CENTRAL HIGH NOTES

Junior Class Organizes The junior class elected a president and secretary yesterday afternoon. This election had been postponed since early in September because of some inability of the class to organize. Great interest was aroused in the election, and the vote was exceptionally close for both the presidency and the secretaryship. Richard Robinson, a popular mem-

THANKSGIVING A DINNER here on Thursday that doesn't followtheregular table d'hote rules. Pick and choose a la carte from the menu the things you best like. For, after all, the real dish on Thanksgiving Day is the Turkey. Here you'll Turkey. Here you'll find him-brown, crisp, tender, juicy. And when the first taste just melts in your mouth - well, you'll know then why you should give thanks!

Thanksgiving

Tomorrow—Thanksgiving—this shop will be closed. Deeply grateful for the many blessings we have enjoyed, I extend the spirit of thankfulness to my friends and customers for their, valued patronage during the past year.

This year, more than ever, I heartily join with others in observing the day in accordance with its true significance. The war is over, a wonderful victory has been won, and peace is assured. Our soldier boys will soon be home. Surely we have much to be sincerely thankful for.

Very truly,
