

TROOPS FACING ARTIC WINTER

Yanks in Russia Sleep With Guns to Help Them Thawed Out

With American Forces in Northern Russia, Feb. 10. — One night spent in field headquarters of the American command holding the Elmta river front near Kadish (since abandoned) illustrated the difficulties which the troops faced in this desolate region in an Arctic winter.

Field headquarters were in a tiny rough hewn log cabin, thatched with a roof of spruce boughs and heated by a home made stove. Outside, in the forest, the troops, sheltered only by lean-to's of boughs, shivered around camp fires in the snow. Inside the hut were a few cots, a rough table and a field telephone.

The cold wind whistled through the chinks in the logs, and came up through cracks in the floor. The officers "turned in" early, wrapped in all the blankets and overcoats they could get.

Down along the banks of the ice-filled Elmta river, a hundred yards from the Bolshevik lines, American outposts stamped their boots on the frozen swamp ground in the brush, unable to build fires for fear of snipers.

PEACE PROBLEMS SLOW UP MARKET

Unsettled Conditions Cause Slow Movement of May Issues

New York, Feb. 10. — Problems arising from peace conditions commanded increased recognition in last week's dull and lower securities market. Poor statements of earnings, lower dividends, labor disturbances and further heavy federal expenditures were outstanding developments.

Coming on the heels of the cut in United States Steel, the reduced disbursement to American Smelting shareholders directed further attention to the state of the metal industry and cast doubt on the stability of many other industrial dividends.

This was accentuated by the report of the Midvale Steel and Steel Foundries Companies, the latter showing reduced earnings of almost fifty per cent. for 1918. That forthcoming statements of related companies will disclose similar depreciation is regarded by Wall Street as inevitable.

Transportations of the better class marked time, but low grade or speculative issues evinced none of their recent strength and activity. Reasons for the weakness in shipings were furnished by the sweeping cut in rates.

FIRST BILL CUT BY GOVERNOR

Deficiency Measure Trimmed to Meet the Situation

The first bill to reach Governor Sprout this legislative session, the deficiency bill, will go to the House of Representatives with cuts when it meets this evening. The bill provides the money to meet deficits and extraordinary expenses arising since the legislature of 1917 adjourned and when it passed the two houses carried close to three quarters of a million dollars. The governor has made some reductions in the items and suggested that some be put in the general appropriation bill. The measure originated in the House.

The resolution to ratify the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution, which passed the House Tuesday, is now in the hands of a Senate committee, which will have a hearing on it February 13. Regulatory legislation under the amendment will probably not appear until after the Senate disposes of the resolution.

Many new bills are expected in both branches. Over 250 have been introduced into the House and over 115 in the Senate.

The Senate calendar tonight will contain on third reading the bill to reorganize the department of the secretary of the commonwealth and the second reading of the bill reorganizing the governor's department, which would raise the salary of the governor taking office in 1923 to $18,000 per year. Several other bills including two relative to liquor license fees are on second reading.

On the House calendar are the bills raising pay of jurors to $4 a day and witnesses to $2.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PROTESTS FROM FRANCE

St. Aignan, France, Jan. 8, 1919. American Expeditionary Forces. To the Editor of Telegraph.

Having been in France for over seven months, and at this time I am on my way home, after having been gassed near Chateau Thierry the 4th of August, I regret to say that the following article appeared in the European edition of a well-known New York daily.

"Officers of the A. E. F. will find a welcome at the Hotel on their return to the United States."

The hotel mentioned was one of the largest and best in the city of New York, and, unless there was some mistake in the communication, the hotel evidently had something against the enlisted men in general of the A. E. F.

The writer of such an advertisement did not seem to realize that there are many enlisted men that are as much, if not more than some officers, socially as well as financially, still they are enlisted men.

There are a few thousand enlisted men who will soon be back in America, as well as officers, and each and every one of them will have from five months to ten months pay coming to them, or they will have it to their pockets, and they are going to spend it when they reach home, not to mention the number of men who live some distance from the city of New York, who will take advantage of the opportunity and stay there to see the numerous sights; then it will be noticed that enlisted men will go to the hotels that offer them comfort and welcome as well as service, other advertisements of hotels in New York are offering just that, so why is there one or two hotels that do not intend to cater to the "doughboys" who have suffered and fought and offered the supreme sacrifice to their country's call.

Is the feeling malice, or just the hotels are catering to aristocrats and the so-called "higher class?" The writer of that ad does not seem to realize that he is doing more harm to his hotel than to any soldier in the A. E. F. Such people, and the places where they stay, will be avoided by the men on their way home.

Such attitude shown to the men who perhaps took your place in the ranks, and yet there is one or two places who refuse to welcome these same men. It is hardly a true American spirit, and the business world can easily get along without such particular people who, I hope, will realize their mistake in good time.

A soldier returning from France expects only the welcome of his people and friends, but he can readily appreciate going to places where he knows he is welcome, and there he will spend his money and enjoy himself. He has profited by military discipline during his service under the flag of the world's greatest nation and when he returns to America it is evident that he will avoid such places which display gilted cards, "Officers Only." Let us be thankful that there is not more than one or two such places in America. Germany can profit by such things in Germany, because of the marked distinction between officers and enlisted men, but that is not the custom of Americans and American business places.

Very respectfully yours,
JOHN A. VERNON,
Sergeant, Hq. Co. 58th Inf.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Everybody loves a baby and everybody wants a baby abundantly robust. There are many young children to whom given in small portions at intervals during each day, would be an important factor in overcoming malnutrition and starting them well on the road to robustness. Every drop of Scott's is pure, rich nourishment, the kind that builds strength and promotes healthy growth.

Children thrive on Scott's!

Costly Coal Equipment

COAL consumers are anxious to have prompt efficient service as well as good coal.

More than $100,000.00 has been invested in our coal business. An up-to-date coal yard (we operate three) requires an immense sum of money.

To handle coal efficiently modern requirement is necessary. This consists of huge buildings, conveying machinery, electric motors etc., etc. All this has been done for the convenience of our thousands of customers.

Consumers on Allison Hill are supplied from the yard at 15th & Chestnut Sts., consumers in the centre of the city are supplied from yard at Forster & Cowden Sts., consumers up town are supplied from yard at 7th & Woodbine Sts.

All coal orders are usually delivered same day as received. When nearly out of coal this is quite important.
