five years in prison for the murder, Regan told the district attorney, after ten hours of questioning which terminated at two o'clock this morning that he could not allow an innocent girl to go to the electric chair for a crime which he had committed. He refused to divulge the name of his accomplice, but said they were robbing Mrs. Hamel's house when she discovered them and began to scream. Regan killed her, he confessed, by knotting a towel around her throat to suppress her cries.

Makes Full Confession Regan wrote from his cell to Judge Rosalsky, asserting that Miss Baksa did not commit the murder and that he would tell who did, after he had read in the newspapers of the trial. He refused at first to give any details of the crime unless he was promised immunity from prosecution, but finally made a full confession which he said he would swear to in court. It is understood that if his story on investigation is found to be true, he will be permitted to plead guilty to manslaughter. Pending this inquiry, the Baksa trial was recessed until next Monday.

In the meantime, the district attorney, who stated that he was not satisfied with some parts of Regan's confession, will check up his various features with other evidence in the case. Regan will be subjected to an examination by alienists to determine his mental condition.

Girl Flees in Fear Miss Baksa fled to Freemansburg after the murder. When she returned four days later, impelled, as she declared, to tell what she knew of the killing, she was arrested and later indicated that she had been threatened by the murderer. She maintained from the start of her trial recently that an unknown man had strangled Mrs. Hamel and had threatened to kill her unless she "went away and kept quiet."

Steelton News HOUSING PROBLEM WILL BE SOLVED

Plays Mad to Build Large Number of Homes of All Classes

At the meeting of the Municipal League held last evening in the offices of Frank A. Robbins, Jr., the problem of securing better housing conditions in Steelton was discussed at great length, and definite plans of action were laid for the erection of an indefinite number of homes within the near future. The problem is one that has long been a matter of worry and great concern to all who know the situation, and no action or movement could be better launched at this time. It was pointed out that little could be done in the way of improving living conditions because of the foreign and colored elements in the town so long as such inadequate housing conditions prevailed. The matter has come up in the past at frequent intervals, but each time the housing matter was dropped, but at this time the realization is that something must be done. The necessity was brought out quite clearly by the recent influenza epidemic, a large proportion of the number of deaths having occurred in the congested sections of the town, which sections took the aspect of breeding places for the epidemic because of which and through which the other sections of the town suffered. The housing problem has thus developed from a matter of municipal growth to a matter of the safety and health of the residents of the town, and as such the matter must be taken up immediately.

The plan proposed last evening called for the immediate raising of at least $100,000 to be expended in erecting residences of three distinct types, in three separate districts of the town, one type to be inexpensive in a cheaper section of the borough, another to be moderately priced in a better section, while a third type is to be of a thoroughly good type in the best section of the town affairs.

T. McIntee and W. H. Nell of the Peoples Bank were named as a committee to formulate plans and work out an organization for the financing of the matter.

Those interested in the matter believe that the effort will be successful in spite of the failure of similar projects in the past. This hope is strengthened by the fact that in the plan of the representatives of the town, the plan is to be a thoroughly good type in the best section of the town affairs.

Gifts Liberal TO HOSPITAL IN 1ST COLLECTION

Services of Local Institution Recognized With Thanksgiving Spirit

The annual Thanksgiving donation of the Harrisburg Hospital began this morning and will continue to-day and to-morrow. A liberal response to the hospital's annual appeal is expected, especially in view of the service the hospital rendered the city during the recent influenza epidemic.

A flood of groceries, preserves, Jellies, apples, potatoes, sugar, soaps, and other commodities poured into the receiving room at the Harrisburg Hospital where the Women and Soldiers' Aid, under the direction of Mrs. Marlin E. Olmsted, is assorting the gifts and handling the work of collection.

With a number of tables piled full of the necessities of life, besides several generous cash contributions received before 11 o'clock this morning, the women of the hospital aid are highly enthusiastic over the prospect of a hearty donation by to-morrow night.
