Little Talks by Beatrice Fairfax

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

I wish that some of the young girls among my correspondents would form a club to discourage the unnecessary spending of money by their young men friends.

As everybody knows, girls' very much easier to take a sensible but unpopular stand if you can do so as a member of a club or movement.

HIGHER SHOES FOR WOMEN Chicago, Jan. 6.—Higher shoes for women for 1919—higher prices rather than reductions and shorter skirts, those are the views of the National Shoe Travelers' Association as expressed in resolutions passed at the close of its seventh annual convention.

Boys Who Cannot Spend Meanwhile what of the young men who have really serious obligations, who are helping to support an infirm parent or young brothers and sisters and whose income so evenly matches their outgo that there is practically nothing left over for theatres and ice cream?

It is quite likely that many girls will seriously ask me what alternative I propose. They will ask me if I advocate the giving up of their men friends altogether.

Most of these girls are wage-earners themselves. They know that a pay envelope is given in exchange for the greater part of one's life energy and that money so gained should not be thrown away foolishly—as a matter of daily habit, that is—of course the most wise and prudent of us have to be foolish now and then.

But there are girls who compare their men friends with reference solely to the amount of money these men are willing to spend for their pleasure. A girl will boast of the young man whose constant attention she is accepting, not because he is amusing or companionable or because she admires his solid qualities but because he spends more money in entertaining her than other young men spend.

As no secret is made of this by anybody, and as the boys thoroughly understand and accept the standard that the girls set up, they naturally compete with each other as spenders. They know that to spend freely—to act on a fifteen dollar salary as though one had a bottomless purse—means one more desirable than any personal quality either. And, naturally, the most desired young man secures the favor of the prettiest and most desirable girl.

There are many sweet, unselfish young girls who have never stopped to think what a sordid, greedy thing they are doing. That is why I am putting it into words for them now. But selfish and unselfish alike, they all expect, when the day's work in the home or the office is over, and the refreshing spectacle of a young man appears on the horizon, to be taken "out" for the evening.

But I know that Eighteen will tell me that her older sister retains a nightly monopoly of the parlor, and Nineteen will protest that her father objects to noisy young people in the house; and that they are both in cordial secret agreement that there is no "fun" to be had unless one leaves one's family behind one. So I will not discuss the point. It's very old-fashioned advice and I should have no hope of its being adopted.

But I do urge a revival of the "Dutch treat" system. Why not make it a fashion for the girls and young men to divide up the expenses of any entertainment that they share? Have a good time without greedily draining the pocketbooks of the unfortunate youths of your acquaintance. If even a dozen girls should think this over and discuss it and decide to conduct themselves as I have suggested, I think they would be delighted with the result and I should hope to hear about it.

The pay-as-you-enter principle applied to youthful amusements certainly wouldn't reduce a girl's list of men friends. It would relieve her of the sense of guilt which she must surely suffer at times because of eating and drinking up so much of her friend's earnings. It would lead girls to look for something else than an extravagant spending capacity in the boys and men whose escort they accept. Who knows how many irresistibly delightful youths there may be whom a painful shortage of cash, or at least an inability always to pay for two, at present keeps out of the running? And the new system should reveal them.

My pay-as-you-enter principle applied to youthful amusements certainly wouldn't reduce a girl's list of men friends. It would relieve her of the sense of guilt which she must surely suffer at times because of eating and drinking up so much of her friend's earnings.

Personally I like always even to pay my own street carfare. I am not sympathetic with the convention which sanctions my accepting sundry nickels from men whom I may have met only the instant before. But I don't ask any girl to be an extremist in this matter. I ask no more than that she should pay her own way now and then and develop a desire to be "square" to her relationships, rather than to get the utmost possible financial return for whatever she may have of beauty and attractiveness.

How about forming a Sane Spenders' Club?—and tell the young men what it means.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Because of interference by the police, the National Woman's party announced last night that it had abandoned its plan to keep "watch fires" burning in front of the White House until the Senate had passed the Susan B. Anthony suffrage constitutional amendment resolution.

Four more of the party "sentinels" were arrested last night when they undertook to start another fire to replace that extinguished on Saturday night by a crowd of men and they are held for trial to-day, when the women arrested also will be given a hearing.

Officials of the Woman's party declared that "no amount of police interference" would prevent the burning in front of the White House of copies of speeches which President Wilson delivers in Europe.

If that itching rash delays your work, Try Resinol

To have your concentration of thought broken by an aggravating skin eruption is annoying not only to yourself, but also to others. The application of Resinol Ointment to the affected part brings welcome relief. Generally after a short treatment the trouble disappears entirely. The ointment is so nearly flesh colored that detection of its use is unlikely. On retiring at night spread thicker and wrap with a clean cloth. This should hasten results. At all druggists.

Is Your Back Giving Out? THAT "bad back" is probably due to weak kidneys, a trouble that often follows grip, a cold, a fever, worry, or overwork. It shows in constant, dull, throbbing backache, or sharp twinges when stooping or lifting. You have headaches, too, dizzy spells, a tired, nervous feeling and irregular kidney action. Don't neglect it—there is danger of dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease! It is usually easy to correct these early troubles, however, and avoid the more serious ailments by giving the kidneys prompt help. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands have saved themselves serious kidney ills by timely use of Doan's.

Read These Harrisburg Cases:

Peffer Street Mrs. A. H. Eastright, 531 Peffer street, says: "Some time ago I was in misery with my kidneys. I took Doan's Kidney Pills, as they were recommended highly for the trouble. They soon gave me entire relief." (Statement given August 29, 1914.)

Boas Street M. B. Haviland, railroad engineer, 313 Boas street, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills several times in the past few years and I sincerely advise their use to any one troubled with their kidneys. Whenever my back has been weak or lame and has ached, or the kidney secretions have been irregular in passage, I have bought a box or so of Doan's Kidney Pills at J. Nelson Clark's Drug Store. Doan's have never failed to rid me of the complaint."

North Green Street Mrs. Myrtle Rodgers, 1412 N. Green street, says: "I have been troubled off and on for several years with kidney complaint. Times it comes on without warning and I suffer something terribly with my back. There was a dull constant ache through the small of my back and it becomes so weak and lame I can hardly straighten up when I bend over. My kidneys act irregularly, too, causing me a great deal of annoyance. Mornings there are puff sacs under my eyes and dropsical swellings appear in my feet. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Kennedy's Drug Store and they never fail to relieve me."

North Seventh Street William Miller, 1958 North Seventh street, says: "I had a constant ache in the small of my back. I was so lame at times that I could just manage to straighten up after bending over. It took only a little more than two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at John K. Garland's Drug Store, to cure me, and I have been perfectly well now for a year or more. I am glad to recommend Doan's to other kidney sufferers for they are certainly a worthy medicine."

Kelker Street J. W. Frank, retired railroad conductor, 620 Kelker street, says: "A little more than a year ago, I was troubled by kidney complaint. There was a heavy, dull ache through the small of my back and I found it very difficult to do any lifting. Whenever I bent over, I could hardly straighten. Then the kidney secretions were highly colored and scalded in passage. The first box of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got from Robert M. Staley's Drug Store helped me. I used two more boxes and they cured me."

Penn Street Mrs. George Greenour, 2961 Penn street, North, says: "About two years ago I found it necessary to take a kidney medicine, and as I had heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box at J. Nelson Clark's Drug Store. I used them mainly for my back, which was weak and lame and made life miserable for me, especially when stooping over. The one box of Doan's Kidney Pills cured the trouble and it has never returned."
