

AMUSEMENTS

High Class Vaudeville - "The Island of Dreams"...

ORPHEUM To-night and to-morrow, with matinee to-morrow - "The Girl He Left Behind"...

COLONIAL To-day and to-morrow - "The Romance of Tarzan"...

REGENT To-day and to-morrow - Cecil B. De Mille's "The Squaw Man"...

VICTORIA To-day and to-morrow - "The She-Devil" with Theda Bara...

They became enemies for the second time, these two old Civil War veterans, old man Allison...

Twice Enemies who served with Grant and Henry Sumner, once of Longstreet's brigade...

Farnum came North after the war, and became a neighbor and devoted friend of his old enemy, Allison...

They lived in peace and comradeship for nearly half a century, but the present war formed the first cloud of difference between them since the days of '61-'65...

The old soldier from the South wore no badge of patriotism for the cause, while the coat lapel of his old enemy from the North bristled with the pins of the Liberty Loan button...

Their sympathies became once again as widely separated as the North from the South, when the two grandsons marched away at the call of President Wilson...

Only one of them returned and the star of blue was replaced with one of gold in the Allison home...

The play comes recommended as the most beautiful wartime story of the year, and is promised as the red letter event of the season.

The world's great fun play, "Charlie's Aunt," is announced for next Monday...

"The Romance of Tarzan," the spectacular screen version of the concluding chapters of "Tarzan of the Apes"...

The scene in which Tarzan makes Tarzan's unexpected and thrilling appearance occurs just after Tarzan has engaged in a battle to the death with his giant cannibal, who lay in wait along one of the jungle trails...

The scene in which Tarzan makes Tarzan's unexpected and thrilling appearance occurs just after Tarzan has engaged in a battle to the death with his giant cannibal...

The scene in which Tarzan makes Tarzan's unexpected and thrilling appearance occurs just after Tarzan has engaged in a battle to the death with his giant cannibal...

They became enemies for the second time, these two old Civil War veterans, old man Allison...

Twice Enemies who served with Grant and Henry Sumner, once of Longstreet's brigade...

Farnum came North after the war, and became a neighbor and devoted friend of his old enemy, Allison...

They lived in peace and comradeship for nearly half a century, but the present war formed the first cloud of difference between them since the days of '61-'65...

The old soldier from the South wore no badge of patriotism for the cause, while the coat lapel of his old enemy from the North bristled with the pins of the Liberty Loan button...

Their sympathies became once again as widely separated as the North from the South, when the two grandsons marched away at the call of President Wilson...

Only one of them returned and the star of blue was replaced with one of gold in the Allison home...

The play comes recommended as the most beautiful wartime story of the year, and is promised as the red letter event of the season.

The world's great fun play, "Charlie's Aunt," is announced for next Monday...

"The Romance of Tarzan," the spectacular screen version of the concluding chapters of "Tarzan of the Apes"...

The scene in which Tarzan makes Tarzan's unexpected and thrilling appearance occurs just after Tarzan has engaged in a battle to the death with his giant cannibal...

The scene in which Tarzan makes Tarzan's unexpected and thrilling appearance occurs just after Tarzan has engaged in a battle to the death with his giant cannibal...

The scene in which Tarzan makes Tarzan's unexpected and thrilling appearance occurs just after Tarzan has engaged in a battle to the death with his giant cannibal...

The scene in which Tarzan makes Tarzan's unexpected and thrilling appearance occurs just after Tarzan has engaged in a battle to the death with his giant cannibal...

The scene in which Tarzan makes Tarzan's unexpected and thrilling appearance occurs just after Tarzan has engaged in a battle to the death with his giant cannibal...

The scene in which Tarzan makes Tarzan's unexpected and thrilling appearance occurs just after Tarzan has engaged in a battle to the death with his giant cannibal...

The scene in which Tarzan makes Tarzan's unexpected and thrilling appearance occurs just after Tarzan has engaged in a battle to the death with his giant cannibal...

The scene in which Tarzan makes Tarzan's unexpected and thrilling appearance occurs just after Tarzan has engaged in a battle to the death with his giant cannibal...

Lillian Ring, With "Leave It to Jane," Coming to the Orpheum Friday and Saturday

George Ade's "The College Widow" in its musical form, is called "Leave It to Jane," and will be presented at the Orpheum for a two-day engagement beginning Friday...

The first instalment of what promises to be an exciting serial, "The Lightning Raider," starring Pearl White, opened yesterday...

Woman's ability to make love, remake it, make it over, break it, and then remake it again...

Washington, Feb. 11.—Revision of sentences imposed by general courts martial for offenses committed during the war is to be made by a board of officers constituted in the office of the judge advocate general of the army...

How George Fitzpatrick, 10 South Thirteenth street, met his death January 16, is told in a letter just received here by Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. McFarland...

"I am greatly grieved to have to write that my old pal, 'Fitz' will not be with us when we return. He was in a truck coming back to camp when the accident occurred. He was on a detail to bring in motor trucks and left us several weeks ago. It appears that he and a chap named Gable, of Battery C, were riding in the rear of the truck and seated beside him was his assistant, 'Fitz' and Gable were instantly killed while the truck going over a bank. 'Fitz' and Gable jumped but the wrong way, the truck turning over on its side with them under it."

Colonel Ellsworth Camp No. 87, Sons of Veterans, will take in a class of new members in their lodge room in the G. A. R. hall, Emaus street, this evening.

Miss Marian King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George I. King, was given a birthday surprise party at her home in North Union street. Dancing was the feature of the evening entertainment. Refreshments were served.

A special meeting of the Jinney Club was held at the home of Miss Grace Breece, North Spring street, last evening.

The Sunday school class taught by J. B. Martin, of the Church of God Sunday school, will hold its regular monthly meeting in the lecture room of the church this evening.

Mrs. Edward Shireman, of North Catherine street, has gone to the White Haven Sanatorium for her health.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Woodward, who resided in the Mish property, North Union street, left yesterday for Washington, where Mr. Woodward was employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, has been transferred.

The regular monthly meeting of the Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the United Brethren Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Harrison Helsey, 144 East Water street, this evening, and the thank offering boxes that were given out some time ago will be returned. The leaders will be Mrs. Jennie Detweiler and Miss Alice Jennie.

JEWISH PLAN OF COMMONWEALTH FILED IN PARIS

Peace Conference Has Definite Proposal as to Palestine

Paris, Feb. 11.—A definite proposal has been filed before the peace conference favoring the eventual formation of a Jewish commonwealth in Palestine on the lines already suggested by the American Jewish Congress.

The document was signed by representatives of the World Zionist Organization, the Zionist Organization of America and the Zion Organization of Russia on behalf of the Jews in Palestine.

The Supreme War Council, in which Marshal Foch and other military commanders sit with the council of the great powers, continued yesterday the discussion of the terms for the renewing of the German armistice, without reaching a decision.

At the same time the league of nations commission virtually completed the final draft of that project, assuring its presentation at a plenary session the latter part of the week.

Reparation Committee The text of the official communication issued last evening on the session of the committee on reparation says:

"The committee on reparation met this morning at the ministry of finance, with M. Klotz in the chair. After naming the members of the committee began the consideration of the principles upon which rest the right to reparation, and the examining of the memorandum submitted by the different delegations.

The following official communication was issued as follows: "The seventh meeting of the commission of the League of Nations was held this morning at 10.30 o'clock at the Hotel Crillon.

"At this meeting the commission finished their first reading of the draft under discussion. In addition the drafting commission, to whom the commission had entrusted the revision of certain articles of the draft made its report. The meeting adjourned at 1.15 p. m. to resume its work at 10.30 o'clock to-morrow morning.

"Though certain of the earlier articles may be subjected to re-examination at to-morrow's session, it is confidently expected that the commission will be able to proceed with the second reading of the draft."

Many to Hear Expert on Housing Speak at Commerce Chamber Lunch

The importance of making reservations for the membership lunch of the Commerce before 2 o'clock Friday morning was emphasized at the Chamber of Commerce offices this morning.

The speaker, Joseph G. Leland, ad. who will talk on "The Nation's Part in Industrial Housing," is an authority of such high standing that it is pointed out no accommodations can be made for members who fail to make their reservations before 9 o'clock.

Mr. Leland will make his address at noon Friday, in the ballroom of the Penn-Harris. He is one of the foremost housing authorities in the country, and as vice-president of the United States Housing Corporation he has had direct charge of the expenditure of the sum of $10,000,000 appropriated by the government for industrial housing.

The meeting will be held in conjunction with the joint convention of the Pennsylvania Housing and Town Planning Association and the Pennsylvania Conference on Social Welfare, which will be held in Harrisburg, February 12, 14 and 15. The delegates to the convention will be the guests of the Chamber at the luncheon.

MARRIED AT MARYSVILLE Marysville, Pa., Feb. 11.—John H. Barrack and Miss Sara C. Klinger, both of Duncannon, were married on Saturday evening at the Trinity Reformed Church parsonage here by the pastor, the Rev. Ralph E. Hartman. They will make their home on a farm near Duncannon.

Obstructionists May Cause Removal of Peace Conference

Paris, Feb. 11.—The question of moving the peace conference from Paris to a neutral country may be considered by the conference if what is characterized as the obstructive policy of the French press and certain French officials continues, it has developed.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Representatives of various other powers taking part in the peace conference, it is declared, believe that the work of the body is being greatly hampered through unfriendly criticism by the French press of various leaders in the conference. They are represented therefore as inclined to consider the removal of the conference if the hostile attitude of the French press is maintained.

Private Alfred Pierce Is Home With Many Wounds

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce Is Home With Many Wounds

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now is on the road to complete recovery. He is widely known here as a member of the Pine Street Presbyterian Sunday School, and before entering the army was employed on the C. C. Eshleman farm, near New Kingtown. He was several years of age when he enlisted.

Private Alfred Pierce, formerly of Company K, 11th Infantry, has returned to Harrisburg after a series of adventures overseas which took him many times to death's doors, and ended when a high explosive shell shattered his forearm and the fumes from gas shells made it necessary for him to drop out of the ranks and go to a base hospital. He has been under treatment in base hospitals in this country since his return, but now