Two addresses on each side of the jury, with the charge of the court, kept the court in session until almost 6 o'clock, at which time a recess was taken until 8 o'clock to hear the verdict of the jury in the case.

MARYSVILLE SOLDIER REPORTED TO HAVE FOUGHT WITH FURY IN TERRIFIC BATTLE

German Brains Spattered Over His Hat," Says Comrade in Telling of Bravery of James D. Davis, a Former Pennsylvania Railroad Brakeman... Marysville, Pa., Feb. 10.—Fighting like a madman in the advance of his unit against the Hun under the fiercest of fire at Montfaucou in the late days of the war, James D. Davis, of Marysville, serving with the Machine Gun Company of the Three Hundred and Fourteenth Regiment of Infantry, so distinguished himself that he is to be and possibly has been cited for bravery in action, injured comrades returning from the front tell. When the section of the Seventy-ninth division with which his unit was serving, broke against the Germans, Davis entered the fight with exceeding fury. Some of the heaviest firing and hand-to-hand engagements of the war took place in this engagement and only Davis and fourteen other members of the machine company were not reported on the casualty list for some reason or other. It was in the hand-to-hand fighting in which Davis was awarded special honors against the Hun, a comrade of his unit, who has been invalided home because of injuries received in this fighting, tells Davis little of what he had been doing, but he is reported to have secured a creditable number of victims before the lull in the engagement came.
