EXPECT PRICES ON SOFT COAL AND COKE TO DROP

Fuel Administrator Expects This Change as Zone System Is Cut

Washington, Jan. 18.—Fuel administration officials expect a decrease in the price of bituminous coal and coke to result from an order yesterday discontinuing maximum prices on the commodities and the unusually fill weather this winter, made it possible to maintain existing maximum prices, officials said. At price for bituminous coal has been eliminating the zone system of their well below the maximum and it it was intimated that this situation largely influenced Fuel Administrator Garfield in removing the restrictions.

Cold Storage Report of Commissioner Foust Shows
Interesting Facts

The largest amount of beef and pork held in cold storage in recent years, at this time of the year, is shown in the quarterly cold storage report of Dairy and Food Commissioner James Foust of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, for December 31. The stock of eggs, butter and poultry in storage is about normal for the season.

The report shows that on December 31 the 56 warehouses holding cold storage licenses contained 4.692,835 pounds of beef as compared with 1,431,686 pounds a year ago. There were 3,237,480 pounds of pork as compared with 922,735 pounds in storage a year ago. Beef has increased from 2,713,013 pounds on October 1 while pork has shown a slight decrease from three months.

Ever Kick a Battery to Pieces?

Of course you wouldn't do it intentionally. No good driver would.

But a lot of experienced drivers of trucks and passenger cars have kicked their batteries to pieces without even knowing it by banging on the starting button when the motor didn't take hold at once.

Perhaps the trouble was just thick oil. Maybe water had accumulated in the Possibly a connection had worked loose. But whatever it was the battery had to suffer.

You can get far longer life from your battery, and incidentally from your whole car if you'll always be sure where the trouble is and correct it just as soon as you locate it.

Mayo Would Not Convert Battleships

Into Transports

Philadelphia, Jan. 17.—Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander of the American Atlantic fleet throughout Henry T. Mayo, commander of the American Atlantic fleet throughout its active service in war, speaking last night before the fourteenth annual Poor Richard Club Franklin day banquet, questioned the wisdom of converting battleships into transperts to bring men back from France. "Armistice does not spell peace," he declared. "If this great war ends without difficulties following, it will be different from any other war and we may need our battleships at any time. The idea that the only thing to do now is to get the boys back quick is all wrong. The matter is settled now, and we must leave the direction of these matters to wiser heads than mine, but this making of the battleships over into transports I very much regret.

"If you know how great a task it is to get a battleship prepared for war and to train and equip a crew, you would know how terrible a blow it is to the navy to have two-thirds of the crews taken off the ships and have them torn apart and sent to transporting soldiers."

The admiral paid high tribute to the men who stayed at home and trained the men who went over into service.
