LIEUT. BASSLER RETURNS AFTER OVERSEAS DUTY

Tells About Hospital Work Under Shell Fire and Air Raids

Lieutenant William J. Bassler is in Harrisburg again. Six months ago he was stationed here, an interne at the Harrisburg Hospital and went to France with a hospital unit.

Lieutenant Bassler is here on a three days' leave, and arrived this morning. He was greeted at the hospital by dozens of his friends among the physicians, nurses and attendants.

Lieutenant Bassler has a story to tell of noble heroism by physicians and nurses under shell fire and air raids and bombardments.

The doctors and nurses were not the only brave ones in Camp Hospital No. 13, back of the Arzonne Marne front, where Lieut. Bassler was stationed.

Lieut. Bassler tells how the work was accomplished in the constant accompaniment of heavy artillery fire at the front, and that numerous times the Boche raided the town.

Lieut. Bassler encountered an old friend and widely known Harrisburger, doing Y. M. C. A. work at Malilly, France. It was Miss Suzanne Westbrook, daughter of Dr. Cherrick Westbrook.

The lieutenant returned to America in the Mongolia, with 800 wounded soldiers landing at Hoboken, December 22.

Lieutenant Bassler was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1917, and came here to the hospital. He made many friends during his year's stay in the city.

congratulatory manner but in order to show the members that they would have to aim high if the coming year is to break the record established in 1918.

Things Done The Smiling campaign, with John Olmsted as chairman, was conducted by the Rotary Club and $2,100 raised for the amusement of soldiers. The Boy Scout movement has been fostered by the Rotarians, who have raised $15,000 for the purpose. Rotarian George S. Reinechell being president of the council the past year and Rotarian J. William Bowman having succeeded him to that position.

The club gave generously to the Lock Haven flood sufferers and the Harry Lauder fund for maimed soldiers. It co-operated with the Chamber of Commerce in the school garden work, Rotarian Shirley B. Watts being in charge. The Thrift Stamp movement was boosted by the Rotarians who sold over $4,000 worth of stamps by means of a minstrel show, while John Heathcote was responsible for the sale of several hundred thousand dollars worth of stamps.

Donations were made to the Red Cross and the Children's Nursery Home and the club gave a Big Brother dinner to 400 poor children. It entertained the soldiers at Gettysburg and backed up the Y. M. C. A. in its boys' work camp and all other activities and participated in the Flag Day and other patriotic celebrations. The War Angelus was observed through the instrumentality of the club with David Wilmer as chairman, and the two minutes of prayer on the Fourth of July was a Rotarian

MORE STRINGENT TRAFFIC RULES URGED BY CHIEF

Regulations to Slow Up Autos at Crossings Recommended by the Police Head

The need of an ordinance regulating vehicular traffic around the left side of streetcars which stop to take on or discharge passengers was pointed out by Chief of Police J. Edward Wetzel this morning as a result of the accident at Twenty-fourth and Perry streets yesterday, which cost the life of John J. Cole, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Cole, 706 South Twenty-fourth street. The automobile of William Seal, Paxtang, driven by his chauffeur, George Bestline, struck young Cole as he was crossing the street in front of the trolleycar.

Chief Wetzel is of the opinion that traffic should be regulated at all intersections, whether a streetcar is stopping there or not, as it is in Wilkes-Barre, where motorists must slow down to eight miles an hour at all intersections.

He pointed out the growing prevalence of automobile accidents, and advocated an ordinance which would forbid motorists to pass standing streetcars, even on the left side of the street. He said perfect safety to pedestrians could not be secured unless the motorists were forced to pass streetcars between the tracks and the curbs, and never while the streetcars are stopping at an intersection.
