Teaching of English Is Important, Says McGinnis

Superintendent J. E. McGinnis, of Steelton, and Dr. David Snedden, of Columbia University, were speakers at the morning session of the Harrisburg Teachers' Institute held in the Technical High school auditorium this morning. Superintendent McGinnis spoke on "Teaching of English," in which he outlined new methods of instruction. He emphasized the value of enunciation in reading.

Dr. Snedden gave an interesting address on "The Need of Restatement of Aims of Secondary Education."

"Education for Citizenship" was the subject of Dr. Snedden's delivered at last night's session. He demanded higher wages for teachers and criticized the citizenry for failing to recognize the importance of their duties. Superintendent McGinnis made an address on "The Type of School Patriotism Demanded by Present World Conditions," urging that civic pride and kindred essentials be taught the pupils. At last night's session the High school chorus sang and selections were given by the Junior Glee Club, Miss Edna Chavira, Steele and Miss Elizabeth Brown.

America Without Voice in Big Labor Meeting

Berne, Switzerland, Jan. 25.—The absence of American representatives at the International Socialist and Labor Conference, assembling here, has caused comment among the delegates now on the scene. Camille Huysmans, secretary of the Socialist revolution, was outspoken in his criticism of the State Department at Washington for withholding passports from Americans who wished to attend the conference.

When it was suggested that William English Walling and Charles Edward Russell were already in Europe, Mr. Huysmans replied: "They are no longer representative of the American Socialists because they have broken with the party."

French Government to Curb Paris Strike

By Associated Press

Paris, Jan. 25.—The French government is about to take a hand in the general transportation strike which was declared in Paris yesterday, affecting the subway lines, the surface cars and automobile bus lines. It has decided to requisition virtually the entire transportation system of the city—the north and south metropolitan system (the subway), the streetcar and the omnibus company of Paris and the Seine.

This action, it is stated, is to be taken because the Government considers it inadvisable that even a partial stoppage of the means of transportation in Paris should occur.

BRITISH PLAN OF NATIONS LEAGUE BECOMES KNOWN

Provides Machinery For the Handling of International Disputes

By Associated Press

Paris, Jan. 25.—The much discussed British plan for a league of nations, which has just been completed, can now be outlined in concrete form to the people of the United States for the first time.

The following details, unofficial and subject of alteration, represent in substance the plan that will be laid before the peace conference.

The main feature of the league provided for in the plan will be the establishment of machinery for handling international disputes. This will be based on an agreement among the members of the league not to interfere with the territorial integrity of states, or to permit others to interfere with them.

Would Aid New States

The rendering of assistance and guidance to new and undeveloped states to maintain friendly relations between the members of the league are some of the principal aims to be accomplished by the league.

A permanent secretariat for the league would be presided over by a man of European authority and experience sitting at the capital of the league, and work in close co-operation with the league if the effort to promote international cooperation is to be successful.

The British plan provides for general control of the league, and for all nations members of the league and for a smaller international executive council for the transaction of ordinary business.

A permanent secretariat for the league would be presided over by a man of European authority and experience sitting at the capital of the league, and work in close co-operation with the league if the effort to promote international cooperation is to be successful.

Disputes for settlement are divided into two classes—justiciable and nonjusticiable—and each state will be the final judge as to whether a dispute is justiciable or not.

The establishment of a permanent court of international justice for the settlement of justiciable disputes is proposed, and until it is created a court of arbitration is suggested. Either a council or a conference of the league is thought to be the proper organ for the consideration of nonjusticiable quarrels.

Argument List Scheduled by Court For Feb. 10

Bail totaling $1,000 was entered by Harry M. Bretz in the four cases in which he has been convicted of embezzlement as attorney, but for whom motions for new trials are pending. The bail entered is for his appearance February 10. No explanation was given for the reason for fixing the date of appearance next month, but attorneys believe the court may act at that time on the motions for new trials.

In two other cases bail was furnished. In one case bail was $25,000 for Third street changes and similar amounts will be called for on other streets bounding the park. The $250,000 is to be devoted to the improvement of the park and the Allison Hill bluff parts of the bridge. Eventually, the park extension and Memorial bridge will make the city an unequalled State capital.

It is a matter of some of the far seeing citizens of Harrisburg to regulate the construction of buildings fronting on Capitol park just as is being done on the Philadelphia Parkway. Evidence seems to be accumulating that the plan for the Capitol park extension is a good one.

Sproul program to be constructive not only in the matter of legislation, but in a material sense as well. Not only will the bills to be presented by the Commonwealth call for reorganization of various branches of the State government in the interest of efficiency, according to what has been learned here, but there will be an effort made to push road building and other public works.

Some share of State funds whereby the men in charge may be assured of a stipulated amount, based on mileage or other considerations, just like the millions of State money are given to school districts.

One of the propositions in which the new governor took a big interest within a day or so after his inauguration was the centralizing of State offices as the commonwealth can construct buildings the State Board of Public Buildings, the State Insurance Department chief examiner's office and other branches of the State government will be moved here from Philadelphia, while offices located in other places will be brought here. Governor Sproul, however, does not intend to bring these offices to Harrisburg, but to let the people and the place is found for them. The State offices are scattered through a number of buildings around Harrisburg, some not convenient, others fronting on Capitol park. The plans approved by the Capitol park extension have places for two office buildings to be located just east of the north and south wings and connected by corridors. These are to form a part of the central court and it would surprise not one here knowing the interest of the new governor in the grouping of offices here and for going ahead with the Capitol plans after a lapse of a dozen years to see foundations started while the land scaping is under way. The new governor approved the Capitol park plans, which include the Memorial bridge, in his inaugural address.

FOOD BILL NOW READ TO PASS TO CONFERENCE

Senate Last Night Passed the Measure by a Vote of 53 to 18

By Associated Press

Paris, Jan. 25.—Sergeus Sazonoff, representing the governments of Omak and inveterate, to-day spoke as follows concerning conditions surrounding his country:

"There is only one possible way of settling the Russian question. It is not suggested by any Russian who might be accused of partiality, but by such unbiased men as the Noulens (former French Ambassador to Russia) and M. Scavenius (Danish Minister to Russia), both of whom were interrogated by the conference and pronounced themselves in favor of military intervention."

"We know that the Powers do not wish to make a new campaign into Russia. We go so far as to admit the justice of the reasons guiding the Powers in this attitude, but it is because of the Russian situation that there is only one remedy for overcoming Bolshevism and preventing its spread outside Russia, namely, to crush it by force. We ask the Powers to use force."

"We do not even ask from the Powers any financial assistance, assistance, as the governments already constituted, of which I represent two over 40,000,000 people will float a loan which undoubtedly will be well received, as everyone knows the immense resources of Russia, which with such a loan will be able to regain its position as one of the principal features in the world's activity."

Washington, Jan. 25.—The administration bill appropriating $100,000,000 for food relief in Europe and the near East, which was read to the Senate last night, passed the measure by a vote of 53 to 18. The fund was requested by President Wilson as a means of checking the spread of Bolshevism.

The most important Senate amendment changed the House section against feeding enemy peoples so that nationalities friendly to the United States and allies may be aided. All amendments designed to limit the power of President Wilson or Food Administrator Hoover in distribution of the fund were rejected.

On the final rollcall, fifteen Republicans and three Democrats voted against the bill's passage, while thirty-four Democrats and nineteen Republicans joined in its support.

Opponents of the bill made a final stand to-day, with Senators La Follette, of Wisconsin; Borah, of Idaho; and Sherman, of Illinois, Republicans, leading the fight. Senators Knox, of Pennsylvania; and Rhodes, of Rhode Island, and Smith, of Michigan, spoke in support of the appropriation.

Senator La Follette vigorously said the bill was neither a war, peace, nor a loan bill, but a declaration of war against the "horns and hoofs of beef trust" could be seen through the bill's "mantle of charity." Declaring the unemployment situation in America "grave and menacing," Mr. La Follette said government resources should be used for American problems rather than to aid European peoples.

elections. To enable early action the Senate will probably start the bill going during the coming week.

It is not known just what Harrisburg will be called upon to pay in its share of the park extension program. The first allowance was $25,000 for Third street changes and similar amounts will be called for on other streets bounding the park.

Yankee Miners See Villa Wipe Out Old Grudge Against Partner

Juarez, Mex., Jan. 25.—American mining men were forced by Francisco Villa to witness the hanging of Antonio Cabello, former Mayor of Santa Anita, Chihuahua, Wednesday morning, when Villa occupied the mining town, looted the safes of the mining companies, robbed the stores and houses of Americans and departed after killing four Federal soldiers and capturing the remaining thirty-one.

Details of the raid were brought here last night by passengers from Chihuahua. Villa had 600 men, they said. The hanging of the ex-Mayor was the result of a grudge Villa held against him since they were partners in the cattle business.

State Appropriations to Hospitals and Charity to Be Closely Watched

By Associated Press

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—It was authoritatively stated here that state appropriations to hospitals and charitable institutions receiving state funds will be closely scrutinized by the present administration. The amount of free service rendered will be the basis or test for fixing the amounts that will be appropriated to the various institutions.

The State Board of Public Charities has completed an investigation of all institutions and is about ready to make a report in which it will deal with the question of free service rendered.

PROHIBITION HABIT IS SIMPLE MATTER

the prices in hotels and restaurants where drink was served will hop up considerably. The managers will feel they are entitled to make up the loss by raising the price of food and fares will be presented. The big change has been threatening for some time and it is noticed that many patrons are staying away, getting in triage for prohibition. One hotel found that in the last month 77 per cent. of its business was restaurant and 23 from drinks, which was a big change from three months ago.

One man pointed out that although the hotel rates are bound to go up the patrons will stay because they will save what they would have paid for liquor. "Somewhat puzzling to the cooking department of the local hotels is how they will get along without certain liquors which are supposed to be essential in certain dishes, sherry, port, maraschino and ale being beverages heretofore much in use. It is believed the gourmet who has been accustomed to these delicacies will be the most poignant sufferer."

The great Penn-Harris is less concerned than any other, for prohibition was obligatory there before even the stock was subscribed. When Manager Wiggins first arrived he glanced with a wink of remorse toward the spot where the night club had been located but quickly recovered to say: "The eating accommodations and auxiliaries will be no less attractive than the bar will not be missed."

It is proposed now to have, among other diversions to take the place of the bar, a tea room in the huge lounge parlor. The recent dinners proved to be a success. Wiggins, a music community singing and a general atmosphere of home readily make up for the loss of beverage, and this loss was not felt at all, as the patrons were well satisfied with the promise of the hostelry paying ten per cent.

For unrestrained joy the moving picture men have the center of the stage in Harrisburg and just as soon as the saloon's chief enemy. This has been particularly noticeable in small towns, where, prior to the inauguration of the movie theater, there was not much to do for entertainment, and the saloon had things pretty much its own way.

With the coming of the movie theater, which offers clean and wholesome amusement to the whole family for the price of a man's evening drink, many men have been quick to choose the better entertainment, and to take their families along. That being true, the converse is true, too—movie theater and saloon have been rivals with the theater, the best of it generally; but with the elimination of the saloon, the theater is left in complete possession of the field.

Theater are exceedingly properous in prohibition territory.

Tells of Tragic Death of Tank Crew in the Argonne

New York, Jan. 25.—Sergeant Paul S. Bender, of Washington, D. C., who was attached to the Three Hundred and Twenty-seventh Tank Battalion, was one of the passengers on the Accomac, which arrived here yesterday. He told of the tragic deaths of James McKiea Whitney, of Morristown, N. J., and James Casey, of Waterbury, Conn., crew of a tank, on October 1, in the Argonne. The enemy got in two direct hits on their tank shortly after it went over the top that morning, destroying it.

In describing the work of the small tanks used by the Three Hundred and Twenty-seventh Tank Battalion, Sergeant Bender said:

"The battalion of 150 tanks was well under way when the Goches got two direct hits on Whitney's tank. The tank blew up and both men were mangled."

"On the morning of October 1, at daybreak, we went over the top in the Argonne. James M. Whitney, of Morristown, N. J., and James Casey, of Waterbury, Conn., crew of a tank No. 2396, were up in front, Whitney as driver and Casey as gunner."
