"THE FEDERAL FUEL COMMITATE FOR DAUPHIN COUNTY."

THE FOR DAUPHIN COUNTY."

The Dauphin county fuel administration has regulated fuel affairs in the county since November 3, 1917, when Mr. Hickok was appointed local administrator. The following day he appointed the commission, which was composed of Walter P. Maguire, secretary; Warwick M. Ogelsby, Paul Johnston, S. Pick, Millersburg, and Martin A. Cumberland, Highspire. Paul Johnston acted as administrator during Mr. Hickok's recent absence at a training camp.

Since its creation, the administration has regulated prices, deliveries and aided immeasurably in securing coal for the district when acute shortages presented themselves. Its first official act was to help secure coal November 5, 1917, for the Harrisburg Pipe and Pipe Bending plant, which was shut down two days for lack of fuel.

November 30, 1917, at the instigation of the dealers, coal cards were indugurated, so that the needs of consumers could, be more readily filled. The method proved a great success, and in the early spring of 1918, was augmented into the Central Coal Exchange method, which enabled every consumer to secure a supply of coal for this winter.

December 19, 1917, the administration began the enforcement here of the first lightless nights, two a week. Repeatedly coal was secured when the city was using its last supplies, and during last winter, when the Harrisburg Light and Power Company was at the verge of shutdown. Mr. Hickok secured coal to keep the plant moving.

When the shortage was most acute last winter, a bureau was established in the Chamber of Commerce offices to supply families which were suffering most for lack of coal.

An Altoona dispatch says:

"The latest step has been the elimination of three assistant train dispatchers on the Middle division. Up until this time, one assitant train dispatcher was on duty at all times, representing the chief train dispatcher when anything of importance came up, he also having direct charge of the operating of all trains over the division.

"The latest step has been the limit of the dispatchers and the chief dispatchers have been restored to duty as dispatchers and the chief dispatchers alone will be responsible for the operation of trains.

"A large number of car inspectors have been laid off while the yards and shops at Hollidaysburg have gractically been closed, the same being true of operation at Tyrone." An Altoona dispatch says:
