

STARVING RUSS PRISONERS DIE IN HUN PRISON

German Sergeant Major Hits American Captives With Sword at Langensalza

Berne, Dec. 18.—American officers who have arrived in Switzerland from a German prison camp informed the Red Cross that the Russians at Rastatt, Germany, were dying at the rate of about six or eight daily from starvation. The Americans were given rifles by the German guards to protect their food stores from the Russians, who threatened to raid the American compound. The American cemetery at Rastatt now has nine graves. The German guards left the gates of the camp open for the Americans to escape, but an American sergeant posted American guards around the compound and compelled the prisoners to await the arrival of the Red Cross and American sanitary trains from Switzerland. Herbert Jones, of the 110th Infantry, declared to the American Red Cross that a German sergeant major at Langensalza camp struck American prisoners on the face with the flat of his sword without reason after having them up for roll-call. Jones himself was kicked by a guard until the lower part of his body was temporarily paralyzed. Langensalza is the German prison camp where a considerable number of French prisoners were killed or wounded by guards several days after the signing of the armistice.

BERLIN RIOTOUS WITH JOY OVER RETURN OF ARMY

German Capital Is Dancing Mad; Cabarets Overflow With Crowds

London, Dec. 18.—"We are trying to forget," a Berliner said to the correspondent of the Daily Express yesterday. The city's cabarets are filled all afternoon and until 9 o'clock at night. Berlin is dancing mad. The correspondent, dealing with the return of the German army yesterday wrote the Express: "Deutschland Uber Alles" brought me into the street this morning. To my amazement—and to the apparent amazement of the French officers grouped in the window of the embassy—a regiment was passing the Brandenburg gate to the old tunnel. Later, I heard it played continuously as cavalry, infantry and artillery swept by. Regimental flags were crowned with laurel wreaths. The men wore evergreens around their steel helmets and their tunics and guns were covered with flowers. "In a week's time the edict closing dancing halls at 9 o'clock will be removed and dancing then will continue all night. Berliners are looking forward to this. "It is a remarkable sight to see cabarets packed to suffocation with women in expensive toilettes and both soldiers and civilians dancing and drinking wine costing two pounds a bottle. Seats at the theaters can only be booked two days ahead."

Chamber of Commerce to Visit Depot Y. M. C. A.

The Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce will visit the Middletown Aviation Depot Y. M. C. A. hut Monday evening, December 30, and see how the boys at the aviation camp are being cared for. It was announced following a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber at noon to-day. The visit was arranged as a result of the invitation of Stanley V. Bergen, the Y. secretary. The members will go to Middletown by street car and arrangements were being made for an old-fashioned evening of sociability, beginning and ending on the street car. At Middletown they will be shown over the aviation camp. A buffet lunch may be served.

EDUCATORS TO MEET IN CITY

State Teachers' Association to Convene Here December 30

Leading educational workers from different sections of this and other counties are included on the program for the sixty-ninth annual session of the State Teachers' Association which will be held in Technical High school auditorium on December 30-31 and January 1-2. Included on the program are superintendents of instruction in two states. The matter of increases in salaries for state teachers, now the subject of debate throughout practically every section of the state, will be discussed at this meeting. It will be discussed in the first address of the sessions, that of Marcus Aaron, president of the Pittsburgh Board of Education. Educational subjects of every kind are to be discussed at three sessions. A local committee, the makeup of which will be announced in several days, will complete the plans. The preliminary announcements carry the additional information that the meetings will be attended by teachers of both private and public schools, universities and colleges. Dr. S. W. Boyer of Scranton, president of the State Teachers' Association will preside at the meeting. Information on instruction for disabled soldiers and sailors in the schools by Major W. A. Henderson, of the United States War Department, is one of the big features planned for the sixty-ninth State Teachers' Association convention which will be held here on December 30-31 and January 1-2. Major Henderson has been invited to attend this convention, but no definite advice as to whether he will do so has not yet been received. International education subjects will be discussed by Helen Fraser, representing Women's War Work, of Great Britain, on "Moral Issues of the War." A member of the French embassy will speak on Wednesday, International Day, on the educational system of France. Other speakers include Dr. W. C. Bagley of Columbia University, who will speak on "Reconstruction"; Dr. David S. Snedden, of Columbia University, "Fine Art and An Industrial Education"; Professor Hoerner, of Colgate University, on "Music"; Dr. Lee Driver, superintendent of public instruction in Indiana, on "Consolidation of Rural Schools"; Dr. Francis C. Blair, state superintendent of instruction of Illinois, on "State Education"; Dr. S. Parker Cadman, prominent Brooklyn clergyman, on "Our Duty in the Present Crisis"; Dr. S. A. Curtis of Detroit, on "Educational Measurement"; Dr. Henry E. Jackson, of the United States Bureau of Education, and Provost E. H. Smith, of the University of Pennsylvania.

LOOKING FOR FATHER

The police department has been asked to locate Ben Benton, sometimes called Benjamin Styler, and his wife, Myrtle, who are said to be visiting their relatives, Dewey, William and Mrs. Nobbs, in Harrisburg. Their 10-year-old child, Evelyn Benton, is suffering with diphtheria in the Municipal Hospital in her home town and the parents' aid is needed.

Russian Peasants Burn and Pillage at Wilna

Warsaw, Dec. 18.—The manner in which the Russian peasants in Volynia have risen against their landlords is shown by the experiences of Princess Potocki, who is one of the refugees gathered here. Her estate at Dombrovitsa was besieged for one week by the peasants. Several Polish peasants aided in beating off the attacks and a dozen or more of the Russians were killed. Finally, the Russians threw benzoline on the roof and set it on fire. The defenders then agreed to surrender if the women could go free. The peasants placed the men against the wall and executed all of them, including two young cousins of the Princess.

How Germany Must Pay

For submarine outrages---for Zeppelin raids---for ruined Belgium and devastated France? How shall she make restitution and restoration? What guaranties must she give for future good behavior? What retribution must she suffer? What shall be done with the workers of abomination, from the Kaiser down, who violated the laws of God and man?

While Justice imposes stern requirements, it is necessary to study the questions of Germany's man-power, material resources, financial ability, and political divisions.

These and all other vital after-the-war problems are discussed in striking articles each week in
