partment stores and really men in scores of cities in the United States and Canada, was taken from a Pennsylvania Railroad train here on Saturday night and turned over to Pittsburgh authorities on a charge of forgery.

Keough, posing as a wealthy Canadian mining man, conducted a series of clever swindles within the last decade by passing fraudulent travelers' checks for $200 each on the Canadian Bank of Commerce. He was followed here by a detective working on a case originating recently at Pittsburgh, where a department store firm was swindled. The prisoner operated chiefly during the holiday season.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 23.—A man said to be William Keough, alleged international criminal, is now confined in the Allegheny county jail after a chase over the United States, Canada and several countries in Europe for more than ten years. He was arrested at Altoona, Pa., after trying to pass a check for $200 on the Canadian Bank of Commerce in a Pittsburgh department store. The clerk, suspicious, went to the cashier's desk to investigate, and when he returned the buyer was gone. Detectives followed the man to Altoona, arrested and brought him to Pittsburgh. When in the store Keough wore a moustache, but when arrested his face was smooth.

Officers say Keough, known as the "Christmas forger," was always active during the holiday season and usually adopted the same method of offering checks and drafts on a Canadian bank. His victims were jewelers, department stores, sporting goods houses and other merchants, dressed, wore several large diamonds, carried a cane and seemed undisturbed by his arrest.

AUTO IS STOLEN
A touring car, belonging to Fred Aldinger, Twenty-first and Hillside streets, was stolen from No. 17 North Eighteenth street last night. The automobile bears Pennsylvania license number 18881, and engine number 12657. It is valued at $2,000. Police are making a search for the automobile.

Make Your Bowels Behave
Make them function with gratifying precision. If regulation of the diet does not relieve their torpidity, Dr. King's New Life Pills will. They are perfect bowel trainers, cleanse the system surely, comfortably.

WAR'S EFFECTS TO BE DISCUSSED

Representatives of Agricultural Organizations Will Have Conventions Here

Effects of war on sheepraising, cattle feeding, the vegetable growing business, poultry raising and orchard operations and an explanation of new processes for the preservation of food by dehydration will be the chief themes at the series of conventions to be held here a month hence by various agricultural and allied organizations which will meet in Harrisburg when the State Board of Agriculture holds its sessions.

In connection with these conventions there will be a state-wide exhibition of farm products and corn judging and presentation of prizes to boys from all over the state. Joint meetings will be held by the ten organizations which will meet during that week at which representatives of the United States Department of Agriculture will speak on livestock and the war, observations on agriculture in Europe during the war and the preservation of foods. The increase in sheep and revival of cattle feeding will be special themes while the question whether German potash is needed will also be a theme.

Moths About—Reports of the appearance of the gypsy moth in states near Pennsylvania and evidence of the oriental peach moth in some shipments of fruit trees from the Orient in adjoining states have caused redoubled vigilance to be exercised by the State Department of Agriculture. A series of inspections have been made and some trees which were affected have been destroyed in conjunction with the federal and state officials.

Records Not Public—Major W. G. Murdock, the state's chief draft officer, has sent a circular to local draft boards that revenue collectors have no authority to examine questionnaires of draft registrants for the purpose of comparing statements made therein with income tax reports. "Information contained in questionnaires is confidential, and was given only for purposes of proper classification," says the circular, "and is not to be revealed at this time to any one unless under authority from this office."

Right Hand Rolling—The Pennsylvania State Compensation Board has awarded compensation in Evey vs. Sheldon Axle and Spring Works, Wilkes-Barre, in an unusual case. The employe fell while working in the plant and injured his right arm. He is a right-handed man and when he returned to work was able to earn the same or higher wages by the use of his left hand, the right being of little or no aid in performance of duties. The board holds that he has in fact lost use of his right hand. The board has upheld the referee and dismissed an appeal filed in Catharine Howard vs. S. S. Kresge Company, Wilkes-Barre, in which it is held that claims of death resulting from tuberculosis alleged to have been superinduced by a blow "must be established by convincing testimony."

Favor Season Change—As a result of the meeting of members of the Wild Life League and sportsmen from Western Pennsylvania at Pittsburgh a few days ago considerable support has been found for the project of taking the protection of the game code of 1917 away from the red squirrel because of his destructiveness and making him legitimate game at all times, and also to advance the opening of the blackbird season for the same reason. These two projects have been much heard of since last summer when farmers complained of the annoyance caused by the squirrels which raided corn and other fields and the numerous protests against the blackcoats which came from farmers whose oats and other fields were raided and people in towns which were pestered by large flocks of blackbirds.

Support was also given to a movement for increase of the force of the State Game Commission so that it will number 100 men. The pay is to be left to the judgment of the Game Commission but not to go above $120 a month.

Big Gas Conference—United States fuel officials will attend the natural gas convention conference in Harrisburg on January 8, according to officers of the Public Service Commission which is arranging for the meeting. Commissioner John S. Rilling is to preside and the men active in the management, engineering and legal ends of all the natural gas concerns of any size in the state have been invited to attend. S. S. Weyer, head of the natural gas end of the fuel administration is to speak on the supply and Vice-President of the United States National Gas Company, on conservation. According to officers here the conference will have an effect upon complaints which are pending against rates and service in the western and central parts of the state and affect thousands of consumers and many industries.

To Close—To-night—Several of the State Capitol departments will close to-night for the holiday. People will leave for home to-morrow.

Protect River Front—One of the largest grade crossing abolition propositions to reach the State Public Service Commission in many months and which has been discussed in the manner in which the smaller municipalities are moving to safeguard their river fronts has come from New Brighton. There are a dozen or more grade crossings on the Fort Wayne, whereby people go from the central part of the town to the waterfront and it is now planned to abolish them and to establish instead three undergrade crossings and then to improve the avenue along the river.

New Trust Forming—The Scotch Valley-Turkey Valley Telephone Company is reaching out again. This time it is going after the Morrison's Cove Telephone Company, the Scotch Valley and the Turkey Valley were rival rural telephone lines which operated in the section where Blair county goes down to meet Bedford and they are now consolidated. Now they have come to the Public Service Commission with a proposition for the sale and lease of certain properties and facilities of the Morrison's Cove Company to the new one. There is nothing to indicate whether the title of the company is to be lengthened with its lines.

Thanks For Militia—Members of the Reserve Militia organization in Lackawanna and Luzerne counties have received letters from Governor Brumbaugh thanking them for the service they rendered during the recent epidemic when so many of the men were actively engaged.

Main Returns—Lieutenant W. R. Main, U. S. N., who was auditor of the State Highway Department for several years and is now stationed at Boston, is home on a furlough. He was warmly greeted by friends at the Capitol.

Protests Likely—It is probable that there will be protests filed against the new grade crossings in Oil City, where all the protests developed some new industrial sections and to establish grade crossings to do it.

Need More Politics, Says Chairman Hays

New York, Dec. 23.—In issuing his call for a lovefeast meeting of the Republican National Committee, Chairman Will H. Hays says: "What we need in this country is not 'less politics,' but more attention to politics. If the citizens of the country perform a citizen's duty and interest themselves sufficiently in the politics of the nation, the right principles will be practiced and able and conscientious candidates elected."

"It seems passing strange, indeed, that it should be necessary to urge men in this country to exercise the full privilege of real liberty. Yet such is the case, because they imagine they are either too busy or too good to take part in politics. I have no use for the man who is either 'too busy' or 'too proud' to interest himself in politics. It is riding another's ticket."

What I urge above all things else is the fullest participation of our splendid citizenship in the actual politics of the country. Let this be so and any evils that may exist or which may hereafter arise, will be short lived, indeed."

ANKLE IS BROKEN
Sing Yung, aged 48 years, of Franklin street, Steelton, sustained a fracture of the left ankle yesterday when he fell in the yard of the Central Iron and Steel Company, where he is employed.
