

GOVERNOR HEARS ABOUT EXPENSE

Has Meeting With Heads of Departments on Deficiencies and Reasons Therefor

Heads of departments of the state government to-day explained to Governor Sprout reasons for items in the general deficiency bill which is now on the Governor's desk and carrying $781,311.12 and also discussed various matters of policy in their branches of the government with him.

Some of the chiefs explained that the items they asked were to meet deficits caused by reductions in the 1917 general appropriation bill by Governor Brumbaugh. The fiscal of-icers pointed out in several instances where the cut in the bill made by the late Governor during his ax-wielding two years ago had embarrassed them very much, especially in allowances for postage and clerks.

The final hearing in the water company classification for the State Public Service Commission was held in Pittsburgh to-day.

The Public Service Commission to-day approved a grade crossing application for the Baltimore and Ohio in the borough of Hays.

March 4 was to-day designated by Governor Sprout as the date for holding the special election in the Westmoreland-Butler congressional district for selection of a successor to the late Congressman E. E. Robbins. The plan is for the Republican conference to meet in Pittsburgh on February 18.

The Westmoreland congressional committee will meet on the fifteenth to select the members. There will be special senatorial elections in Delaware and Dauphin counties on February 25.

Governor Sprout will meet the Governors of New Jersey and Delaware in Philadelphia on February 14 for a general discussion of Delaware river matters of interest to the three states, including waterways, bridges, toll bridges, fisheries and all other propositions which may arise.

This is the first conference of the kind ever arranged by a Governor. Lieutenant-Governor Edward E. Beldeman to-day accepted the chairmanship of the Armenian Relief Committee for Pennsylvania. The executive just announced includes Governor Sprout, Highway Commissioner Sadler, Banking Commissioner John S. Fisher and Colonel H. C. Trexler.

First Lieutenant R. H. Hoffman, Naticoke, was to-day promoted to be captain of Company C, 2d Infantry, Reserve Militia.

CENTRAL HIGH NOTES

Important Assembly

Three o'clock assembly was held yesterday for the purpose of placing before the school several questions which it is necessary to settle. Professor Severance turned the beginning of the meeting over to Professor Saul, athletic director for Central, who showed by actual figures that the High school basketball games were not well enough attended to net a sufficient amount to cover expenses. He made a plea for well-attended games, for an interest in the team and the assurance of support so that the games may be continued. He asked that every one for whom it was possible should attend the games to-night when he held between the halves of the Central Girls vs. Williamsport Girls, the junior boys and the senior boys will compete for the school championship. Dellone's Orchestra will furnish music for dancing after the game.

Professor Severance's Views

Professor Severance then spoke to the students explaining that although at the beginning of the season the question as to whether or not there should be a girls basketball team was not brought before the student body he had taken it for granted that all the students would co-operate should he permit one to be formed. When asked if they wished the team to be kept and games continued the vote was unanimously "yes." Professor Severance further stated that to-night would be the deciding game, if it is well attended games shall be continued, if not some other action must be taken.

Argus Campaign

Carl Stoner, editor-in-chief of the Argus staff, speaking concerning the staff for next year. All but one member of the present staff are seniors and this will necessitate an entire new staff for next year. How they will be chosen has not been decided, but merit will count a great deal and Editor Stoner urged that contributions should be given for the two Argus' to be published this year, so that students may be judged by their work. He also called their attention to the campaign started by the Argus to secure the names of graduates and ex-students of Central for the honor roll, and service flag and appointed various committees to carry out his plan. The public general is also called upon to submit names so that the stars in the service flag may be increased to their proper number and due respect given the sons and daughters of Central who have so nobly served Uncle Sam.

Cheer Practice

Under the direction of George Pulus cheer and songs were given by the generosity of Professor Severance time is being given for cheers and it is doing a great deal to arouse school spirit.

LOYSVILLE BABY IN OLD CRADLE

Ten Generations of Family Have Been Rocked in Walnut Bed

Loysville, Pa., Feb. 7.—Ten generations of her forebears having been rocked to sleep while cuddling within its roomy confines, Baby Mary Virginia Poose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Poose, of near Loysville, is heretofore finding solid comfort in a stately old walnut cradle which came into the Rice family, the family of her mother, 170 years ago.

The child was born in November, but not until several days ago did the mother feel the need for a cradle for the little girl. Then she remembered that the old relic was reposing in the attic and soon the baby girl was being rocked to sleep in it, after it had enjoyed a furlough of more than two decades. The cradle was not new when purchased by the Rice family 170 years ago, and it is not known how many generations of other families were rocked to sleep in it before it came into their ownership. It is of walnut stock and is in a perfect state of preservation.
