

APPOINTMENTS MEET APPROVAL

The Philadelphia Newspapers Speak in High Terms of Governor's Selections

The Philadelphia North American to-day sums up the general commendation given to the appointments just announced by Governor-elect William C. Sproul.

"William I. Schaffer, of Delaware county, for years has been a close personal friend of Senator Sproul. He has a state-wide reputation as a leading lawyer and is recorder of the Supreme Court.

"Not only is Harry S. McDevitt, of Philadelphia, a warm personal friend of Sproul, but the Governor-elect picked him for his private secretary on account of his intimate knowledge of the business of the state and the various departments.

"It has been virtually decided that Dr. Edward Martin, of Philadelphia, will be the physician of health, and it is improbable that any more popular appointment could have been made.

"Sproul's statement that he is not going to Harrisburg with a moving machine but will use a weeder in the state political field, is significant that the state officials who have faithfully performed their duties will be retained in the Sproul administration.

"The Philadelphia Record says editorially: 'Mr. Schaffer is every way qualified to fill the position. He is not only a lawyer of ability, but is a man of high ideals.'

'THE OTHER MAN'S WIFE' IS CLEVER

Dual Standard Provides the Theme For Stirring Melodrama

"The Other Man's Wife" a play on the dual standard of living, featuring Adelaide Thurston, was well received by a fairly large audience at the Orpheum theater Saturday night.

The characters of the play are somewhat conventional, and "The Other Man's Wife" is melodramatic rather than tragic. Moreover, the dual standard of living motif serves only as a background, and the real issue is in a sense avoided.
