

A Recognition and an Obligation

The Penn-Harris hotel is completed and is Harrisburg's last word of evidence as to its progress and enterprise.

It has been made possible by the determination of the financial and business interests of the city to redeem its hotel reputation, and create a factor which will contribute immensely and directly to the welfare, prosperity and comfort of every citizen.

It therefore deserves RECOGNITION on the part of every single inhabitant of the city. That recognition implies a responsibility or OBLIGATION.

The Penn-Harris is conceded to be the final word in hotel architecture and magnificence in equipment and decoration, and therefore surpassing any other hotel in the State. Harrisburg can therefore be proud of the accomplishment of its citizens who have made it possible for the city to enjoy this reputation.

As a financial success, under the operation of the United Hotels Company, the Penn-Harris promises to be a good investment. The financial, business and banking interests, representing large subscriptions to the stock, of $5,000.00, $10,000.00, $25,000.00, $50,000.00, and in several cases of $80,000.00, evidence the faith of large investors as to the financial outcome for the stockholders.

When the purchase of stock for the erection of this monument was put before the people of Harrisburg, they responded nobly.

But before the required amount was subscribed money was needed by Uncle Sam for the pursuit of the war; and officers and directors of the Hotel Company, in a spirit of patriotism, ceased activity in the sale of stock.

Now that the war is over, all patriotic citizens should turn their thoughts and efforts toward the community.

$100,000 is needed to complete the payments to the contractor and for equipment and furnishings.

If the same "get-together" spirit of co-operation and support, moral, physical and financial, is given to this enterprise as has been given in connection with the raising of war funds during the past two years, Harrisburg will quickly go over the top in this case which is as vital to the community as the others have been to the country. And we believe that every Harrisburger is as loyal to the one as to the other.

Therefore, this appeal is made to those, who, for any reason have not had the opportunity to join in the enterprise, or have not yet made a decision in the matter. Likewise, the appeal is made to those who are already identified as stockholders, to increase their subscriptions, as others have done in large amounts.

The present occasion is one which appeals to the civic pride, public interest, and civic welfare, as well as the matter of investment.

There are many who will be glad to be identified, if only to the extent of $100.00. The building will be finally completed within the next month, by which time the entire amount must be raised. A prompt response from the public generally is therefore requested. It is the desire of the Officers and Directors of the Harrisburg Hotel Company to make the enterprise a popular expression of the people of Harrisburg, rather than a few large subscriptions. In no other instance has a public necessity so largely demanded the co-operation of all its citizens. No other factor can or will contribute so largely to the benefit of the entire city. The enterprise merits as large a subscription as you feel able to make.

The shares are each $50.00, and there is but one class of stock. Payments can be made in four equal monthly payments. Send your application to the undersigned President, or Secretary, by mail, or subscriptions will be received in person by the Secretary, W. M. Ogelsby at the Commonwealth Trust Company
