

LITTLE TALKS BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Do your relatives praise your wife? Are they convinced that she is the best of domestic partners for you...

bers have a little more leisure than is necessary, and are victims, perhaps, of the very human vice of gossiping...

Criticising the Bride A. M. V. should realize that his case isn't unique by any means. That there must be countless thousands of instances in which a young husband's relatives either openly or secretly criticise his wife for not conforming to some ideal and impossible standard which they themselves have set up.

But there are other things that he should realize as well. Having confessed that he is in possession of the supreme gift of life, doesn't he see that in the matter of general distribution, he may be said to have his share?

The Young Husband's Course Gently, but unmistakably, I think he should make it plain to his own relatives, once for all, that he cannot listen to any unkind criticism of his wife.

without allowing any family estrangements to develop. So that doubtless it will come to seem not a problem at all.

Paris, Jan. 9.—The Temps says it is able to state that President Wilson has officially informed Premier Clemenceau that he does not desire to be considered at the Peace Congress as the head of a state, but only as the prime minister of his state.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—All social features of the Republican national committee's meeting here to-morrow will be abandoned out of respect to Colonel Roosevelt, but the business sessions will be held as planned.

Republican women are to have headquarters in Chicago and their national executive committee will share the central offices which the Republican national committee will establish here.

The newspaper adds that when making known his desire to Premier Clemenceau President Wilson also informed the Premier concerning the detailed work the various American delegates to the congress would have assigned to them.
