TWENTY MILES OF SNOW FENCES

Highway Department Plans Call For an Elaborate Amount of Work

The state of Pennsylvania will have about 20 miles of snow fences along its main highways when the program outlined by George H. Biles, the deputy commissioner in charge of maintenance and snow removal, is completed.

Several miles of these fences have been made for others. Some of the stretches which gave trouble last winter have been lined with the fences and the others are being located in sections along other roads where the snowstorms have blocked traffic.

The bulk of the fence will be erected where it has been found that the outlay for construction is cheaper than the cost of labor and horses in moving snow in winter to keep roads open.

Tractors will be tried out for snow removal for the first time. Last winter the Lincoln Highway was kept open by trucks which dragged the big plows. The State Council of National Defense will turn over several of the state's biggest tractors for the use of the State Highway Department.

To Discuss Plans — Governor Brumbaugh will preside at the meeting of the State Armory Board when it meets here Tuesday to discuss plans and specifications for the four new armory buildings. A building program for the next two years will be discussed and recommendations made for the Legislature early in the new year.

Pardon Board The several first degree murder cases will probably be listed for the December meeting of the State Board of Pardons to be held just a week before Christmas. A large list is being prepared for the meeting which will be the final session of the board as at present constituted.

Big Conferences — A series of important conferences in regard to street railway and other cases pending before the Public Service Commission will begin in Harrisburg today. No hearings are being held to-day except at Pittsburgh and the conference on procedure will probably last until to-morrow night.

The Coal Problem — Chief Seward Button, of the Department of Mines, and Deputy Frank Hall are in Harrisburg this week meeting with the bituminous inspectors and attending the sessions of the American Mining Institute. Mr. Button made an address at the supper given by the institute, Wednesday evening, at the Fort Pitt Hotel.

The sudden return to peace conditions has to some degree disturbed the mining industry. The operators realize that they will soon be called upon to meet the old-time competition in disposing of their output. This requires quick and decisive adjustment of the methods that have prevailed under the war program. The situation is further complicated by the labor supply. The release of thousands of miners from the service and the cessation of operations by the many small wagon mines scattered over the bituminous region, will, perhaps, make labor plentiful and may precipitate trouble regarding the wage question.

To Start Early — The papers are now being prepared for the test suit to be launched by Walter H. Gaither to test the legality of the creation of the War Service Bureau by the State Council of National Defense and it may be started within a week, although it is also possible that it may be until January. The State Council of National Defense does not intend to close up all of its activities on January 1 by any means notwithstanding statements to the contrary.

Governor to Speak — Governor Brumbaugh is on his way to New York to attend the meeting of the committee of fifteen arranged by the United States authorities to discuss immigration and educational matters. Tomorrow he will attend a dinner to be given to him in Philadelphia by his staff and on Monday will speak in the Second Presbyterian Church, of Newark, N. J., under auspices of the Presbyterian Union.

Businessmen — The Public Ledger sprouts plans big businessmen for the Insurance and Banking Departments. The identity of the men to fill these roles which has been much predicted all over the state, is not disclosed.

Tustin Boomed — Ex-Senator Ernest L. Tustin, well-known here, is being strongly boomed for mayor of Philadelphia.

Teachers Meeting — Some of the most prominent men in the state, including Governor Stuart, E. T. Stotesbury and others active in affairs will speak at the mass meeting in behalf of the teachers' salary increase bill to-night in Philadelphia. Other meetings will be held in other places.

Draft History — Final reports and histories of the operation of the draft in each of the 282 districts of Pennsylvania as compiled by the members of local draft boards will be permanently filed in the State Library, according to an announcement made here to-day by Major W. G. Murdock, the chief draft officer. It has been suggested that the members of local boards in assembling their data include newspaper extracts and photographs and that every line of activity connected with the draft, legal and medical advisory, board of instruction and organizations and committees which cared for welfare of drafted men be given notice. "Too great modesty may result in an injustice being done to the board's community," said Major Murdock in discussing the each of having the history of the draft in each district made up by the men in charge of the operation of the selective service law.

To Show Vegetables — Vegetable growers of the state have named a committee to arrange for a state-wide vegetable show at the time the state farm products exhibition is held here in January under state auspices. The committee in charge consists of S. Herbert Starkey, Bustleton; J. R. Bechtel, State College, and L. H. Hartman, Etters.

Tags Away Ahead — Shipments of 1919 automobile license tags have gone ahead of the shipments in the first week of the shipping period of last year according to figures at the State Highway Department. At the close of business on December 4 last year 12,870 pneumatic tired machine tags had been sent out and on the same day this year 14,549. Almost 100 more solid tired tags have also been issued. The receipts from applications for new year tags have thus far amounted to $218,000 or 171,500 more than for the same date last year.

Split Allies at Peace Table Germany's Last Hope

Germany's well-known cleverness has worked out a grand plan that causes her to look forward to the future with confidence. She hopes to achieve at the Peace Conference what four years of the sword have not been able to get for her. Secrecy being essential, the whole scheme with typical Teuton finesse is loudly trumpeted through the German press and proclaimed from the rostrum, so that if we are not warned at least it is not their fault. It seems as usual that Germany is staking her all on one throw of the dice and this time the little game is to cause dissension among the Allies at the Peace Table and particularly between America and Britain.

IN THE LITERARY DIGEST this week—December 7th—there is a very striking article consisting of translations from the German press showing how Germany hopes to gain big advantages when America and the Entente "start to squabble among themselves."

Your Best Way to Follow the Work of the Peace Conference

The eyes and hopes of the entire world are to-day centered upon Paris, whither the delegates of the various nations are journeying to the Peace Conference which is to remold Europe and decide, perhaps for centuries to come, the destinies of our planet. The news that comes forth to the waiting millions from the historic halls of Versailles will be in many ways the most important ever published in its far-reaching effect upon humanity at large. This news will be reported fully and impartially from week to week by THE LITERARY DIGEST, with the views of noted authorities of all shades of opinion, so that the readers of the world's greatest news-weekly may have the best possible opportunity of forming accurate judgments as to the decisions handed down. If you wish to keep in intimate touch with these great events read "The Digest."
