

REMOVE-ENGINE FROM JUNIATA

Requires Seven Minutes to Lift the Wrecked Engine From River to Tracks

Only seven minutes were required by the Altoona and Huntingdon wreck forces on Sunday to lift engine No. 3380 to the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks from the Juniata river bank near Birmingham, where it fell last Tuesday night, while hauling Chicago mail eastward in a wreck in which three men, including J. L. Sandow, of this city, were killed.

The passenger locomotive, though headed east before it struck the freight wreck on the bridge, turned completely about and faced westward after landing on the river bank. The tender followed and fell upon the engine. Wreckers removed the tender several days ago but did not get at the more difficult problem until Sunday, when freight traffic was lighter

Policemen's Ball to Be Held in Winterdale Hall

The Policemen's Ball will be held in Winterdale Hall, Monday, March 24, it was announced by Theodore Fehleisen, president of the Fraternal Order of Police this morning, following the monthly meeting held Sunday.

In order that the affair of the policemen will be the biggest and best ever arranged by them, plans already are being laid by a general committee of eleven, appointed by President Fehleisen, at the meeting of Joseph Demma, patrol driver, is chairman, and associated with him are Policemen Cummings, Hess, Shoemaker, Weisman, Anderson, Romich, Bathurst, Fuchs, Fetterow, and President Fehleisen.

This committee will meet tonight to make arrangements for all the details of the ball. Last year, owing to the war, and the absence of a number of the policemen in the service of their country, the ball could not be given, and for that reason no effort will be spared to make the function a success.

The orchestra will be selected in the near future, and within a short time tickets will be in the hands of their friends. Admission will be fifty cents each. At the last ball, held two years ago, more than 700 people were present, and the affair proved so popular that no difficulty in selling tickets is anticipated.

The proceeds will contribute toward financing the Fraternal Order of Police.

GIVE DINNER TO DR. J. GEO. BECHT

Y. M. C. A. Class Honors Instructor Recently Home From France

Members of the Y. M. C. A. parliament, including last year's class in public speaking and this year's class in self-expression held a reunion dinner in the assembly room of the "Y" building, Second and Locust streets, last night. Dr. J. George Becht, executive secretary of the state board of education, who is director of this parliament, was the guest of honor of the affair.

"Maggie" Phillips, the popular "Y" caterer, served a delicious dinner to the members of the class and invited friends. This was followed by a general get-together hour when short addresses were made by the members of the two classes.

The first address of the evening was made by Dr. H. H. Ande on "Self-Expression." He outlined the value of a course in this study to every businessman and explained how it is invaluable to every man. The bright side of the war was depicted in an address by F. P. Redcliffe, who spoke on "The Educational Value of War." "Those at Home" received their need of praise at the hands of G. G. Holland, who said they had done their share in the great world war by keeping the fires burning. "Life's Service" was the subject of an address by E. Kilhoffer, and James Reid spoke on "Rough," the greatest opportunity briefly sketching its history. I. A. Irwin eulogized Roosevelt in an eloquent talk and E. F. Barker recited the stirring recitation, "Lasca." J. C. Franz talked on "The Art of Public Speaking in Private," and F. F. Unger on "The Y Parliament." Wilmer Crow acted as toastmaster.

A number of interesting "pep" talks were given by members of the class. The series was opened with a speech by John T. Olmsted. Arthur D. Bacon talked and Dr. J. George Becht followed with an inspiring address in which he told of his impressions on a recent trip to France. He told of the conditions now existing in the war-torn countries, and was loud in his praise of the men in the service of the United States. Those present at the dinner included: Dr. J. George Becht, A. D. Bacon, B. F. Barker, Wilmer Crow, C. W. Davis, P. G. Diener, W. H. Dimmick, P. G. Eubank, G. C. Frantz, M. P. Fredericks, W. V. Harvey, William Haseltine, G. S. Heiger, E. N. Hershey, C. C. Holland, H. M. Hoffman, L. A. Irwin, H. E. Jenks, E. D. Jennings, E. Kilhoffer, Dr. W. L. Keller, C. H. Linsley, W. Larkin, Leon Lowengard, William Landry, C. N. McNaughton, W. L. Montgomery, Edward Moore, H. E. Miller, James Nell, J. T. Olmsted, W. R. Page, James Reid, J. W. Roshon, W. A. Riddle, F. F. Redcliffe, R. E. Reeves, Reide E. Romig, Charles Solbenberger, A. J. Snyder, W. P. Shoemaker, J. A. Steese, H. Tausig, F. F. Unger, George Van Wagner, A. F. Whalen, F. J. Roth, Jr., W. J. Curstead.

Rental Bureau to Be Formed by Realty Men; to Seek New Industries

Co-operation between the Harrisburg Real Estate Board and the Chamber of Commerce was advanced at a joint meeting of these bodies last evening as an agency that will aid materially in securing greater business for the city. General plans were outlined for the betterment of conditions of industrial housing in the city in general by Warren R. Landry, Chamber of Commerce secretary, in a paper on "Industrial Housing." Preliminary plans as announced following the meeting, provides for the referring of all applications for general use throughout the city. Stanley G. Backenstoss, secretary of the Real Estate Board, tendered his resignation at the meeting, due to the pressure of private business. His successor will be named at the next meeting of the board. A "Rental Bureau" will be organized by the board within the next few months to be placed in operation April 1, as a means of preventing the renting of houses to undesirable tenants. An index of housing conditions is being planned as a protective measure. Real estate men believe such a bureau will send a better housing conditions in the city.

Oil Tank Steamer J. M. Guffey Sends Out S. O. S. Call For Help

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 11.—A wireless call, saying the American oil tank steamer, J. M. Guffey, was taking water in the forehold and was sending out S. O. S. calls was intercepted here today. OPINIONS DIFFER AS TO BLUE LAWS

Some churchmen, however, are of the opinion that the amendment holds much of good. Father Daniel J. Carey, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, the largest Catholic Church of Central Pennsylvania, believes the measure is a good one "if it doesn't interfere with church services." "The old laws are 'out-of-date' and should be thoroughly revised that they may be 'brought up-to-date' and meet the 'changed conditions.'" Father Carey maintains. Lectures, entertainments and sports as provided in the measure, Father Carey says, will aid in preventing much mischief and will furnish healthful recreation to the persons who have little opportunity for such entertainments during the week. But Father Carey was quite emphatic in his contention that any such entertainment as may be permitted should not interfere in the least with Sunday church services.

The Mayor's Attitude

While Father Carey's measure has been characterized as somewhat liberal, it is meeting with hearty approval in the minds of many people, not only of his denomination but of others as well. Mayor Keister has expressed himself forcibly in favor of the repeal of the "Blue Laws" and the enactment of some up-to-date measure to replace the obsolete measures.

Mayor Keister declares that a man will work in the week in the fully entitled to some recreation on Sunday such as would be furnished by "movies," lectures, orchestral entertainments, etc. But excessive liberality in the conduct of such entertainment must be guarded against, the Mayor believes, declaring that they must be well restricted in their indulgence.

Concerts approved with the approval of Lieutenant David M. Clark, leader of the old Eighth Regiment band, and Frank Blumenstein, leader of the Municipal band. All music is more or less sacred, these men believe, and the permission to hold Sunday concerts would not detract in the least from the amount of the day and would do much to add to the pleasure of the theatricals, however, do not meet with their approval.

The Theater Man's View "I believe the bill to repeal the Sunday closing laws will have the sincere approval of every motion picture and theatrical man in the state," said Peter Magaro, owner and manager of the Regent theater. "Few people know exactly what the Sunday closing laws prohibit. They keep us from using the theaters for Sunday afternoon meetings of any sort. Now if we had the repeal of the Sunday closing laws before us, we could throw the theaters open for Sunday afternoon meetings, and religious meetings. There are scores of theaters in the state with magnificent organs which could be used. There are hundreds of people who don't know where to spend their Sunday afternoons. I am sure no minister would object to a recital and a few additional pictures for the benefit of a worthy charity. The Regent with its Mohler four-manual organ, would be gladly turned over for occasional affairs of this sort. This is why I am in favor of having the old 'Blue Laws' repealed. They are obsolete and antiquated, made to fit a former generation."
