

ARM MEN OF STATE TO MEET IN CONVENTION

eat Agricultural Association to Plan for New Year Here

King Soil, and his projects, will very much on the stage at Harrisburg this week, for it is the occasion of the third annual state farm products show, continuing January 22, 23, 24, at the Emerson-Brantingham building in this city. The week will also mark the annual meeting of an imposing number of agricultural organizations, all concerned in furthering the making of Pennsylvania into the leading state of producers, among the organizations being: State Board of Agriculture, Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction, Pennsylvania Breeders and Dairymen's Association, State Horticultural Association of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania State Poultry Association, Pennsylvania Potato Growers Association, Pennsylvania Bee Keepers' Association, Pennsylvania State Veterinary Medical Association, Pennsylvania Sheep Breeders and Wool Growers Association, More Shepherds Wool Association of United States, Pennsylvania Holsteinian Association.

Prime feature of this session will be the first appearance of Governor William C. Sproul, who by act of Legislature, is head of the executive members of the Pennsylvania Board of Agriculture. The other members of this board are Paul Dick, retiring secretary of inter-affairs; Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, superintendent of public instruction; Edwin Erie Sparks, president of the College; Charles A. Snyder, secretary general, and Charles E. Patton, secretary of agriculture. The program call for the new Governor to open proceedings at 9 a. m. Wednesday at Chestnut Street Hall. On Tuesday evening at the Board of Agriculture, Mr. Sproul will appear, Mr. Sproul speaking on agricultural possibilities for Pennsylvania, and ex-Governor Brumby following with an address on the subject of agriculture.

The Board of Trade meeting is to be a joint session including all associations with Charles E. Patton presiding and giving out prizes to winners of boy's corn judging contest. A feature of this session will be the address by Thomas P. Gore, S. Senator, Oklahoma. Every person interested in agriculture is invited to attend this meeting.

On Thursday night, also at the Board of Trade auditorium, another of these joint sessions takes place, with Chester J. Tyson, chairman, addresses by Lou D. Sweet, U. S. Food Administrator, and by George M. Rommel, chief of Bureau of Animal Husbandry, who will talk on "Live Stock and the War and Impression of Agricultural Conditions in Europe."

On completion of the new Parris Hotel will be a boon to the thousands of visitors to this annual convention, as testified by the fact that it will be headquarters for the exhibitors and Dairymen's Association, the State Veterinary Medical Association and the Bee Keepers' Association. Fahnstock Hall will be utilized by the Potato Growers and the Horticultural Association will hold session at the Board of Trade.

Secretary Patton has so arranged program that all persons can take part in the deliberations of the allied state agricultural associations which will assemble. The session is, judging by requests for reserve rooms, that it will be by odds the most consequential of the sessions ever held.

farmers of Central Pennsylvania have an opportunity to have samples of milk thoroughly tested for butter fat and sediment; contents of the show. The Interstate Milk Driers' Association will have an expert tester who will give public demonstrations with the Babcocker. All farmers interested in knowing the proportion of butter fat to the true market value of his milk, are invited to bring samples, not less than a pint, to be tested of charge. Farmers in erected certain cows in their herds can get individual samples, as well as sample from the entire herd. In addition to the butter fat test, the ment tests will show the amount dirt and foreign matter in the milk.

The week is going to be one of the most important in agricultural lines held in Pennsylvania. During Tuesday, Thursday and Friday there will be meetings of ten state products show will be the largest of its kind ever held in state. The milk tests will be Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

3rd Annual State Farm Products Show

EMERSON-BRANTINGHAM BUILDING, TENTH AND MARKET STREETS

JANUARY 21, 22, 23, 24, 1919

The lid flew off to-day at the Emerson-Brantingham building in Market street, just beyond the Reading station, when twenty-five tractor exhibitors arrived with their machines and set them up on the spacious floors which were already filling with produce of the state; apples from the Tyson Brothers; sheep from State College; eggs by the thousand; corn, canned fruits and, in brief, all the soil products of the great producing Keystone state.

Undoubtedly the tractor show will be of vast importance, following as it does the tests made here some months ago. Last year but 1,109 tractors were in use. This year it is expected that 2,200 will be hustling through the soil, and the recent improvements are so remarkable that a farmer can buy one of these demons of the soil and sell all his horses, with safety.

The Tyson apple folk of Floradale, Adams county, make a specialty of tractor adjuncts, discs, harrows, etc. And these additional helpers sound the death knell of Friend Horse as a necessity to farm products.

The great hall will be open to the public to-night and a beautiful sight it is, with thousands of national banners emblazoning the walls. The presence of many visitors to the inauguration insures the biggest attendance ever known.

Every county in the state is represented and the interest in tractors is perhaps, the prime one. It has been proved now that the soil of this state is particularly fitted for the mechanical cultivators, and so all leading types of machines are on view. The prices of the clod busters vary from $850 to $2,000. Some of them look like the army trench tanks; they are almost human, seeding and cultivating as well as turning up the sod. The Emerson-Brantingham exhibits are in direct charge of Charles E. Patton, Department of Agriculture; E. K. Hibshman and H. E. Klugh.

The following is a list of the farm tractor and implement exhibitors at the big show:

Overland-Harrisburg Company, Oliver Chilled Plow Company, Walter S. Schell, J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company, Harrisburg Auto Company, International Harvester Company, Huber Manufacturing Company, Keystone Tractor and Implement Company, Emerson-Brantingham Company, Frick Company, Schmalz & Co., J. P. Stofius & Company, John Deere Plow Company, Crispin Motor Car Company, Landis Brothers.

This Is It— The Wonderful Moline Universal Tractor

The Tractor every farmer is talking about and the one you will eventually buy—why not buy it now? It is really the only practical Tractor that does all field work that horses will do, including cultivating, and does it all from the seat of the implement—the only proper way to do good work.

More Speed—More Power—More Work

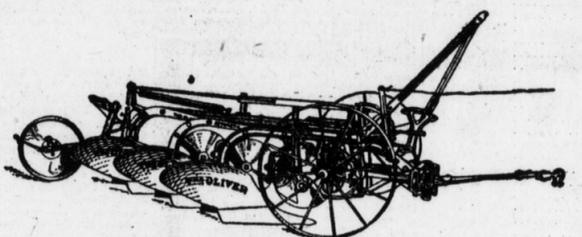

Buy a Moline Tractor Now—Get An Early Delivery

Do not consider the purchase of a tractor from a PRICE standpoint only—you buy a tractor not because of its price but as a business investment that must replace horses, save those hundreds of dollars of feed bills, save your physical strength, do more work in less time, make your farming a pleasure instead of a burden. The "MOLINE" is a real profitable investment.

Better Plowing Secures Results

The plow that does more and better plowing is worth more. The Oliver No. 78 Tractor Plow—built to stand the rough usage in our eastern conditions, does better plowing, lasts longer—is worth more.

Perfect seed bed depends on quality plowing. Oliver plows have established quality plowing—soil experts are unanimous in their praise of Oliver plows, knowing that perfect seed bed preparation is possible only with the use of Oliver plows.

The Oliver Tractor Disc Harrow is an important factor in the final preparation of your seed bed. It is actually a tractor harrow—built heavy to stand the work you require of it—weight and special construction of design give you great penetration in the most difficult conditions.

It will be a pleasure to see you at our exhibit at the Pennsylvania State Farm Products Show, Tenth and Market Streets, January 21, 22, 23 and 24, 1919.
