Bavarian Premier Calms Rioters in Munich; Is on Many Tickets For Offices

By Associated Press

Munich, Jan. 13.—Kurt Eisner, the Eavarian premier, is taking no chances of defeat in the elections for the national assembly and is entered as the Independence candidate in thirty-two districts.

The Munich cabinet went into temporary hiding when Spartacans arrived to demand the release of two imprisoned Bolsheviki. When they threatened to force the building, Premier Eisner projected his head from a window and succeeded in calming the rioters.

"I would rather die than be forced to admit that civil war is prevailing in Munich," he said.
