Gohl Rinkenbach & Rouse OPTOMETRISTS AND OPTICIANS No.22 N. 4TH. ST. HARRISBURG, PA. WHERE GLASSES ARE MADE RIGHT

Saturday evenings was adopted at a crucial period, fraught with many uncertainties as to the outcome, we immediately received scores and scores of outspoken assurances of sympathy with the movement, as well as other evidence that thousands had cheerfully made sacrifices in order to co-operate by daytime purchases.

We can therefore start the new year with the assurance that the principle of shorter working hours for our employes has been approved by our many patrons. This is in accord with the privilages enjoyed by employes in practically all other lines of industry and conceder by fording prochants in our most progressive cities. The rapid strides of the shorter workday movement throughout the country indicates that it will soon be universal in every city that has grown beyond the boundaries of a country hamlet. No merchant can afford to stand still. It is simply a question of adhering to backward methods or adopting a more enlightened policy. We have chosen the latter and are sincerely thankful to those who have given us their support.
