McGraw went all the way down there, and as final argument whispered to "Slim" that the Anti-Saloon League was going to place the ban qn tobacco as they had on rum, and that in an-other year or so he would leave him-self open to arrest for raising the weed. Even this failed to move Sallee, so the Glants will have , to worry, along as best they can without him. "Tommy" Bobsen, the hard-bitting

Dempsey-Willard Battle to Be Preceded by Army and Navy Bout

Army and navy bound An army-navy boxing cham-pionship bout as the preliminary to the proposed title bout be-tween Jess Willard, champion, and Jack Dempsey, challenger, is the plan of Promoter Tex Rick-ard. The western promoter fx-pects to make arrangements for the service bout and is now sounding official sentiment for the purpose of ascertaining if such a contest would be sanc-tioned. tioned.

tioned. • Rickard plans to hang up a purse of $10,000 for the nation's fighters to strive for. The leading boxers of both branches of the service, here and abroad, would be selected through an elimina-tion process. It is planned to con-fluct a tournament in both the army and navy before the date of the "big" match, in which both purps of the nation's fighting servalong as best they can without him. "Tommy" Robson, the hard-hitting Massachusetts fighter, who was bested by Harry Greb in Cleveland last Fri-day night, expresses the opinion that "Jack" Dempsey is the only man in the glove game who can knock out the Garfield streak. "I pride myself that I have a pretty good kick in my right hand," said Robson, "but if you watched me fight Greb, you noticed I had few chances to use that fist and when I du, I was unable to hit him Greb, I du, and there is only one Greb, I du, and there is only one for a man of my hit would be easy for a man of my hit would be easy for a man of my hit would be tame against him up when him the dataling against him sright three times before and thought fly would be tame against his right when from Sound at hen hand him the dataling in and then hand him the dataling a which all eft would flash and I would take it twice without giving him even a jab. The next time I would bring a wild, awkward right swing frôm somewhere behind him and chop me with it. He did not hurt me, but never before did anyone hit me so often and get away without any dam-age to speak of. Now the question is: 'How does he do it?' How can any man of his weight dance and leap and keep on top of you the way he does without becoming exhausted? And he can go twenty rounds the same way. He is the biggest freak in the ring, and I know the only way I will ever be able to beat him is to land a hay-maker and with him sprawling all over me I don't see how I can do ti way for the count." down again there was perdition to pay. Once more the ring was swept thoroughly. The two wrestlers, punctured in 70 places, declared themselves too badly injured to proceed, and another pair of fakirs climbed in. For the third time "Tim" Hurst distributed the tacks, and this time there was a riot that took in aimost everybody except the grianing projector of the mis-siles.

the grinning projector of the ma-siles. When the show broke up and we started for the exit, we looked back, and saw, at the far end of the hall, the promoter and his partners, wildly gesticulating, and trying to fend off a bunch of huge men, wild with pain and rage, who were alternately rubbing the pierc-ed spots and shaking, their masky hands in the faces of the innocent promoters. Some evening!

Blue in a position to annex the in-tercollegiate championship this year. Princeton is leading the lea-gue at the present time, but the Tigers have only played one game, that with the weak Columbia five. The game with Columbia was not hard enough to show the strength of the Princeton five, and comment on their prospects this year must be reserved until she meets either Penn or Yale. Pennsylvania And Yale are now deadlocked for second place with two victories and one defeat charged against the two fives. – The Red and Blue five displayed its true caliber on Saturday night, but it took them one whole half to strike their right stride. Playing like any average team of mediocre ability in the first twendy minutes of play, the Quakers showed a com-plete reversal of form in the sec-ond half, and, by raining field goal after field goal through the net, mix-ed in with a couple of fouls by Swee-ney, liiterly swept the Blue team off their feet until a comfortable lead was obtained. From then on it was all Penn.
