HOLIDAY WEDDING IN HAGERSTOWN

MR. AND MRS. ELWOOD T. DAVIS

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Cook have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Martha Alberta Cook, to Elwood L. Davis of this city. The marriage was a quiet event performed on December 24 at the parsonage of the Washington Square M. E. Church, Hagerstown, Md.

Dr. E. Church, Hagerstown, Md. Dr. Davis was recently honorably discharged from the United States service. Mr. and Mrs. Davis will be "at home" to their friends after January 1 at 1410 Thompson street.

Baking Company Employees Dined by Old Manager

More than 100 employees at the plants of the Harrisburg Baking Company and Schmidt's bakery will be given a dinner to-morrow night at the latter place, Eighteenth and Mulberry streets, as the guests of Bernard Schmidt, who recently sold the bakeries.

Many of the employees who will attend the dinner to-morrow night have been in the employ of Mr. Schmidt all of the years he has been in business here. He was generally liked by the men and because of their faithful service he decided to arrange the entertainment. In addition to the dinner there will be music by Updegrave's orchestra and an interesting program is being arranged by C. E. Pass, who is in charge of the preparations.

Mr. Schmidt recently sold the plant at Eighteenth and Mulberry streets and the Harrisburg Baking Company, in South Cameron street. He will continue to operate the bakery at Thirteenth and Walnut streets.

Dr. Kreider Stationed at Hospital in France

DR. J. H. KREIDER

Mrs. J. H. Kreider, 1410 Derry street, has received word of the arrival in France of her husband, Dr. Kreider, who was commissioned a first lieutenant in the Medical Corps last September. He was stationed at Camp Greenleaf and later sent from Camp Crane to help fight the influenza epidemic at Lebanon prior to his sailing overseas. Lieutenant Kreider writes of many interesting experiences in England and France. He is at present stationed at Mobile Hospital 103, Chaumont, France.

Walter Ruby Wedding Is a Holiday Event

A pretty holiday wedding was solemnized Monday, December 30, at high noon, in the Methodist church, Steelton, when Verna M. Ruby became the bride of C. Allen Walter. The bride wore a dark brown traveling suit with hat to harmonize and corsage bouquet of bride roses and orchids.

The attendants were Miss Adaline Byers, of Harrisburg, and Joseph Long, of Des Moines, Iowa, both cousins of the bridegroom. Miss Ruby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ruby, of 1208 Market street, Harrisburg. Prior to her marriage, she was employed at Dives, Pennington & Stewart's. Mr. Walter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Walter, of Pine street, Steelton, and is employed as clerk in the P. R. R. at Harrisburg.

After a wedding dinner at the home of the groom the happy couple left for a trip to eastern cities with the best wishes of a host of friends. They will return to Steelton where they will reside for the present.

The Governor Receives Educators at Mansion

Last evening after the usual session of the Teachers' Association the Governor and Mrs. Martin Grove Brumbaugh entertained the educators at the Executive Mansion. Over four hundred people attended, extending care to the new year. The hosts. Elaborate holiday decorations prevailed with festoons of laurel and pine relieved by the brilliant scarlet of poinsettias and Jerusalem cheryls. The dining table was graced by a centerpiece of roses and stelia with border of maiden-hair fern.

Mrs. Brumbaugh, who wore an exquisite toilette of shimmering grey silk heavily embroidered with beads for the Penn-Harris dinner, changed to a most becoming frock of rose colored crepe to receive her guests. Dr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Weber received with them, the latter charming in an embroidered chiton costume.

Col. Patterson Spending New Year's Day in Town

Col. Charles H. Patterson is spending New Year's Day with his parents in this city. Colonel Patterson recently returned from France. He was with the American forces during the Chateau Thierry drive from its start on the Marne on July 18 until the American divisions reached Metz on Tardunois. He was on all fronts including the British Belgian and French. Colonel Patterson later made a tour of France with the Inspector general of the army and visited all American hospitals, organizations and training centers, aviation fields, base ports and depots of supply. He is stationed in Washington and will return there this evening.

PARTY IN LEBANON Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Stauffer, 2127 Green street, are New Year guests of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Parson and Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Shenk, of Lebanon. The party will be dinner guests of Dr. L. A. Bowman at the Hotel Strord.

TAKE BREAKFAST NEW YEAR'S DAY

John T. Brady Host Today, as Has Been His Custom For Number of Years

John T. Brady, prominent as a member of the City Planning Commission and in legal circles—as has been his custom for many years—entertained many of his friends at a New Year's breakfast to-day at the Harrisburg Club. This function has been the outstanding feature of the first day of the year from a social standpoint for a long period and Mr. Brady always meets on these occasions a large group of personal friends who represent the industrial, professional, commercial and official life of Central Pennsylvania.

To-day breakfast was no exception and there was a note of rejoicing in the fact that the year opens with the war cloud disappearing and amid the reunion of old friends who have been separated during the hostilities. Always a gracious host, Mr. Brady was at his best to-day.

VICTORY DANCE IS BRILLIANT EVENT

University Club Plans Matur-ing For Noted Gathering in New Penn-Harris

The "victory ball" of the University Club to-morrow evening in the Penn-Harris promises to be a notable event with an attendance of about four hundred and many applicants anxious to be accepted. Among the special decorations will be a group of the allied flags from the Adjutant General's Department, with college pennants, fraternity banners, etc. The decoration committee comprises Elmer Erb, C. Holmes McDonald and George Quigley. Supper will be served at 11 o'clock in the ballroom and private diningrooms, and the chef promises it will be the "best ever."

The entertainment plans are being kept secret, with neither names nor features mentioned, so that the surprise will be a complete one. C. S. Shaar is in charge of this part of the ball so every one knows it will be a success. Soldiers and sailors who are members of the club will appear in their uniforms, and members who are set to show their pretty new frocks to be aired for the first time on this occasion.

Book are increasing with every week. David Jayne Hill, former United States Ambassador to Berlin, has just published through Harper & Brothers, publishers, New York, his "Impressions of the Kaiser." Former Ambassador Hill knows the Kaiser as few Americans have ever known him.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES

Captain H. G. Gilliland while a prisoner in Germany came into personal contact with Ambassador Hill during one of the latter's visits to the camp, and the friendship formed at that time has been continued since the captain's escape. The English edition of his "My German Prisoners" bears the following dedication: "To Ambassador Gerard, to whom every British prisoner owes a debt of gratitude which can never be paid." This book, when published in England, was hailed as a masterpiece, but now that the stern conditions of war are lifted, it will appear, enlarged and freed of restraint, under the imprint of Houghton Mifflin Company.

A story of unusual spiritual quality and of special moment for a world in which grief and loss are universal is to be found in Michael Wood's "The White Island," which E. P. Dutton & Company have just published. It is told in the first person by the head of a religious community who has been banished to give spiritual aid and comfort to any who may be in need of such help, and its central figure is the son of an Englishman of prominence, a man whose apparently arduous mental development is a bitter trial to his father and mother.

Employees of the State Fund are giving a dinner and reception in compliment to William J. Roney, who has been appointed as manager of the State Workmen Insurance Fund to please everyone. The event, to be most informal, will be held in the Civic Clubhouse, Monday evening, January 6, from 8:30 to 12:30 o'clock. Cards and games will be enjoyed by those who do not dance, and Rutherford will cater for the supper. The Updegrave orchestra will play.

REUNION OF SCHOCK FAMILY Mr. and Mrs. Oliver D. Schock and daughter, Miss Bertha E. Schock, of 508 North Third street, spent the holidays in Philadelphia, where they were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Earl Schock, 2043 Pine street. A family reunion held on Christmas was an especially enjoyable occasion.

PRETTY HOLIDAY LUNCHEON Miss Kathleen Border, of Green street, gave an informal luncheon this afternoon in compliment to her guests, the Misses Charlotte and Louise Claar, of Newark, N. J. The table decorations were of pink and gold with roses forming the centerpiece. Ten guests enjoyed music and cards after the luncheon.

ARMY CLUB PLANS Members of the Harrisburg Army Club held a jubilee last evening to see the old year out and little 1919 come in. The event was held in their Market street clubrooms and was enjoyed by a goodly number. The club will give a dance on the 15th of January.

Herr Hohenzollern and Dutch Host Driving

This is the first actual photograph received in this country showing Herr William Hohenzollern in exile in Holland. The former Kaiser, shorn of his war trappings, was "snapped" while out for an airing with Count von Bentinck, his Dutch host. The picture was taken just outside of Amerongen Castle where guards have since been posted to prevent photographers showing the world the deposed ruler in his various moods. These guards carry clubs, somewhat like policemen's night sticks which they hurl or threaten to hurl—at any man with a camera.

"Song Bird of the Navy" Aiding Red Cross Drive

MISS EDNA JOYCE

Miss Edna Joyce, seen here singing in aid of the Red Cross membership drive in front of the New York City Public Library, Fifth avenue, has won the title of the "Song Bird of the Navy." Her voice has raised thousands of dollars in previous Red Cross drives as well as for the other war work organizations and the Liberty Loans.

Worse still, to realize that oneself is the cause of such a family discomfort is enough to make one quite speechless and to lose one's appetite altogether for the "company dishes" that with as much effort are prepared and set before one.

may admit that she could pass a housekeeping test, but I know also that I don't want to be her visitor. A woman who says she doesn't care for growing plants in her house because they are so much trouble gives one a cold stranger-feeling, but one who has cut cared some because cages are cruel, thereby practically invites one to step over her threshold and see what one there.

Households where the table service, for instance, was a failure for lack of rehearsal, and you could see the hostess becoming more and more becoming mute and stammering and father gissing children on the point of breaking out into open mutiny.

Discomforts of Feeding Or where the hostess' entire conversation was never up of explanations and apology, and you somehow sensed that behind every door and behind every window the family was exhorting another to behave nicely "because there's company." Didn't it make you feel like running upstairs to pack four bags and catch the first train?

But what shall we do, women say if we can't afford to keep up a company standard all the time? You may be sure that your guests will be a great deal happier, and a thousand times more willing to come again if you simply drop the idea of a company standard altogether.

Unless the rest of the family are much more than ordinarily fascinating the presence of an habitual grouch will make any home guestproof. Don't imagine that you can impose company manners on a family grouch with that same quick sleight-of-hand with which you dust the piano while you answer the doorbell. Or, if you do succeed, they won't stay. Like all artificial, flimsy things, they will split at the wrong time.

Many New York Makers Interested in My Success The reason is obvious. My success means one more outlet for their product. They realize that I am but lately established. They are very anxious to see my business thrive and expand. "But what is this to me?" you may ask. Merely this. These great New York designers and makers are straining a point in quoting me prices. And they keep me posted on the latest style forecasts. As a result you benefit, too. For it enables me to name prices which are surprisingly low. And it ensures your securing suits and frocks of the most authentic styles. So you see their interest in me reacts upon my patrons. Because they are so desirous that I please you, both you and I profit. If you could accompany me on one of my frequent trips to New York you'd appreciate just how much this means.
