

GREAT THROUGS PARADE IN RED CROSS PAGEANT

Yankee Soldier Boy Leads the Cheers For "Greatest Women in World"

New York, Dec. 19.—Abaze with light, atrob with the music of fifty bands and filled with a dancing, swirling crowd, the native costumes of a score of nationalities blending with military and naval uniforms, Fifth avenue last night was the scene of the greatest "block party" in history. It was held in honor of the American Red Cross as the climax of the "Christmas roll."

The party began with a parade led by Henry Davidson, chairman of the war work council of the Red Cross. Sons and daughters of a score of nations, all in native costume, were in line. The flags of all the countries, with three or four significant exceptions, fluttered from the buildings along the avenue. Sidewalks were jammed from building line to curb with spectators.

McAdoo May Hold On, Wall Street Hears

New York, Dec. 19.—Always doubting and ever looking for something, Wall Street now puts forward the idea that W. G. McAdoo has planned to retain the position of director-general of railroads and will do so upon the excuse that no properly equipped man can be found to take it over from him.

Various men, including E. M. Baruch, Judge Lovett and, this week, Franklin K. Lane, have been tendered the position of director-general, but no one has accepted. Thus, it is argued, the way is easy for President Wilson to urge his son-in-law to withdraw his resignation as director-general and to represent to him that it is his public duty to keep the job.
