FRANCE'S WOMEN Prominent Women Who Ma nage "Ole Cloes" Shop in New York's Fifth Avenue District

MRS CHARLES & WHITMAN

Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, wife of the former governor of New York, might not want it to be put that way but she is in the "cle closs" business. The facts are these. She is manager of what a number of prominent women call their "reclamation shop," just opened in the heart of New York's Fifth Avenue district. Associated with her is Mrs. Stanley Lyman Otis. Their purpose is to impress upon women that they must not forget the economies made necessary by wartime conditions. The text of this latter resolution reads:

"In violation of the primitive law of humanity thousands of women and girls, even children, of all social conditions have been systematically torn from their families, submitted to inhuman tortures and treated as slaves.

"With broken and bleeding hearts, we women of France and the Allied countries come before the pence congress to ask justice in the name of our martyred sisters. To prevent a recurrence of similar atrocities, we ask that those who have directed them and ordered them may be condemned as criminals."

Another resolution was adopted setting forth the work women diduring the war and demanding that women "claim their place in all future institutions of the league of nations in legislative and executive branches of governments."

Mr. Isaac Miller, General Agent, General Accident.

It gives me great pleasure to add my testimony to that of many others in this vicinity who have had occasion to make claims under accident policies carried in the General Accident.

The accident which caused my disability occurred on June 30, 1917, since which time you have paid me twentyseven hundred and ninety-six dollars. The final payment was made today and I wish to state that during this time I have received the most courteous and kindly treatment from the representatives of the "General."

Very truly yours,
