

COURT UPHOLDS CABLE SEIZURE AS ACT OF WAR

No Peace Until Treaty Is Made, Says Judge Hand, in Decision

New York, Jan. 11.—The injunction suit brought by the Commercial Cable Company and the Commercial Pacific Cable Company to restrain Postmaster General Garrison from taking over for the government their respective cable lines and merging them with lines controlled by the Western Union Telegraph Company was dismissed yesterday by Federal Judge Learned Hand. Counsel for the companies announced an appeal would be taken.

Judge Hand decided the case on its merits, passing without decision the jurisdictional questions raised by the United States District Attorney, who contended the suit could not be maintained on the grounds that it was directed against the United States and in effect against the President.

Taking up the claims of plaintiffs that the seizure of the cable lines on November 11, 1918, was not justified by the joint resolution of July 16, 1918, authorizing the President to seize cables when he deemed it "necessary in the interest of national security and defense" and that the resolution itself was not a sufficient warrant for the seizure, Judge Hand decided both claims adversely.

Commenting on the contention of counsel for the cable companies that the "necessity" for seizure within the meaning of the joint resolution had terminated with the signing of the armistice, Judge Hand said: "The resolution expressly extends the powers until peace has been declared. Had they (Congress) intended that a suspension of hostilities should terminate the right, they would not have said precisely the contrary."

The right of Congress to authorize a seizure by the President, was justified by Judge Hand on the ground that, as commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the nation, the President was permitted by the constitution to hold either money or property to be used for the national defense.

Cable lines leading to the theaters of war were "obviously appropriate to the conduct of military operations," he declared.

"Even were the court to assume," the opinion continued, "that the powers were on a state of war still existed on November 16, 1918. It is the treaty which terminates the war. An armistice effects nothing but a suspension of hostilities. The war still continued. The President was still in command of the armed forces of the United States occupying enemy territory in Europe and Asiatic Russia. And by their conduct telegraphic communication was still vital."

History of World Played Out in Three Days, Former Imperial Chancellor Told Correspondent Shortly Before His Death; the New Germany Is to Be a Small Group of States

Paris, Jan. 11.—There is resentment against Prussia for having so badly steered the common ship," said Count Von Hertling, the former Imperial German chancellor three days before his death, in an interview with the correspondent of the Matin. "The new Germany," he said, "will comprise six or seven states, approximately equal in importance. Instead of Prussia we will see the state of Brandenburg and Pomerania, the state of Hanover and the Lower Elbe, the state of Westphalia, bound by federal ties to Bavaria, to Saxony and to Wurttemberg and itself united to the old Grand Duchy of Baden."

SHORT DAY DULL IN WALL STREET

Appointment of Walker D. Hines Fails to Stimulate the Stock Market

New York, Jan. 11.—Dullness prevailed in to-day's short session of the stock market, trading dwindling to less than half the usual total. Appointment of a new director-general of railroads failed to stimulate interest in transportation. Oils led the heavy issues at further declines of one to three points, associated oils proving the conspicuous exception.

Fry arrested him because he had a blanket under his coat, which he finally confessed he had taken from an automobile.

Moyer, Mifflin; George P. Reiter, Fair Haven; Ernest Saphoro, Boiling Springs; Clarence F. Orndorf, Millersburg, Pa.; Harvey Swope, Wells Tannery, Pa.; Robert B. Wetsel, Allentown, Pa.; William H. scenery and splendid electrical effects. The headliner of the bill the early part of next week is a dainty musical comedy offering, entitled, "Violet." Grouped around this attraction are: Wilbur and Lyke, variety entertainers; the Glocksers, novelty jugglers; Murray Bender, comedian, and Demarest and Doll, in a lively singing, talking and piano offering.

To-day S. H. Dudley, the well-known comedian, and his company will appear at the Orpheum Theatre. This attraction numbers twenty people, carries all scenery equipment and well-dressed chorus, a real musical hit with a strong olio of high-class numbers and feature acts. To the ones that offer a musical comedy, vaudeville show and minstrel they cannot afford to miss this one.

To-day is the last opportunity the many admirers of the dainty little star, Mae Marsh, will have of seeing their favorite in the annual latest success, "The Racing Strain." Miss Marsh is seen as the daughter of a Kentucky horseman, and is loved by two men. The usual complications that arise in her deciding between the two afford many humorous as well as tragic situations to this photoplay of human appeal.

Enrico Caruso, the man whose voice has made him famous wherever music is known, will appear at the Regent Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, in the West Coast play, "My Cousin." It is a charming little love story, in which the eminent singer takes a dual role. In it he plays the part of a poor Italian sculptor, who makes plaster busts, and of a great tenor, the cousin of the sculptor.

Mrs. Margaret Turnbull, the well-known screen writer, has written the scenario for this first picture. The most commanding figure in the operatic world to-day is Mr. Caruso, the greatest tenor of the world. This artist of the New York Metropolitan Opera Company, Mr. Caruso is a capable dramatic actor as well as a singer. His genius for dramatic portrayals qualifies him especially for screen work. In this picture is a vision that should not be missed by those who love art for art's sake.

Virginia Pearson, popular and famous screen beauty, will appear at the Regent Theatre. At the later to-day in one of her Victoria latest films, "Buchanan's Wife." This picture was only completed late in the fall and has only recently been released, affording the audience an opportunity to see the well-known film celebrity in what is declared to be one of her best pictures. Houdini, the Great, in the third chapter of the startling and sensational serial, "The Master Mystery," thrilled hundreds of movie patrons yesterday at the Victoria and should draw the same crowds today. This remarkable screen serial is without doubt becoming one of the most-talked-of film plays ever shown in this city. It isn't "up on" the story and seals it each week, you're behind the times.

ARGENTINA CITY SCENE OF STRIFE IN GREAT STRIKE

Battles Between Toolers and Police in Progress in Buenos Aires

Buenos Aires, Jan. 11.—At 6 o'clock last night battles between strikers and police were raging all parts of the city. There was particularly sharp conflict in front of the post office. If the fight spreads in this district it probably will be necessary to close the capital.

Several attempts were made last night to capture the first district police station, one block from American consulate. It is impossible at this time to make any calculation of the number of casualties.

General Delleplaine, commander of the forces opposing the strike, has assumed a military dictatorship and has taken over all the forces of the government. This action, it is explained, in no wise constitutes a measure unopposed to President Irigoyen.

General Delleplaine's assumption of dictatorial powers followed two previous attempts by strikers to capture police headquarters. He assumed the functions of the ministers of war, the navy and the interior, making himself supreme commander. His supporters say he is exerting all the forces at his disposal to end the strike.
